ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

The Only Evening Paper in St. Louis With the Associated Press News Service

FINAL EDITION
(Complete Market Reports.)

VOL. 72. NO. 162. ST. LOUIS, THURSDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 10, 1921—36 PAGES. PRICE THREE CENTS

$47,254,355 GIVEN AS REPRODUCTION VALUATION OF U. R. PROPERTY IN CITY

Cost, Depreciated to Represent the Physical Condition, Is $34,285,531, in Report to the Missouri Public Service Commission by Its Chief Engineer.

PRICES FIGURED ON 13-YEAR AVERAGE

"Fair Present Value" Will Be Determined by Adding a Sum to Represent "Going Value" and Cost of Promotion of Business.

It would cost $47,254,355 to reproduce that portion of the United Railways property in the service of the public in the City of St. Louis if materials could be bought now at the average price they commanded during the 13 years between 1906 and 1918, according to the completed valuation report submitted to the Missouri Public Service Commission today by its chief engineer, James L. Harrop, after two years' work.

That cost, depreciated to represent the present physical condition of this property, is $34,285,531, the report states.

The two figures, based upon an actual inventory of every item of property owned by the company, is submitted to the commission to guide it in fixing a fair present value for the property, for use, in turn, in fixing street car fares in St. Louis.

Figures Usually Combined.

Public service commissions commonly combine such figures of their engineers to arrive at a figure between them to which to add some sum to represent the promotion cost of bringing such a system into being, plus a further sum to represent going value. In Harrop's report, promotion and going value are omitted and are to be added by the commission.

In the past, the Missouri Commission usually has taken the reproduction less depreciation figure as the one to which to make the additions for promotion and going value, decreeing the result as "fair present value."

It did this in 1919 in the case of the Union Electric Light & Power Co., adding 8.7 per cent for intangibles, including going value and promotion. If it should at this time, follow the same practice in the case of the United Railways, the sum at which it would arrive for the basis of a fair return would be $37,268,372. This would result in lowered street car fares in St. Louis, inasmuch as the present 7-cent fare is based upon an estimated valuation of $50,000,000, employed pending the inventory valuation now submitted.

Similar Action in Kansas City.

Similarly the Missouri Commission in valuing the Kansas City street railways, added 10.6 per cent for going value and promotion to reproduction less depreciation. It added 7.5 per cent for intangibles to the valuation of the property of the Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. in service in St. Louis.

However, Harrop indicates that the commission will be compelled to alter its practice in the case of the United Railways. In discussing his reduction of reproduction value by $13,685,310 to arrive at reproduction less depreciation, he says:

"In view of the fact that the company did not commence to create a depreciation reserve until 1905, it would probably be inequitable to deduct full theoretical depreciation in fixing fair present value, but no definite conclusion can be reached until all evidence has been submitted." He was referring to the fact that the auditing department of the commission also is submitting an analysis of the company's books, which will reveal the actual depreciation reserve balance. The depreciation reserve account of the United Railways, on Dec. 31 last, was $3,718,239.45, it was stated at the company's office today.

Quotes Court Decisions.

Continuing, Harrop says: "It appears that any deduction for depreciation in excess of that actually earned, over and above a reasonable return, would result in confiscation of property." However, he also quotes court valuation decisions to indicate that reproduction value without depreciation for any given period is not fair value.

Harrop sets forth an explanation of the unit prices used in extending the inventory items. Land was valued at fair market value as of Jan. 1, 1919. "Land has been treated differently from the other items of property," he declares, "for the reason that it is the only item whose value ac-

1918 Rockefeller Income Approximately $33,000,000

Internal Revenue Officials Refuse to Comment on Inferences Drawn From Published Tax Statistics.

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau refused today to comment on an inference drawn from published statistics of the bureau that John D. Rockefeller's tax return for 1918 showed an income of approximately $33,000,000 representing accumulated wealth of between $800,000,000 and $1,000,000,000. The bureau is prohibited by law from disclosing the income of any individual.

The conclusion as to Rockefeller's income was reached solely from tables recently put out by the bureau giving the number of returns in each of the income classes. Two incomes from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 were listed, and one income of more than $5,000,000. To conceal the net income and identity of the taxpayers, the two groups were lumped in the published statistics. The income shown by the three returns in the two groups before deductions were made, aggregated $42,371,821.

Obviously the two incomes listed in the $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 class did not exceed a total of $10,000,000. This leads to the deduction that the single income of more than $5,000,000 was in the neighborhood of $33,000,000. As Rockefeller is conceded to be the richest person in the United States, the $33,000,000 income was attributed to him.

By a similar process of reasoning from the tables the conclusion was drawn that Mrs. E. H. Harriman, regarded as the richest woman in the country, paid taxes for 1918 on an income of between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

Mr. Harding said he did not expect to celebrate his accession to the presidency by any of the usual social forms. He has made no plans to have Mr. Wilson return to the White House for luncheon, a function which had been a part of some inaugurations.

TWO DEAD IN WRECK OF ST. LOUIS TRAIN

Ten Passengers Also Reported Hurt on Hot Springs Special Near That City.

By the Associated Press.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 10.—Two enginemen were killed and 10 passengers are reported injured, some seriously, when Missouri Pacific train No. 17, from St. Louis, was wrecked this morning six miles east of Hot Springs.

The train was known as the Hot Springs Special and the wreck occurred at 10:15 o'clock. The cause has not been determined. The dead are Jack Sullivan, engineer, and Felix Blackburn, fireman, both of Little Rock.

The locomotive and five cars left the track and the locomotive was overturned. The coaches, which were not overturned, were baggage and day coaches and the dining car. Three Pullman sleepers, behind the diner, remained on the track. None of the passengers was seriously injured. Pat Costello, who was stealing a ride on the rods under one of the derailed cars, suffered a broken leg.

Train No. 17, the Hot Springs Special, left Union Station at 8:45 last night. At the headquarters of the company here, it was stated this afternoon that the names of the injured passengers had not been learned, but that their injuries were understood to be slight.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Serious fighting between the German population and a Belgian patrol in Aix La Chapelle is reported in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam today.

The dispatch quoting a message from Aix La Chapelle in the Belgian occupation area, says a number of inhabitants of the town refused to obey the police instructions with regard to the carnival celebrations and remained in the streets and cafes until after the hour fixed for closing the festivities. This resulted, it is added, in a Belgian patrol firing on a crowd, wounding several persons.

GRENNER CALLS ON HYDE AT CAPITOL

Afterward, He Says, He Doesn't Know Whether He Will Be Police Commissioner.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 10.—Henry C. Grenner, president of the Automobile Gasoline Co., and Stewart McDonald, president of the Moon Motor Car Co., who are under consideration by Gov. Hyde for appointment as members of the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners, are in Jefferson City today for conferences with the Governor. It is not improbable that the conference will result in the Governor quickly reaching a decision regarding the appointments.

Grenner and McDonald are said to have been summoned to the capital by Senator Blodgett, who has in hand for the St. Louis Senators the negotiations with the Governor.

The St. Louis Senators have demanded the appointment of Grenner, and notwithstanding the very apparent hesitancy upon the part of the Governor to name him, are remaining firm in their demand.

Grenner was an early caller at the Governor's office, and obtained an immediate audience.

McDonald is expected to call later today.

While the Governor has delayed the appointments he told friends yesterday that he had no intention of postponing them much longer because their consideration was occupying too much of his time, and that proper attention to legislation and other important matters demanded that he dispose of the St. Louis appointments quickly.

After he had talked with the Governor, Grenner told a Post-Dispatch reporter he did not know whether he would be appointed.

"I have the indorsement of all the Senators and Representatives from St. Louis, leaders of all political factions, all except one of the Circuit Judges, and many other persons," he said. "I am acquainted with Police Department affairs and am particularly interested in cleaning up St. Louis. Within the last five years my automobile filling stations have been robbed 30 times and only one of the robbers has been arrested.

"My business is in such shape that I am free to devote all the time necessary to Police Department affairs."

GERMANY NEEDS HELP FROM AMERICA, SAYS BERNSTORFF

Former Ambassador Asserts United States Will Have to Intervene With the Allied Powers.

By the Associated Press.

HAMBURG, Feb. 10.—Count von Bernstorff, former German Ambassador to the United States, in a speech before the German Democratic party convention here today, characterized the allied decisions on reparations at the Paris conferences as a bad bill of exchange which would prove payable only by America's indorsement.

There existed between Germany and the United States no direct differences, the former Ambassador declared, only unpleasant remembrances remaining, and even these, he asserted, would have to be forgotten, because only by the assistance of America would Germany be able to fulfill her pledges. To this end, he said, it was necessary for the United States to intervene in some manner with the Entente Powers.

DRUGS SEIZED AT PLACE OF CHINESE MURDERED DEC. 18

After Raids U. S. Agents Express Belief Drug Addicts May Have Committed Crime.

SAME THEORY IN SLUGGING OF CHINESE

Laundryman Was Slain With Butcher Knife at 1505 Olive Street—Two Chinese Are Arrested.

Two raids today by Federal narcotic inspectors disclosed evidence that may offer a plausible motive for the murder recently of one Chinese and the slugging of another. From the circumstances in connection with the arrest of two Chinese and the confiscation of a quantity of opium, morphine and cocaine, the Federal agents believe drug addicts committed the crimes.

In a Chinese laundry at 1505 Olive street, where Jung York, proprietor, was mysteriously slain with a butcher knife Dec. 18, Charlie Sing was arrested by the raiders, and secreted in various places about the laundry they found several small cans of smoking opium. Sing had a key which he said was to his room, in the rear of 716 Market street.

Leong Choey was arrested in a room in the rear of 715 Walnut street, and he also had a key to the room occupied by Charlie Sing. In this room the inspectors found four ounces of morphine and cocaine hidden behind a pictnre on the wall.

This room is next door to that in which Leong Tong Hoo, secretary of a Chinese mercantile association, was slugged into insensibility Feb. 1. He has recovered and was in his room today.

The police had no clews in either crimes. The cash drawer at the Jung York place had been torn from its fastenings and rifled, and it was believed at the time that he had been slain by a robber who sought money.

Leong Choey, one of the men under arrest, said at the time Leong Tong Hoo was slugged that Leong had told him before losing consciousness that a white man, who sought money, had committed the assault. Speaking to reporters at that time, Leong Choeey said the injured man was his uncle.

The Federal officers base their conclusions that drug addicts murdered Jung York and slugged the other Chinese on the facts developed in the raids—that opium was found where the man was murdered, and other drugs found in a room next door to where Leong Tong Hoo was slugged. These circumstances, together with the fact that Leong Choey has served two penitentiary terms for drug peddling, the inspectors point out, strengthens their suspicions that the traffic in drugs has had something to do with the crimes.

COLBY REFUSES TO TRANSMIT INFORMATION ABOUT TREATY

Senate Foreign Relations Sought Data on Negotiations Concerning California Anti-Alien Laws.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Colby refused today to transmit to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee information regarding negotiations with Japan looking to the framing of a new treaty to meet the situation created by the adoption of the California anti-alien law.

Replying to a letter from Chairman Lodge, asking for the report of Ambassador Morris on his negotiations with Baron Shidehara, the Japanese Ambassador, the Secretary of State said there was considerable misunderstanding as to the exact status of the matters under discussion and that at this time it was impossible for the State Department to submit the documents asked for.

Colby in his letter said: "While I think I am warranted in saying that substantial progress has been made toward an ultimate agreement, there is no gareed text of which a copy could be communicated to the committee in advance of the regular submission of whatever convention may be ultimately signed."

FIDDLER ENTERTAINS MEMBERS OF HOUSE TARIFF COMMITTEE

"Arkansas Traveler," "Yankee Doodle" and "Dixie" Played in Appeal for Protection.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—House tariff constructors fiddled on the job today.

The Ways and Means Committee had up the "violins" schedule and W. R. Clymer of Columbus, O., was on hand with an armful of fiddles to contend that American fiddle builders did just as good a job as anybody, and ought to have tariff protection for their product.

He also brought along a local violinist who treated the committee to a classical selection played in turn on a $10, a $30, a $200 and an $1800 fiddle, the first two instruments being a month out of the factory, while the $200 box was six years old, and the $1800 one nobody knew how old.

Clymer defied the tariff makers to detect difference in tone. It looked like a clash of experts was coming when Chairman Fordney announced that he owned a Stradavarius made in 1713. Tension passed, however, when Fordney said to the violinist:

"How about the 'Arkansas Traveler?'"

In a moment the lilting measure of the old tune went rollicking through the staid committee room. "Yankee Doodle" followed, then "Dixie." Just to avoid sectionalism

"How," asked the shorthand man, "am I going to make a full and complete record of this testimony?"

Representatives of xylophone makers, also seeking tariff protection, uncased a few yards of musical cord wood to demonstrate their case. That excited Representative Young, Republican, of North Dakota. He discovered himself to his colleagues as a man of accomplishments as well as sentiment by thumping out the mournful strains of "How Dry I Am."

PAROLE GRANTED TO SLAYER OF DR. FREDERICK POHLMAN

Gov. Hyde Released Jacob Stenzel on Recommendation of Prison Board, Trial Judge and Prosecutor.

Jacob Stenzel of St. Louis, sentenced to serve 10 years in the Penitentiary for the killing of Dr. Frederick Pohlman, May 14, 1917, was paroled today by Gov. Hyde on the recommendation of the Prison Board, the trial Judge, Charles B. Davis, and the prosecutor, former Circuit Attorney Lawrence McDaniel. Stenzel was paroled to George L. Corlis of 4954 Lindell boulevard, dean of the Benton College of Law.

Stenzel was convicted Feb. 21, 1918, by a jury which recommended clemency. He went to Dr. Pohlman's office to protest with the physician because of a remark Dr. Pohlman was said to have made concerning Stenzel's married daughter. After an argument Stenzel fled across the street from the physician's office. Dr. Pohlman followed and Stenzel fired one shot into the ground, then fired at the physician, killing him. Stenzel testified at his trial that Dr. Pohlman was the aggressor after he had remonstrated with him for telling his daughter that her mental condition was such that she should never have married. Stenzel began his term in October, 1919.

UNION WORKERS CAN DEDUCT DUES FROM FEDERAL RETURNS

Assessments Can Be Listed as Business Expenditures on Income Tax Sheets.

Money paid by members of labor unions into the treasuries of their organizations as dues and assessments is deductible as a "business expenditure" in making Federal income tax returns, according to a new regulation of the Internal Revenue Department. Such expenditures were not deductible last year.

Greater efforts by the income tax division of the local internal revenue office are to be made this year to assist taxpayers in making their returns and properly claiming exemptions and deductions to which they are entitled under the law.

Branch offices of the Collector's office are to be opened within a few days in banks and stores in various parts of the city and a deputy collector will be stationed at each of these places to render any assistance required by taxpayers and to take their initial payment on the tax due. More branches of this sort will be established than last year. A list of the branches will be published within the next few days.

PUBLIC MEETING NEXT WEEK ON ROAD LEGISLATION

Agreement Between Federation President and Administration Leaders for Hearing Thursday.

ALL LEGISLATORS TO BE INVITED

Call for the Unofficial Gathering and Dinner to Be Issued by Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 10.—Success of plans of the Missouri Good Roads Federation for not only the introduction of the road bills at this session of the Legislature, but also for the holding of a public meeting of the legislators to discuss them, was announced this afternoon by officers of the federation. Following conferences of Maj. Harry B. Hawes, president of the federation, with Gov. Hyde, Lieut.-Gov. Lloyd and other State officers and legislative leaders, it was announced that invitations would be issued by the Lieutenant-Governor for a dinner in Jefferson City next Thursday evening, to which all members of the Legislature and State officers will be invited.

The discussion of the road bill will be led by Hawes for the federation bills, and William Hirth of Columbia, representing a farmers' organization, having another road bill, will be invited to lead the discussion for the opponents of the federation bills.

Interest Amendment Likely.

A resolution submitting a constitutional amendment which will permit the payment of the interest on the road bonds from the automobile funds will be introduced and passed at this session of the Legislature, in order that it may be voted on at the August constitutional convention election.

Statement by Hyde.

The Governor said last night that he was confident that desirable road laws would be worked out by the Legislature in the special session. "I realize," he said, "that road legislation is one of the most important questions before the State, and that the whole State is interested in the question. There is not the slightest desire upon the part of the present State administration to hinder or delay such legislation. Rather, it is our purpose to obtain the best and most workable road law possible. We could not dodge the question if we would, and we do not want to. The special session will be called for the specific purpose of enacting road legislation and at that session our whole effort will be directed toward getting the proper kind of a law."

LABOR BOARD DENIES RAILROADS' APPEAL TO ABROGATE AGREEMENT

MAN, 88, STRUCK BY AUTO ON MONDAY, DIES OF INJURIES

W. C. Sipple of Insurance Adjustment Company Suffered Fractured Skull When Hit at Twelfth and Pine.

William C. Sipple, 88 years old, of 4031 Delmar boulevard, vice president of the Sipple Adjustment Co., insurance adjusters, died at the city hospital at 12:15 a. m. today from injuries suffered at Twelfth and Pine streets at 10:30 p. m. Monday when he was knocked down by an automobile driven by Jack Weisman, 22 years old, of 1424 North Fifteenth street. His skull was fractured.

Sipple's death is the eleventh automobile fatality this year, there having been an equal number up to this date last year.

Weisman after the accident told policemen he sounded his horn and Sipple, who was walking across the street, apparently became confused and first stepped back and then stepped in the path of the machine.

Sipple for 15 years had been associated in the insurance adjustment business with his son, William C. Sipple, jr., of Brentmoor, St. Louis County. His wife lives in St. Joseph, Mo., and burial will be there.

He came to Missouri in 1851 from Delaware, and settled at a trading post at Rockford Landing. In 1864 he established in St. Louis a general merchandise business under the title Hickman-Sipple & Co., which later was changed to Sipple-Crow & Co. He retired from business in 1875, and moved to St. Joseph, remaining there, 15 years ago, when he came to St. Louis and joined his son in the insurance business. He was actively engaged in this business until the time of the accident.

Three Men Injured in Collision Between Truck and Auto.

Three men were injured in a collision between an automobile truck and a passenger automobile at Fifteenth street and Washington avenue at 5 p. m. yesterday.

Kahmann, of 1406 Hebert street, an estimator for the company, had been driving east in Washington avenue. They collided when both turned north into Fifteenth street.

Eckerle and Kahmann and David Buatte, of 4353A Evans avenue, who was riding with Eckerle, were cut and bruised. After the injuries had been treated at the city dispensary the drivers were arrested. Both were charged with careless driving and Kahmann also was charged with not having a chauffeur's license.

Owners Asked for New Basic Rate for Unskilled Labor, Predicated on Local Conditions.

REQUEST OPPOSED BY RAIL EMPLOYES

Decision Comes Unexpectedly, Just Before Representative of Railway Workers Was to Begin Reply.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—The Federal Railroad Labor Board today denied the request of the American Association of Railway Executives for immediate abrogation of the national wage agreements with the brotherhoods and establishment of a new basic rate for unskilled labor predicated on local conditions.

The decision came just before B. M. Jewell, president of the Railway Employes' Department of the American Federation of Labor, had begun his reply to the statement made for the railway executives last week by W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania Lines.

The decision came as a complete surprise to both sides, and Jewell, declaring that the decision "came like a bolt from a clear sky," asked for 15 minutes to confer with his counsel, Frank P. Walsh, on his return to the hearings, he advised the board that his statement in reply to the Atterbury request would be filed in the Record without reading.

Asks That 24 Be Subpenaed.

Jewell introduced Walsh, who is retained as counsel for 15 brotherhoods. Walsh amplified the Jewell charges, and requested the board to subpena 24 men, who, he declared, had interlocking relations with New York banks, and the directorates of prominent railroads. The board took his request under consideration.

"We expect to prove that these men have financial control of large railroads, and, by cross-examination, to bring out that the national agreements have not been unduly burdensome to the roads," Walsh declared.

The men named were: Robert S. Lovett, William Rockefeller, H. W. de Forest, A. H. Smith, G. R. Baker, H. S. Vanderbilt, Samuel Rea, L. R. Lorce, A. J. Courtney, A. W. Krech, Julius Kruttschnitt, F. H. Davis, Fairfax Harrison, W. W. Atterbury, J. E. Reynolds, Charles Steele, M. H. Smith, Charles Hayden, A. H. Harris, Charles E. Ingersoll, E. J. Stockesburg, H. Walters, T. de Witt Cuyler and E. V. R. Thayer.

Contradicts Atterbury.

Walsh touched upon the railroads' allegations of impending national bankruptcy and declared the Atterbury expressions were not true.

"The railroads are stronger financially today than at any time in history," he said. "Some mismanaged roads may be on the verge of bankruptcy, but that is not a reason for your board to reduce employes' pay below a living wage. Class 1 railroads have 90 per cent of the mileage of the country and their totadl credit surplus is $3,010,000,000. Only 32 roads show a deficit and this amounts to but $116,000,000.

"Mr. Atterbury's request is part of a movement to crush labor organizations, a movement for the open shop with the intent of wiping out efforts at collective bargaining."

The board held that it had no jurisdiction over questions involving expense of operation, and suggested that neither the roads nor the unions interrupt the pending hearing on standard rules and working conditions with "further unwarranted demands."

Hearing Attracts Crowds.

So great was the interest in Jewell's statement that the regular quarters of the board proved inadequate and the hearing was held in a courtroom in the Federal building. Even this room was inadequate to accommodate all of the hundreds who sought admission.

In announcing the decision of the board, Chairman R. M. Barton reviewed the powers of the board under the transportation act of Feb. 28, 1920.

"The board assumed as the basis of this decision the continuance in full force and effect of the rules, working conditions and agreements enforced under the authority of the U. S. Railroad Administration," Judge Barton said. He made an exception of any mutual agreement between carriers and employes and declared it was the board's desire

SAYS PALMER WAS TOLD OF BERGDOLL FLIGHT IN OCTOBER

Philadelphia District Attorney Testifies Before House Committee Investigating Escape to Germany.

GIVES SKETCH OF FAMILY HISTORY

Asserts He Found No Evidence of Corruption, but That Guards Did Not Realize Character of Prisoner.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The Department of Justice knew as early as last October that Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, wealthy Philadelphia draft evader, had escaped to Germany, the House Military Committee was told today by Charles D. McAvoy, District Attorney at Philadelphia.

McAvoy said he received this information through confidential sources early in October and immediately communicated it to Attorney-General Palmer, recommending at the same time that O'Connor, one of the department's investigators, be sent to Germany. He added that this was not done because of possible international complications.

The witness declared that Bergdoll lied when he stated in Germany that "Gibboney was to use the $105,000 to bribe somebody in the War Department." He added that the draft evader also lied when he said that the soldier guards were drunk when he escaped from them at his Philadelphia home.

Asked About $105,000.

Chairman Kahn asked McAvoy if he had ever obtained any evidence to indicate that the $105,000 was to be used for "corrupt purposes."

"I tried in every conceivable way," the District Attorney replied, "and I was convinced that not a single person connected with the War Department was corrupt. The trouble is that Ansell, former Acting Judge Advocate-General of the army, Gen. Harris (the Adjutant-General), Gibboney and the guards had no conception of the kind of fellow whom they had in charge. They regarded him merely as a millionaire draft evader."

McAvoy explained that Bergdoll "was not an ordinary millionaire draft evader."

"If he evaded service because of physical cowardice he might not have been able to help it," said the witness. "But he was in a different category because he attempted to belittle the Government while trying to raise an army."

Discussing attorney fees, Mr. McAvoy said Mrs. Bergdoll quit paying after the total had reached $12,500.

Sketch of Family History.

McAvoy gave the committee a sketch of the Bergdoll family tree and some of the escapades of Grover and his brother, Erwin, which included the kidnaping of a policeman who had attempted to arrest them for speeding. The witness also told how Bergdoll evaded two soldiers guarding him and made his final flight.

The District Attorney testified that after Bergdoll's mother had refused to advance any more counsel fees, Bergdoll told D. Clarence Gibboney, his counsel, who was reported to have been drowned recently off the coast of Mexico, that he had buried $105,000 in gold in West Virginia or Maryland, declaring he had exchanged currency for the gold at the treasury and that he alone could disclose the burial place. This was to be used as "bribe money" to obtain his freedom, according to McAvoy, who said that on the strength of Bergdoll's statement about the buried gold, Gibboney conferred with former Acting Judge Advocate-General Ansell and his law partner, Bailey, who obtained from the War Department permission for the prisoner's release under guard so he could unearth the gold.

Describing Bergdoll's escape from his home in Philadelphia, McAvoy denied that the soldier guards were drunk. He added, however, that they had been "sorely tempted" with a display of liquor and that Yeck, one of them, took a couple of drinks of gin.

The escape was quickly reported and Gibboney, he said, did about everything a man could to advise the authorities.

BOOTLEGGERS ORDERED FREED

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 10.—Federal Judge Pollock at Kansas City, Kan., ruled yesterday that the Volstead act repeals the old liquor revenue laws, and ordered 11 bootleggers, who were convicted in Oklahoma on charges of violating the old revenue laws, and who are serving sentences in the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., released.

In ruling in favor of the defendants, Judge Pollock said, "If the revenue laws remained in force after the passage of the Volstead act, the Government would be put in the position of collecting money for violations of the law."

It was stated that there are about 50 men serving sentences in the prison who were convicted on the same charges, and who will bring similar proceedings.

Chief Engineer Harrop's findings in the first two columns were based on actual field inventory, the price extensions being on the basis of average prices prevailing for 13 years, 1906 to 1918, both inclusive.

Allison's 1911 valuation in the third column was on the basis of inventory of actual investment by the company.

Smith's 1917 valuation was the city's estimate of the value of United Railways property for rate-making purposes and was a compromise figure for inclusion in a franchise ordinance passed by the Board of Aldermen and subsequently repealed in the face of referendum petitions for a popular vote on its repeal.

Allison's "actual cost" and "reproduction costs" of 1918 were made after he left the employ of the public and had re-entered the employ of utilities as a consulting engineer.

The total face value of United Railways stocks and bonds is $96,186,000, divided as follows: Preferred stock, $16,383,000; common stock, $24,913,000; bonds, receiver's certificates, $54,890. The total market value of these securities on Dec. 31 last was $30,725,975.

tually appreciates with use."

In valuing land at any figure other than its original cost to the company, Harrop differs with some valuation experts who contend that appraising land at appreciated values puts back into public utilities the element that regulation seeks to extract—speculation. They further declare that land does not increase in value for the service of the public, and that the theory of all public utility valuation is cost, not value.

Average Costs Considered.

"Weighted average costs over the period, 1906 to 1918, both inclusive, were applied to items of property that are being constantly replaced," Harrop continues. "Items having a long life, such as power plants, substations and buildings, were priced at cost. All expenditures for property made during the war period are included at cost, but high current prices have not been used beyond the extent to which they were actually incurred."

In this connection, also, he discusses the present endeavor of many utilities (of which the Laclede Gas Light Co. is one) to have their property valued at present high prices. His comment follows: "Only a few of the major items of property, other than land, would be reproduced as they exist today. The present day substitutes for those items are much more economical in their operation, so that the combination of current prices applied to old, obsolete and inefficient items of property and the high operating costs due to such items is inconsistent and unfair.

For Economic Principles.

"Unfortunately many utility companies are advocating the application of abnormally high current prices and the principles of expediency rather than sound moral and economic principles of fixing fair present value. It is difficult to imagine those same utility companies contending for current prices if conditions were reversed and current prices were abnormally low. Any rule must work both ways and it must be assumed that if properties are valued on the basis of abnormally high prices at this time, they must be similarly valued on the basis of abnormally low prices during low-cost periods. Such procedure would make financing difficult, render securities unstable, create suspicion and distrust and would lead to financial disaster."

He adds, however, that if reproduction of the property on the basis of the present high prices is to be a factor in fair value, then a paralleling factor, the market price of the company's stocks and bonds, must be considered also. He includes a table showing that on Dec. 31, 1920, the total market value of all outstanding United Railways stocks and bonds was $30,725,975. The market value of securities frequently is used by investors to measure the actual value of property.

Valuation on This Basis.

On the basis set forth above, Harrop finds that the total reproduction valuation of United Railways property, city and county, as of Jan. 1, 1919, including property not used in transportation, to the value of $965,964, is $48,936,805. Property not used in transportation is excluded from consideration by the commission in making rates and is not subject to regulation in any way. The value of the total property, based on reproduction less depreciation, is $34,176,467.

The chief items entering into these totals are:

	Reproduction Cost.	Reproduction Less Depreciation.
PHYSICAL VALUATION—
Construction cost.	$35,522,196	$22,630,184
Real estate	3,104,945	3,104,945
COSTS DURING CONSTRUCTION—
Engineering	1,636,627	1,065,943
Interest	1,986,036	1,367,462
Omissions and Contingencies	1,375,690	896,342
Law, taxes, insurance, misc.	2,508,996	2,338,909
Total overhead.	$7,387,693	$5,577,046
Franchises	208,522	208,522
Working capital	2,593,814	2,285,387

As shown above the total overhead cost of $7,387,693 on reproduction value and $5,577,046 on reproduction less depreciation is 19.44 per cent of physical property, with going value and promotion charge, both intangible overhead charges, yet to be added. Harrop submits similar percentages in other valuations elsewhere to show that his overhead allowance is not out of line.

Overhead Presents Problem.

However, this phase of valuation was the subject of an exhaustive study by the Civic League in 1918. The league's special committee, in its report, declared that valuations of any utility by several different experts usually resulted in nearly a common figure so far as the actual inventory and price extensions of physical property were concerned, but that when the items of overhead during construction were reached, there was a wide divergence, some experts reaching very high valuation totals through high overhead costs, seldom clearly defined by the books of any company.

The committee stated that it had found a simple measure which any layman could apply to any physical valuation, to determine overhead, and hence a total value approaching the actual value of the company's properties.

It assembled the overhead allowances in many valuation cases covering the entire country for a period of 10 years. From this information, it arrived at 17 per cent as the average practice of public utility control bodies in applying overhead. On the basis of this percentage it declared its belief that the fair valuation of the United Railways lay between $33,800,000 and $48,850,000.

Would Reduce Totals.

If the Civic League measure were applied to Harrop's present physical items, his reproduction overhead would be reduced by $942,502 and his reproduction less depreciation overhead by $628,937. The excess of Harrop's overhead total beyond that fixed by the Civic League figure as proper would be increased by whatever sum the commission allows for going value and promotion charge.

Allowance for Working Capital.

Working capital consists of material and supplies and cash needed to conduct the business. Harrop remarks that proper allowance for working capital is a matter of judgment. He surveyed the balance sheets of the company for the years 1914-1918, inclusive, and from them allowed one-twelfth of the operating expenses of the company for 1918, or $969,000, as the proper sum for cash working capital. He added to this an inventory of materials and supplies on hand, or $673,629.62, and also the sum of material and supplies as shown by the company's balance sheet on Dec. 31, 1918, or $943,384.55—a total of $2,585,014.17.

The sum of $208,522 is allowed for franchises. This does not represent an estimate of the value of the United Railways franchise to do business at this time, for franchises commonly have been considered to have no value since public utilities have become monopolies. It represents money actually expended in the past for franchises.

Largest Items of Property.

The largest items of the company's physical property follow:

	Reproduction value.	Reproduction less depreciation.
Land	$3,104,945	$3,104,945
Track	8,958,571	5,119,776
Distribution system	1,705,410	1,326,372
Buildings—offices, shops and general..	1,816,185	1,477,078
Passenger cars	6,888,771	3,782,078
Power plants, substations	1,122,398	728,020
Power plant equipment	1,848,856	889,962

Harrop submits separate valuations for various affiliated companies as follows: Missouri Electric Co., which operates the St. Charles line, $716,496; Florissant Construction, Real Estate and Investment Co. (Creve Coeur park), carrier portion, $97,672; non-carrier portion, $376,-875, and the St. Louis County Street Railways, which is about two and one-half miles of track on the St. Charles line out of Wellston, $65,706.

The usual progress of a valuation beyond the point now reached by the railways valuation is for the Public Service Commission to hold public hearings either before or after it has added going value and promotion and thus reached fair present value. Two interested parties will appear at such hearings in this case, the City of St. Louis, which may or may not deem the valuation just, and the United Railways, which is expected to present a claim for higher valuation. The company has had valuation experts employed for the period of Harrop's work, checking it as he progressed. Likewise Harrop has supplied the city with duplicates of his inventory sheets.

First work on the valuation was begun by Harrop on Feb. 15, 1919. A force of varying size has been at work on it since.

U. R. Organized in 1899 With Capitalization of $90,000,000.

The United Railways Co. was organized in 1899 as successor to the Central Traction Co., with a capitalization of $90,000,000, half of which was represented by stock and half by bonds. Of an authorized issue of $25,000,000 common stock and $20,000,000 preferred stock it issued common stock of the par value of $24,913,800 and preferred stock of the par value of $16,383,200. It issued bonds to the par value of $45,000,000. Later issues of stocks and bonds brought the total capitalization to $101,000,000, but recent redemption of bonds with money borrowed from the Government reduced the outstanding par value capital to the present figures, about $96,000,000.

The company's securities were listed on the St. Louis Stock Exchange in 1901. The highest recorded prices paid by the public for the securities were $91.25 on the $100 par valuation for the 4-per-cent bonds, $82.25 for preferred and $62.25 for common stock.

The most recent quotations have been $48 for the bonds, $6 for the preferred stock and $1 for the common. On the basis of these quotations the present market value of the bonds originally issued would be $22,050,000, the value of the preferred stock, $1,200,000, and the value of the common $250,000, or a total present market value of $23,500,000 for bonds and stocks which were issued with a par value of $90,000,000.

Order Affects Japanese Matches.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—"Tandsticksfabriks," or "Sakerhets Tandsticker," or similar words, or symbols "suggestive of Swedish origin," are regarded by the Federal Trade Commission as no proper marking for matches made in Japan to be sold in this country. After trial, the commission found that such symbols "have a natural tendency to deceive the public" and today ordered importers of the Japanese product to discontinue their use.

WALKER DISCHARGED IN THE LITTO CASE

Former Deputy Sheriff Freed of Charge of Complicity in County Robbery.

Robert Walker, a former Deputy Sheriff, of 18 South Fourteenth street, St. Louis, charged with the theft of $3466 worth of jewelry from Mrs. Catherine Litto of Webster Groves, on the night of Dec. 28, was discharged at a preliminary hearing before Justice Werremeyer at Clayton this afternoon. Justice Werremeyer held that there was not sufficient evidence to justify the detention of Walker.

Mrs. Litto told the police an extraordinary story of being kidnaped, with her 8-year-old son, by robbers, and driven around over the county for two hours while the robbers systematically searched her for her jewels.

The charge against Walker was basedq on a conversation which he had with Harry Anastas, a saloon keeper at 601 Market street, and a friend of Mrs. Litto. Anastas obtained a warrant for Walker, declaring that Walker told him he could get the jewels back for $2000.

Walker testified today, as he had previously stated in the Post-Dispatch, that he simply repeated to Anastas a statement which an unknown person had made to him over the telephone. He testified that he was at a dinner party the night of the robbery, which was corroborated by several other guests.

Mrs. Litto said that she did not recognize him as one of the robbers, and none of the descriptions which she gave the police fit Walker.

FORMER PEASANTS NOW THE ARISTOCRATS OF AUSTRIA

Families Well-to-Do Before the War Parting With Jewels to Obtain Food.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—The peasants of Austria are rapidly stripping the well-to-do residents of Vienna of their wealth by demanding payment for food in diamonds, jewels or other things of high value, say Red Cross men, who have visited that city. The farmers who suffered more severely than did the city people in the war, now are having their innings, and are becoming prosperous, selling produce to the starving Viennese.

Austrian paper money is not always welcome in the country, and the peasants demand an exchange of goods through a system of barter with the city residents. This attitude is said to be adding to the growing antagonism between the country worker and the city dweller.

Directors of Government pawnshops estimate that 15 per cent of the Viennese are living by selling or pawning their valuables, frequently heirlooms. As the cost of living continues to increase, it is considered only a matter of a short time until many of the families who were well-to-do before the war will have nothing more to offer for food.

BOMB OUTRAGES IN CHICAGO RESULT IN FEDERAL ACTIVITY

Government Authorities Aid State in Campaign After Series of Explosions.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—Federal and State authorities today are engaged in a campaign against dynamite and "odor" bomb outrages that have been perpetrated here in the last few days. Two dynamite blasts last night were connected by the authorities with a labor war.

Victor Kalosah today was in danger of losing his sight, and his wife, Clara, was suffering from shock as a result of the explosion of an infernal machine at the plant of a dairy company. The concern has been involved recently in a disagreement with the Milk Drivers' Union.

Another bomb damaged an apartment house on the West Side. The owner said she believed the bomb was meant for the janitor, a nonunion man. Yesterday an "odor" bomb exploded in a loop department store, driving clerks and shoppers to the street.

MRS. HARDING PLANS GARDEN PARTIES IN THE WARM MONTHS

Marine Band Concerts on the White House Lawn Also Likely to Be Revived.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Extensive arrangements for beautifying the White House lawn and gardens are being made in preparation for the occupancy of the executive mansion by President-elect and Mrs. Harding.

Six thousand pansies have been planted in the north and south garden as well as many tulips, and the rose gardens, which were an innovation of the Wilson administration, are to be enlarged. Details of the improvement of the lawn and in the gardens are being left to the direction of Mrs. Harding, who, on her visits here, already has manifested a lively interest in plans for new landscape gardening.

During the summer months, it is understood Mrs. Harding plans to entertain with garden parties in the south grounds, and it is said to be also a part of her plans to revive the marine band concerts on Saturday afternoons in the same part of the grounds.

An alligator may be the star pet at the White House during the next administration. Henry N. Bennett of Jacksonville, Fla., has an alligator of the so-called "hellbender" species, ready to ship from Florida as soon as he receives word from Mr. Harding, while Senator Park Trammell of Florida, who was at the White House yesterday, believes that a gentler kind would be more suitable for one of the three big fountains in the grounds of the mansion, and is eager to present one to the President-elect.

During the administration of President Roosevelt he had his famous horse Truxton, while Archie had his Shetland pony and bulldog Pete; President Taft had his highbred cow and bull calf, and President Wilson his flock of prize sheep. Dr. Grayson's airedale, Sandy, has been a frequent visitor during the past eight years, particularly before the appearance of the sheep.

NEGRO TAKEN AFTER SIX-HOUR FIGHT WITH POLICEMEN

Alleged Slayer of Negro Wounded, Probably Fatally—Pistols, Fire Hose and Chemicals Used.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 10.—A six-hour battle early today between nearly a hundred policemen and firemen and an entrenched negro, who is said to have killed a woman, resulted in the capture of the man, probably mortally wounded, and the injuring of four policemen.

The negro, who was known as William Dresen, shot Grace Robinson, a negress, and threw her body out of the house. A negro policeman attempted to arrest him and was shot in the leg. Reserves tried to break into the house and the negro wounded another policeman in the head. Dresen barricaded the doors and the police called upon the fire department for assistance. A high pressure hose was kept in operation and every time the negro appeared at a window he was driven back by a rush of water. He managed to fire several more shots. Two other patrolmen were injured.

The besiegers then procured sulphur candles and other chemicals from a hospital to drive him out. He, however, kept all windows open and this mode of attack failed. Finally, Richard Anderson, a negro member of the police vice squad, managed to get into the house. The two met at a stairway. There was a fusillade and Dresen tumbled to the bottom of the stairs. Anderson was not hurt. Policemen seized the wounded negro and an examination at the hospital showed he had been shot six times.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 10.—Each member of the new State Public Utilities Commission was served with 71 subpenas by U. S. SEARCH BEING MADE FOR MISSING PASTOR

An effort is being made to learn the whereabouts of the Rev. Charles Bourscheidt, 27 years old, pastor of the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, 2838 Salena street, who has not been seen by relatives or members of his congregation since Christmas day, when he told several persons he was going to Chicago to see his wife and 7-months-old boy who were visiting there.

Mrs. Bourscheidt in Chicago yesterday asked the police to look for her husband, saying that she understood he started from St. Louis about Christmas to join her but had not arrived at her Chicago home.

The Rev. Mr. Bourscheidt became pastor of the Good Shepherd Church about 18 months ago, after serving as a chaplain at the Great Lakes naval training station near Chicago.

The minister and his family formerly lived at 2322A Louisiana avenue. Millard Thompson, who subrented the flat from the minister last November, today said he would like to see Bourscheidt to straighten out certain matters connected with the transfer of the premises to him.

MOVE FOR A FEDERAL CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Wisconsin State Senator Asks That All Legislatures Be Appealed to in Effort to Regain State Rights.

By the Associated Press.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 10.—A move to have Wisconsin take the initiative in restoring to states of the nation the rights lost through concentration of power in the Federal Government, was made in the Senate today by Timothy Burke of Green Bay, in the form of an appeal addressed to all State Legislatures calling on them to request a Federal constitutional convention.

The joint resolution he introduced declared that the fundamental rights of self-government guaranteed by the Tenth Constitutional Amendment (which deals with states' rights) had been encroached on by the national Government.

Senator Burke declared that the purpose of his resolution was to "safeguard the self-governing power of the states and specifically to define the powers of the Federal Government so as to restore to the people the rights of home rule as originally intended in the Federal Constitution."

SWEET POTATO SYRUP TO BE MANUFACTURED BY THE GOVERNMENT

E. R. Smith of Local Bureau of Chemistry Announces a Novel Federal Experiment.

Syrup will be manufactured from sweet potatoes at a Government plant to be established in Fitzgerald, Ga., by a process worked out by Dr. H. O. Gore in the laboratories of the Bureau of Chemistry of the Department of Agriculture. Announcement of this was made here today by E. R. Smith, chief of the St. Louis station of the Bureau of Chemistry.

The possibilities of the development of this process lie in the utilization and marketing of a large percentage of the crop, consisting of potatoes too large for table use or for commercial canning, which have been a total loss, as they were not suitable for either canning or shipping to a Northern market.

The syrup is said to be rich in sugar and highly palatable, and as useful as good cane syrup for baking, candy making and table purposes. The apparatus required is so inexpensive that plants could be established within hauling distance of growing centers, but the Government is not in a position to recommend it to manufacturers until the cost of production and market value is determined in comparison with cane, corn and other syrups.

For this reason the project was turned over to the office of development of the Bureau of Chemistry.

A tour of the principal sweet potato centers of the South was made, and Fitzgerald was selected because it has a large potato storing and curing establishment from which a supply of material from the 1920 crop is expected and also because a site and building for the plant were available.

The details of the process, which is patented by the Department of Agriculture, were not announced, but it is thought that the syrup is obtained by oxidizing the sweet potato starch into sugar by means of acids, similar to the process used in making corn syrup.

PURCHASE OF $100,000,000 FARM LOAN BONDS APPROVED

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—With an amendment authorizing the Treasury to buy $100,000,000 in farm loan bank bonds, the annual agricultural appropriation bill was favorably reported today by the Senate Agriculture Committee. The total of appropriations, $33,000,000, is the approximate amount carried in the bill as it passed the House.

The Senate Committee, however, struck out the appropriation of $360,000 carried by the House for the distribution of free seeds by members of Congress.

ILLINOIS MURDER CHARGES AGAINST ALLEGED ROBBERS

Two of Eight Men Taken After Bank Robbery Wanted in Connection With Killing of Detective.

GROUP CAPTURED IN CLUBHOUSE ON RIVER

One Identified by Detective Who Was With Perry Frost When They Interrupted Holdup.

Warrants charging Joseph Brown and Robert ("Cokey") Walsh with the murder of Detective Perry Frost of East St. Louis, will be asked for today at Belleville, it was announced at the State's Attorney's office there this morning. An application will be made immediately for the extradition of the men from Union, Mo., Assistant State's Attorney Lindauer said.

As has been told, Brown and Walsh, with six other men, were captured in and near "Flys Rest," a clubhouse on the Meramec River near Pacific, Mo., Tuesday, by a posse pursuing the robbers who, before daybreak, had carried off $12,222.67 in bonds, savings certificates, stamps and cash from the Merchants and Farmers' Bank of St. Clair, Mo.

Identified by Detective.

Brown was identified at Union yesterday by Detective Thomas O'Brien of East St. Louis as the highwayman who opened fire upon himself and Frost when they surprised a gang holding up a dice game in the saloon of Edward Kearns, Seventeenth street and St. Louis avenue, East St. Louis, at 2 a. m. on the morning of Nov. 14 last. Frost died of his wounds an hour later.

Three men who have confessed participating in the affray named Brown, Walsh and another man as their accomplices, but O'Brien was not able to identify Walsh. The other man has not been arrested. Edward Pohlman, Norman Taylor and Gaylord Bartholomew, who confessed, are in the Belleville jail awaiting trial for murder.

The red Stutz automobile, which the robbers abandoned east of Union, carried a 1920 license plate which was found to have been issued to Dr. Cleveland H. Shutt, the Hospital Commissioner of St. Louis. Dr. Shutt said he had had the plate removed at the City Dispensary two weeks ago when he got his 1921 plate. On this information detectives today arrested an attache of the dispensary and held him for an investigation of the means by which the plato came into the robbers' possession.

Information charging all eight of the prisoners with second degree burglary and larceny, based on the bank robbery, were issued at Union yesterday by Prosecuting Attorney Fred Kasmann, and they will be arraigned late today before Circuit Judge Breur. Seven of the men are in the Franklin County jail at Union. The eighth, Charles Barrington, whose sight was destroyed and his right hand blown off by an explosion of nitroglycerin that occurred as the posse approached the clubhouse, was brought to the city hospital here last night. His condition is serious.

His Version of Explosion.

He told physicians and reporters today that he did not know the other men under arrest, and that the explosion was an accident. He denied any connection with the robbery.

"I had gone to Pacific looking for work," he said. "Somebody told me I could get whisky at Flys Rest Club. I guess you'd call it a whisky club—anybody with a dollar could get a drink there.

"I got drunk, and went upstairs and went to sleep. When I woke up I stumbled against a dresser and a can fell to the floor, with me on top of it. The can exploded, and that's all I know about it."

M. W. Stahlman, cashier of the bank at St. Clair, said today that all the stolen property had been recovered; that, in fact, the cash found in the clubhouse exceeded the amount stolen by $2.43. The loot consisted of $8150 in Liberty Bonds, $3375 in War Savings Certificates, $665.37 in postage stamps and $32.30 in cash. It was all contained in three wheat sacks found in the clubhouse.

Hannegan Visits Clubhouse.

Chief of Detectives Hannegan, who returned last night from Union, visited the clubhouse on the Meramec. He said today that he had never seen a place more suitable as a base of operation for thieves. Its remoteness made it an ideal place for robbers to seclude themselves and conceal their loot, after raids on neighboring towns or in St. Louis, he said.

The attention of the Federal authorities will be called to the still and the two barrels of mash found in the basement of the house. Whisky bottles were found strewn about the first floor, after the arrest, and one bottle of moonshine liquor was confiscated.

It will be remembered that the posse following the bank robbers came upon a disabled automobile about five miles east of Union. The rack of safety deposit boxes which had been carried away from the bank lay near, most of the boxes having been battered in with a sledge hammer.

Two Men Found in Woods.

Soon after the posse began scoring adjacent woods, Chas. Neiheiser, the leader came upon Walsh and Walter Casey, whom he disarmed. A few minutes later he and Sheriff L. H. Gehlert approached the clubhouse and heard an explosion. They rushed to the front door, arrested five men who were on the first floor and found Barrington lying on the second floor.

Sheriff Gehlert stood guard over the five captives, while Neiheiser carried Barrington downstairs. Then other members of the posse came up.

The clubhouse is a two-story log cabin, with a kitchen lean-to in the rear. There are no partitions in it. Provisions were found in the kitchen, and when Neihesier and the Sheriff entered one of the men was frying an egg as though nothing had happened, although the explosion that maimed Barrington a moment before was so forcible that a large hole was torn in the floor and in one wall.

Tells of Renting Clubhouse.

John Maloney of 328 South Fourteenth street, St. Louis, one of the prisoners, said he had rented the place six months ago from Edward Brusher, a farmer, and had been living there while he trapped along the river. The other men, except Barrington, said they were visiting him.

Of the prisoners, Maloney, Thomas Montgomery of 901 South Eighth street, and George Ayers of Galveston, Tex., were not recognized by the St. Louis police. Chief Hannegan immediately identified Brown and Walsh as the men sought in connection with the Frost killing. A man giving the name of Hays was identified by Chief Hannegan as Robert Le Jeune, also known as Rudolph Schmidt and as Emil Schneider, the "Feather Edge Kid." He has been convicted of postoffice robberies at Hannibal and Bland, Mo., and was told a week ago by Chief Hannegan to leave town.

Sends Note to Justice Schuler.

Casey, who has been arrested a number of times, today wrote a note which he asked Sheriff Gehlert to send to Justice of the Peace Joseph Schuler, at 300 South Fourteenth street, St. Louis. The note ran:

Friend Judge:

I am in jail in Union, Mo. Try and come out right away. My bond is $2500. Try and come right away. William Hoelscher will run you out in his machine.

Justice Schuler is the father of City Marshal Anthony Schuler. He could not be reached for a statement.

EMPLOYES CHARGE ROADS ARE TRYING TO DESTROY UNION

to render a decision at the earliest possible date.

The ruling today held that all questions involving expense of operation were outside the jurisdiction of the labor board.

Opposes Interruptions.

"If any of these rules and working conditions are unjust and unreasonable," said the decision, "they constitute an unwarranted burden upon the railroads and upon the public. It is, therefore, the duty of this board to use the utmost practicable expedition, consistent with the necessary time for hearing and consideration, in determining whether any of the rules and working conditions now in effect are unreasonable. The board is endeavoring to perform its obligation and will be better able to succeed in doing so if it is not further interrupted by the introduction of unwarranted demands by either party."

Jewell, chief spokesman for the railroad workers' unions, also charged the railroad executives with "framing up evidence" and declared a fair consideration of the pending case is impossible until the motives inspiring the request to abrogate the national agreement are fully revealed, both to the board and the public.

Attacks Atterbury Statement.

He asserted that last week's statement to the board by W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania road, chairman of the Labor Committee of the American Association of Railway Executives, was designed to "stampede the board into a position which mature consideration would prove to be indefensible." He added that Atterbury also attempted to "falsely convince the public that high rates due to financial irregularities and inefficiencies of railroad management are attributable to the unions of railroad workers," and to obtain a weapon with which to exact from the Government full payment of the exorbitant claims which the railroads are making, "and to coerce and threaten the railroad workers by the specter of unemployment and reduced wages."

Jewell charges that Atterbury is the spokesman of a powerful financial combination seeking to re-establish "this autocratic control from which the war has freed us, and which was especially exemplified by conditions on the Pennsylvania Railroad."

Charges Attempted "Frameup."

"Mr. Atterbury," he added, "has revealed the intention of certain men to override the board and to frame up the case.

"He represents a conspiracy attempting to cast discredit upon the Government in its administration of the railroads and to destroy the legitimate organizations of the railroad employes.

"By momentarily stampeding the Labor Committee of the Association of Railway Executives, and by taking advantage of the courtesy and confidence of his board, he evidently hoped to discredit the Government, misrepresent employes to the public and fasten the unjust treatment to, and unbelievable conditions of, employment of the Pennsylvania Railroad upon the management and employes of all railroads.

Cause of Present Plight of Roads.

"Mr. Atterbury undoubtedly knows that the present plight of the roads is not due to the inefficiency of the employes. He knows that it is not due to mistreatment accorded to roads under Federal control. One significant thing he said in the course of his ultimatum, 'You cannot make retroactive tomorrow the savings that should have been made today.' This should be a bitter pill to many a small investor in railway securities who has lost the result of savings through the squandering of railroad wealth for which the financiers are responsible. And now Mr. Atterbury discloses the determination of the conspiracy to make a raid upon the pockets of the railroad employes, whose annual earnings still average less than the recognized standard of a living wage. By this raid he says he can secure $300,000,000. Other raids will follow, according to his own statement, although a three months' truce must be declared. But if this policy should be accepted, other raids must follow, for $300,000,000 would not save the railroads from a collapse such as Mr. Atterbury foretells."

"This conspiracy," added Jewell, "aims at the disruption of the legitimate organizations of the workers of the country, and the introduction of chaotic industrial conditions dominated by the huge economic power of a financial combination which had up to this period practically the control of the working and living conditions of millions of wage earners and their families."

Ask for Recall of Atterbury.

The railroad union chief demanded that the board recall Atterbury and require him to furnish a "full list of the railroads the point of view of which he expressed, and a full exposition of the nature of his authorization."

He explained that the union leaders had to present definite authority to represent the workers while the railroad executive had not been required to place on record "any such definite statement of authority."

Jewell said this action would exonerate the "numerous railway executives" who would repudiate Atterbury's views.

"We hardly need point out to you, Mr. Chairman," he said, "that the railroads having used your wage decision as a lever to obtain the highest freight and passenger rates ever accorded, are now anxious to be rid of the protection which this board affords to the employes of the railroads. They know that the quickest way to accomplish this purpose will be to cause the board to stultify and destroy itself by a decision such as that asked by Mr. Atterbury.

Says Request Is Unjust.

"To request the re-establishment of 1917 conditions of employment on railroads is to deny to railroad employes recognition for invaluable service, and is as unjust as it would be to suggests that no regard be had for the millions of valiant defenders of liberty who made the supreme sacrifice. This phase of the attitude is not only a direct reflection upon the former Railroad Administration, which only came into existence after the railroad managers had confessed and given public demonstration of their inability to operate the industry under wartime conditions, but also, I regret to say, an uncalled-for personal insult to every railroad employe, which we deeply regret.

"We are to insist that the board will, first, go below appearances, by which we mean that it will go underneath apparent conditions, to determine the fundamental forces which are determining those conditions; for it is in these underlying tendancies that the roots of injustice will be found.

Labor Board Rules Road Must Grant Conference to Workers.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—The United States Railroad Labor Board yesterday handed down a decision in which it ruled that it was the duty of the Boston & Maine Railroad to confer with the committees of the American Federation of Railroad Workers in the matter of grievances of members of that organization.

Railroad officials said that this was one of the most important and far-reaching decisions yet handed down by the board and declared that it would affect the status of thousands of railroad employes throughout the country.

Representatives of the employes said that the decision upheld the right of independent organizations of railway workers to present their grievances to officials of the roads.

STARKLOFF CAN RULE IN DAIRY QUESTIONS

City Counselor Holds Health Commissioner Has Right to Regulate Milk Business.

The Health Commissioner, with the approval of the Director of Public Welfare, has the power to make rules and regulations, with penal provisions attached, for the conduct of the dairy business, and the Board of Public Service has the authority to grant and revoke permits touching that business, in the opinion of City Counsellor Daues. He so stated in a communication to Health Commissioner Starkloff today.

His opinion was asked by Assistant Health Commissioner Jordan in connection with his order to 13 milk firms to install proper pasteurizers, under penalty of a recommendation to the Board of Public Service for revocation of their permits.

The power to make such regulations, provided they are reasonable and provided such authority is given by ordinance, is clear, he says. There is such an ordinance. On the question of reasonableness appeal may be made to the courts. He says:

"The city possesses the undoubted authority, in my opinion, through the Board of Aldermen, by ordinance, to authorize the Health Department to make reasonable rules and regulations, and the city possesses the undoubted authority to exclude from business all those who do not comply with the rules laid down, assuming, of course, that the rules are reasonable, which is a matter for the ecourt to determine if it is attacked, and which for the present must be assumed to be reasonable. Therefore, the Board of Public Service may issue permits to those who comply with the proper measurement in the standards as set out in a uniform rule. It may cut off those who fail to comply to those standards."

He holds that, under rule 5 of the regulations, unpasteurized milk shall not be dealt in or kept for sale unless it has been produced and handled on the premises of one individual until bottled in the final container and subsequently handled in accordance with the rules.

ROBBER TELLS AL JENNINGS HE IS "PRESIDENT WILSON"

Reformed Train Robber Relates Experience in New York With "Discourteous" Highwayman.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Al Jennings, reformed train robber and bandit, admitted yesterday he had been victimized here by "an inconsiderate, discourteous" member of his forsaken profession.

Returning to his hotel from Brooklyn, Jennings was accosted by a shabby individual and found himself at the unfamiliar end of a "six gun." He obeyed with celerity the usual "hands up" command, then sought immunity by divulging his identity.

"Oh, come on, now," he pleaded in a friendly manner, "I'm Al Jennings."

"Never mind the guff," returned the other, lifting a jewel and a roll of bills from Jennings' pocket, "I'm President Wilson."

"There now, I'm leaving you a dime—beat it."

Jennings did.

NAVAL HOLIDAY OPPOSED BY SENATE COMMITTEE

Report Says U. S. Should "Maintain a Navy at Least Equal to That of Any Other Power."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Contingent only upon the possibility of a world-wide agreement limiting naval armaments, the United States should pursue its present building program with a view of "maintaining a navy at least equal to that of any other Power." These were the conclusions of the Senate Naval Committee today in a report to the Senate on the Borah resolution under which it conducted a study of the advisability of suspending capital ship construction for a period of six months to permit a study of the naval lessons of the war.

Construction should not be suspended "for six months, nor at all," the committee reported, adding that further study was not needed to establish that the capital ship remained the principal unit of sea power with submarines and aircraft as yet only auxiliary forces.

Importance of Sea Power.

Stressing the importance of sea power to the United States, the committee report declared that the "lessons of history teach with indisputable truth that we cannot afford to depend for the maintenance of our rights and the defense of the lives and commerce of our citizens upon the mercy, generosity or good will of other Powers with rival or conflicting interests and ambitions."

The committee report, to which Senator King, Democrat, Utah, plans to file a minority report, expressed a desire that an agreement for limitation of naval armament might be reached among the nations, but said that until some such arrangement were made the United States should continue its building program.

"It is the opinion of this committee," the report continued, "that the United States should have under its control a sufficient force to protect and preserve both its material possessions, the policies it has established, the lives and rights of its citizens and the principles upon which its Government is founded.

Should Be No Suspension.

"For these reasons we are of the opinion that there should be no suspension of the present building program of the navy, which, as at present laid out, is, at the most, only designed to place us on a footing of equality with any other power upon the sea."

The report expressed approval and indorsement of the Navy General Board's summary of the situation leading to the conclusion that the capital ship remains the strongest naval unit. It recommended, however, scientific study and development of the submarine, aircraft and high explosives.

Other Powers have not abandoned the major ship, said the report, and are proceeding with extended programs of battleship construction.

Found Dead With Gas Tube in Mouth

A man known as Fred Sperber, about 40 years old, whose home is supposed to be in Rock Island, Ill., was found dead, with a tube leading from an open gas jet, in his mouth, in a hallroom on the third floor of 1623 Olive street, last night, when the proprietor, Willard Crocker, visited the room to collect rent. Crocker broke open the door. Sperber had roomed at the house a week. A registration card and 65 cents was found in his pockets.

CHILD, BRAVING FIRE FOR PARROT, CALMS SHIP'S PASSENGERS

Action Said to Have Drawn Attention So That Rush to Boats Was Arrested.

By the Associated Press.

HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 10.—Kitty Barrett, 8 years old, shared heroic honors with a parrot in a tale of fire at sea told by passengers landing from the steamship Cartago here yesterday. The little golden-haired girl, who is a daughter of Edward Ware Barrett, a newspaper publisher of Birmingham, Ala., refused to enter a lifeboat until she had brought her parrot from her stateroom, and her insistent demand that the bird be rescued calmed something approaching a panic among the passengers, and gave the ship's crew a chance to extinguish the flames and save the steamer.

While steaming along the coast of Panama one night the Cartago was set on fire by an overheated motor. The blaze seemed to threaten the safety of those on board and an alarm was sounded. The passengers gathered on deck and were ready to enter the boats, when the Barrett girl discovered she had left her parrot behind in her stateroom. She refused to enter the boat until Capt. George A. McBride sent for the bird. Frightened men and women paused to laugh at the calmness of the child and her concern over the safety of her pet, and when the steward brought the parrot to the deck he also announced the fire had been brought under control by the chief engineer.

INDUSTRIAL COURT SETTLES ITS FIRST OPEN SHOP CASE

Agreement Reached Upon Admission of Union Officials That Closed Shop Was Not Ironclad.

By the Associated Press.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 10.—Admission by union officials that the closed shop, one man one job was not ironclad, and that Adjustment of labor in dull seasons must be made in keeping with business sense, brought about an early agreement in the Fort Scott sorghum syrup Co.'s case before the Industrial Court.

After both sides had been heard yesterday it was apparent that mutual grounds existed, and an agreement outlined by the court was accepted by both sides. The company's petition for abrogation of the closed shop contract was not granted, in fact, was not pressed after grounds for an agreement were laid. It was the first open shop case brought before the Industrial Court.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—A bill limiting immigration from any one country to 5 per cent of aliens of such country in the United States when the last census was taken, was approved unanimously today by the Senate Immigration Committee.

It is a substitute for the House measure which was designed practically to stop immigration for one year.

19 YEARS FOR MAN FOR BURGLARY AND LARCENY

Raymond W. Dittmeyer, Convicted by Jury, Gets Long Sentence on Two Charges.

Raymond W. Dittmeyer, 21 years old, of 2705 North Ninth street, was convicted by a jury in Circuit Judge Landwehr's Court yesterday of second degree burglary and larceny and was sentenced to serve 15 years on the burglary charge and 4 years on the larceny charge, a total of 19 years. The sentence was said by Circuit Court attaches to have been one of the longest imposed for burglary and larceny. Dittmeyer had been offered 15 years if he would plead guilty to four indictments against him. He was prosecuted by Assistant Circuit Attorney Boisseau.

He was convicted of robbing the home of Misses Rose, Helen and Mildred Bothe, 1544 North Seventeenth street, of clothing and jewelry valued at $246 Sept. 24, last. Testimony of neighbors showed that Dittmeyer had been seen in front of the house before he entered, manicuring his finger nails. The witnesses saw the word "Love" tattooed on his left hand, which led to his arrest several hours later. Dittmeyer entered with a duplicate key, which was found on his person, and was seen standing in the open door of the house by neighbors.

Dittmeyer had served terms in the old industrial school and at Boonville. The other indictments against him charge the theft of $327 of clothing from the home of Lewis B. Waldron, 4775 Leduc street, Oct. 4, the theft of clothing from the home of Lawrence D. Casey of 1415 North Ninth street, and criminal assault.

Two men were convicted yesterday in Judge Hall's court. Earl Johnson, a negro, was sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary for stealing an automobile of the Neskov-Mumperow Motor Car Co., 3327 Locust street, Oct. 18. His accomplice, Luther Maggard, had been sentenced to two years on a plea of guilty. Artie Morris, a negro, of 5212 Patterson, was sentenced to serve two years for robbing the Paul A. Schulze Butter Co., 1014 South Cardinal avenue, Nov. 10.

Oscar Black, a negro, of 2218½ Chestnut street, on his pleas of guilty in Judge Hall's court today was sentenced to serve three years in the penitentiary for attempted robbery and to serve five years for first-degree robbery. The sentences are not concurrent. He was charged with attempting to hold up Benjamin Magdion, a pawnbroker, in his shop at 1124 North Fifteenth street, Jan. 3. The other charge was that he held up Sortis Hardian of 2736 Market street, and took $5 from him the night of Jan. 2 last.

Frank Thompson, a negro, of 221 Valentine street, was sentenced to two years on his plea of guilty to a charge of having stolen trousers valued at $410 from the Star Clothing Manufacturing Co., Dec. 18 last.

PRISONER ADMITS THEFT OF THREE AUTOS, POLICE SAY

William Webber, Salesman, and J. F. Doyle, Chauffeur, Arrested After Trying to Sell One of Stolen Cars.

ALSO SAYS HE TOOK NUMBER OF TIRES

Telephone Message to Police Headquarters by Prospective Customer Leads to the Capture of the Two Men.

William Webber, 30 years old, of 1279 Hamilton avenue, formerly an automobile salesman, and John F. Doyle, 34, of 5756A Theodosia avenue, a private chauffeur and salesman, were held today at police headquarters on Webber's admission that he stole three automobiles and a number of tires. Doyle admitted having sold one of the cars, but said he did not know at the time that it had been stolen. He said he learned of this later, but continued to work with Webber.

Webber and Doyle were trying to sell one of the stolen cars, a Dodge roadster, to a man at Jefferson avenue and Randolph street, yesterday. The man telephoned to police headquarters and asked whether such a car had been stolen. Detective Sergeant Walton went to the place and pursued the machine to Chouteau and Vandeventer avenues, where it disappeared. But he recognized Webber, and learned by inquiry that he and Doyle had been working together. The arrest of both followed.

Webber said he was trained as an army aviator at Rantoul, Ill., but was injured in an accident, and was discharged. He said that, after the cut in the price of Ford cars, he found himself unable to make a living as a salesman, and so resorted to theft, getting Doyle to help him in disposing of cars. Doyle said he was employed at $100 a month as chauffeur for Joseph H. Roblee, a director of the Brown Shoe Co., who is now in Florida.

In a garage at 1475 Laurel street, rented by Webber, the police found the Dodge roadster, which was stolen Jan. 31 from Frank V. La Grave of 5158 Delmar boulevard; a Chandler car, stolen Jan. 22 from Emanuel Munchweller of 5798 Kingsbury avenue, and six spare tires, which Webber said he had taken from the rear of machines.

The machine, stolen in November which was sold by Doyle, on a 50-50 division with Webber, was a Chevrolet belonging to Albert E. Ferguson of Indianapolis, who was visiting at 5316 Pershing avenue. Its purchaser has sold it again, and the police are looking for it.

PRINTERS AT GADSDEN, ALA., VOLUNTARILY CUT THEIR PAY

Say Time Has Arrived for Labor to Do Its Part in Return to Normal Basis.

GADSDEN, Ala., Feb. 10.—Gadsden union printers have voluntarily reduced their pay from 75 to 65 cents an hour, effective at once. The printers gave as their reason for the reduction, the belief that "the time has arrived for labor to do its part in returning conditions to a normal basis."

LYNN, Mass., Feb. 10.—Reduction of wages of 13 per cent for piece-workers and 8 per cent for day workers at the General Electric Co. plant here is announced to go into effect Monday. A wage cut was agreed upon unanimously by the plant's joint committee on adjustments, which comprises four employes and four representatives of the management, and the amount of the reduction was left to the general manager, it was stated.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 10.—A wage cut of 10 per cent, affecting 1600 men employed at the Standard Oil Co.'s refinery here, will be effective Feb. 16, according to a notice received here. All plants of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana will receive the cut, it was stated.

FORD MINERS TO GET BONUSES

By the Associated Press.

HARLAN, Ky., Feb. 10.—Miners employed in the operations of the Banner Fork Coal Corporation, a subsidiary of the Ford Motor Co., which operates one mine in this district and others in other districts of Eastern Kentucky, have just been informed that they have been included in the Ford plan of giving annual bonuses and the privilege of investing in securities of the company, the Eight-hour day together with a pay increase of $1.28 a day also has been announced.

Stores at which the men may buy at cost have been installed. The Ford mines have been operating at capacity during the past month, it is stated.

Fellow Workers Give Man Medal.

Employes of the Union Electric Light and Power Co. last night presented J. P. Schweiger of 4606 Louisiana avenue, a lineman for the company, with a gold medal for bravery displayed on Dec. 8, when Louis Stine of 4483 Penrose avenue, also a lineman, received a shock from a wire carrying 2500 volts and fell from the top of a pole. Schweiger stepped beneath the falling man and caught him on his shoulders, preventing him from falling on his head, and doubtlessly saving his life.

COCOANUT OIL MAKES A SPLENDID SHAMPOO

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonsful of Mulsified will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

Y. M. C. A. MAN'S VIEW OF THE WORLD'S NEEDS

Asia Secretary for International Committee Addresses Chamber of Commerce on Subject.

Sherwood Eddy, Asia secretary for the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A., in an address yesterday before the Chamber of Commerce, at a luncheon at Hotel Statler, summarized the greatest needs of the world under three heads—bread, peace, and God. He described conditions existing in the valorus nations of Europe and Asia, and offered several suggestions for the solution of industrial unrest in America.

Peace was the outstanding need, he said, and added that he did not mean merely a cessation of bloodshed and war, but a cessation of racial and class strife which, he said, seemed to be reigning everywhere.

"Under the heading of class strife the struggle between labor and industry is one of the most urgent problems everywhere," he said.

Evolution and Revolution.

"From my observation I believe we must recognize the common interest. Evolution is better than revolution. In too many nations revolution has been given the opportunity to show what it can do in solving the problem, but it has failed. We must recognize the legitimate demands of labor, and must place humanity above everything else. In England I found that industry was speedily coming to recognize legitimate demands, and that evolution was being given a fair trial in the place of revolution.

"Labor is entitled to a fair living wage, rather than a wage to exist on, and must be given assurance against unemployment, if there is to be efficiency and if class strife is to be broken up, and in England these principles are being recognized as the basis for the solution of speedy industrial adjustment. I believe the business men of America will do well to adopt these same principles. There is much talk in America that now is the time to break the unions. We may be able to break the unions, but we cannot break humanity and spirit. It has been tried in Russia and other foreign nations, but it has failed in bettering conditions or ending strife. Reaction plus repression spells revolution.

Nations in Trouble.

"In my travels through Europe and Asia last summer I could find no nation that did not seem to be in some great trouble. Turbulence, industrial unrest, famine and bloodshed existed everywhere, and the one great outstanding thought that struck me was that the women and children were the main ones who were paying for the war and all this trouble in every country. In Russian, Poland, Austria, Armenia and China I found that it was the women and children who were experiencing the greatest suffering, although it was not they who brought on the war or asked for it."

After describing in detail the suffering and disease existing in the different nations of Europe and Asia resulting from the lack of food, he praised the work of Herbert Hoover in Central Europe, and summarized conditions by saying "there are more people hungry at this hour than at any time in the history of the world."

CHICAGO MAN ASKS TO BE HANGED IN GRANT PARK

Convicted Murderer Pleads for Public Execution "So That All the World May See."

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—If Edward Brislane must be hanged Friday for the murder of William Mills, motion picture theater manager, he wants the execution to take place in Grant Park, instead of in the solitude of the jail, "so that all the world may see," he said in a letter made public today by Sheriff Charles W. Peters.

"I don't think five per cent of the people who demand capital punishment will be able to stick it out Friday. But there will be less talk and more thinking afterwards," said the Brislane letter.

Gov. Small today had before him at Springfield the report of the Board of Pardons which has reviewed the case of Brislane. This will be Gov. Small's first decision upon a capital punishment.

Some of the recent executions conducted by Sheriff Peters have been staged within view of the prisoners in the county jail, the Sheriff declaring he believed executions acted as a deterrent to crime.

MAY SELL SEIZED LIQUOR

Disposition of 50,000 Gallons to Hospitals Under Consideration.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Sale to hospitals of the more than 50,000 gallons of seized liquor held by the customs offices at the various ports of the country, is under consideration by the Treasury Department, Assistant Secretary McLean said today.

The Treasury is compelled to choose between destroying the beverages or putting them to some humanitarian purpose, McLean said, adding that the Bureau of Internal Revenue had ruled that the Treasury could dispose of these liquors to hospitals and similar institutions in good standing under proper precautions to insure use for legal purposes.

INTEREST AROUSED IN ANNEXATION BILL

City Members Want Measure Referred to Municipal Corporations Committees.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 10.—Following the introduction yesterday of the St. Louis annexation bill in the Senate and House, which is an enabling act to provide a means by which the whole or a part of St. Louis County may be annexed to the city, a movement was started by St. Louis representatives in the Legislature to have the bill referred to the committees on municipal corporations instead of to the county boundaries committees, to which it was referred two years ago.

The annexation bill in the last Legislature was killed in the committee because of an antagonism by rural members, who comprised the entire committee. The County Boundaries committees this year are considered more progressive than the same committees in the last Legislature, but even this year there is not a St. Louis member on them.

Rural Men on Committees.

On neither the Senate nor House committee is there a member who lives within 100 miles of St. Louis, nor one who is familiar with conditions in St. Louis and St. Louis County.

The Municipal Corporations committees of both houses consist largely of men acquainted with problems of the cities, and if the bill is referred to those committees its advocates feel that it will receive a more careful hearing than it received two years ago.

The measure, which was prepared by the Million Population Club of St. Louis, was brought to Jefferson City by former Judge Samuel Rosenfeld, who has been an indefatigable worker for annexation legislation for many years, and Otto Karbe. It is the same bill which was introduced early in the 1919 session.

Provisions of the Bill.

It provides that if any portion of St. Louis County desires to be annexed to the city, the County Court, on petition of 100 residents of the county, is required to call an election of the entire county. If a majority of the voters at this election favor the annexation, another election is required in the district which it is proposed to annex. A three-fifths vote is required there. If that is obtained, then there will be an election in the city to determine whether the city desires to annex the territory proposed.

The bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator Anderson of St. Louis and in the House by Representatives Goodenough, Wetzel and Straub, all of St. Louis. Prior to its introduction, caucuses of St. Louis members of both houses were held and agreements reached for a united and active support of it by all members. Two years ago few St. Louis members took an interest in the bill.

TOSCANINI AND ORCHESTRA OF 97 ARRIVE FOR CONCERT TONIGHT

Dinner Will Be Given for Italian Maestro After Program at Coliseum.

Arturo Toscanini and his orchestra of 97 Italian musicians arrived shortly before noon today for their concert tonight at the Coliseum. They were met at Union Station by a committee and escorted to Hotel Statler. This is the orchestra which will play at La Scala Opera House, Milan, when it reopens in the fall, with Toscanini as director.

Tonight's program consists of Brahms' Symphony No. 2, in D major; "Notturno" and Rondo Fantastico," by R. Pick-Mangiagalli; the tone-poem, "Don Juan," of Richard Strauss, and the overture to Rossini's "William Tell."

After the concert a dinner in honor of the famous maestro, will be given at Hotel Statler, and a silver cup will be prisented to him on behalf of the Dante Alighieri Society of St. Louis. The orchestra remains in St. Louis over night.

PUPPET PLAYS TO BE GIVEN AT ARTISTS' GUILD LITTLE THEATER

"Jack and the Beanstalk," "Hynd Horn" and "Gentle Alice Brown, or the Robber's Daughter," on Program.

Lilian Owen's Marionettes will give four performances at the Artists' Guild Little Theater, beginning Saturday afternoon. Men and women, concealed from the audience, manipulate the puppets and say the lines of the play. "Jack and the Beanstalk" will be given for children Saturday afternoon at 2:15, and "Hynd Horn," a nonsensical musical drama, for adults, Saturday evening. Monday afternoon at 3:30 and Monday evening. It will be preceded by "Gentle Alice Brown, or the Robber's Daughter," a pictorial one-act play, and by ballets by Mimi, a 300-year-old Italian puppet.

Miss Owen's plays are given with music, in faint, tinkling airs, which seem almost fairy-like.

Just Apply This Paste and the Hairs Will Vanish

(Boudoir Secrets)

The judicious use of a delatone paste insures any woman a clear, hairless skin. To prepare the paste, mix a little of the powdered delatone with some water, then apply to the objectionable hairs for two or three minutes. When the paste is removed, and the skin washed, every trace of hair will have vanished. No pain attends the use of the delatone and it will not mar the most sensitive skin, but to insure results, see that you get real delatone.

LENTEN APPEAL BY CHURCH FEDERATION

Protestant Ministers Ask Christian People to Put Forth Their Best Efforts.

The Church Federation of St. Louis, through a special committee, yesterday issued the following Lenten proclamation to the Christian people of St. Louis, appealing to them to put forth the best effort they have ever made:

"These are trying days. Restlessness, anxiety and moral laxity confront us at every turn. The churches of the city of St. Louis have a great task, and the responsibility of making a city 'wherein dwelleth righteousness' seems unusually heavy just now. But we must carry it! Let us ask God for His peace, comfort and strength!

"Christian friends, we appeal to you as the season of Lent approaches, to put forth such an effort for the Kingdom as you have never made before. In issuing this Lenten proclamation we call on you to join us in these plans:

"Let us pray earnestly.

"Let us devote ourselves to the work of the church, both clergy and laity, with a new zeal.

"Let us support all co-operative effort for Christianizing our city.

"Let us move forward together in a great effort to reach the unchurched masses of this city with the message of our Lord, Jesus Christ. If we go forward together we shall make such an impression on this city as has never been made before! May we have the vision that moves, the strength that insures, the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ."

The committee is composed of the Rev. Dr. Ivan Lee Holt, the Rev. Dr. G. A. Campbell, the Rev. Dr. W. H. Geistweit, Bishop Coadjutor F. F. Johnson, the Rev. Dr. D. C. MacLeod, the Rev. Dr. Otto Press, the Rev. Dr. R. C. Williamson, the Rev. Dr. S. H. Woodrow and the Rev. Dr. Benjamin Young.

MIX APPEARS AS PROSECUTING WITNESS IN ITTNER'S COURT

Police Judge Had Charged Man With Driving Past Street Car Taking on Passengers.

Police Judge Mix, after disposing of his own docket, appeared in Police Judge Ittner's Court today as prosecuting witness against Charles W. James, 821 Pine street, charged with running past a street car which had stopped for passengers at Broadway and Locust street yesterday afternoon. James was fined $10.

Judge Mix testified that he was crossing the street on foot and was passing in front of the street car when he was almost struck by James' automobile. He said James did not stop until he was within four feet of the front end of the car, though passengers were boarding the car at the rear door. James' defense was that he did not know the rear door of the car was open when he passed it.

A Straight Tip ---- *The pronounced shrinkage in the production of merchandise for future requirements, together with the stocks of merchandise in the hands of retailers now at their lowest point, will cause a shortage to meet normal demands the coming Spring season. These conditions are bringing about a stiffening of prices at wholesale. BROTHERS IN HOSPITAL OVER TRYING TO GIVE EMPLOYE PAY

Coal Dealers Recall Oversight and Go to His Home at 3 A. M. Loud Apologies Caughe Fight.

George Amsler, 30 years old, of 5016 Louisiana avenue, an ice and coal dealer, and John Amsler, 26, of 4132 Virginia avenue, his brother and partner in business, are at the city hospital today recovering from numerous cuts and bruises, and also are facing a charge of disturbing the peace—all because they attempted to give one of their employes his weekly salary.

Yesterday was the day on which the brothers usually paid their employes, but they forgot to hand Charles Sittel, 24, of 3720 South Compton avenue, his usual pay check. At 3 o'clock this mornnig they were on their way home from a "little party" when they remembered their error, and both agreed that the proper thing to do was to stop at Sittel's home and give him the money.

This they proceeded to do, but their loud tones in explaining their error awakened Henry Sittel, their employe's brother. An argument and a fight followed, and the Amsler brothers finally were pushed out the back door of the house and down a flight of stairs. When the police arrived they found them in the yard in a dazed condition. Henry Sittel lost several teeth in the fray, and was bruised about the face.

Kinney was passing the corner.

Lewis surrendered after the shooting. He said he had shot at the woman because she gave some information to United States revenue agents. She was wounded in the arm.

BREWERY WORKERS TO MEET

Officials of International Union Here for Conference Tomorrow Night.

Officials of the Brewers and Malsters' International Union are in St. Louis to confer with members of the organization comprising about 4000 employes of local soft drink manufacturers who are working under a temporary abridged agreement. A meeting of members will be held tomorrow night to decide by vote whether they shall continue working under this agreement or not.

The agreement insures the present wage scale, hours and working conditions, but curtails the jurisdiction of the union to some extent, particularly as to the employment and discharge of men.

NEGRO, ARRESTED WITH CLOTH, ADMITS THEFT

After Telling of Entering Tailor Shop, He Confesses Two Other Robberies.

Charles Chum, a negro, arrested at 4:20 a. m. today as he was entering his home at 2746 Lucas avenue, was found to be carrying cloth, valued at $300, which he admitted that he stole from the tailor shop of J. J. Zadow, 1254 Union boulevard. He had taken the cloth after breaking the front window of the shop. He also confessed that he took $100 worth of cloth from Nathan Lerner's tailor shop, 2742 Franklin avenue, Jan. 30, and that he took $100 worth of cloth from Abe Lanis' shop, 2220 Franklin avenue, Feb. 7.

Mrs. Leonora Preissner of Dupo, Ill., reported to the police that a crocheted handbag, containing Missouri Pacific pay checks for $739, was stolen from her in a washroom at Union Market. A check for $312, payable to her, was also in the bag, she said, with $8 cash.

Miss Iona Williams, bookkeeper at Barnes Hospital, has reported to the police that her handbag was opened when she was shopping downtown and that $750 of Liberty bonds and some shares of stock of the Union Electric Co. were taken.

Ben Zarke, 12 years old, of 1718 North Twelfth street, a vender of magazines, reported to the police last evening that two youths held him up on Seventh street, near Pine, at 6:30 p. m., and robbed him of $5.

Albert Herzog, 26, was arrested last evening after he attempted to sell 10 watches to a Market street secondhand dealer. He said a man in a poolroom gave him the watches to sell. Policemen went with him to the poolroom, and arrested 15 men who were there, but Herzog did not identify any of them as the man who had given him the watches. The watches were declared to be part of the goods stolen, Tuesday night, from the Block Mercantile Co., 903 Market street.

Burglaries reported to the police this morning and last night were: Home of Miss Belle Knapp, 748 Bayard avenue, mink coat valued at $1000 taken; home of F. B. Borngesser, 3203 St. Louis avenue, jewelry valued at $975 and $60 cash; home of Mrs. Ada Smith, 1442 North Twenty-second street, jewelry; home of William Haupt, 1214 Chambers street, jewelry; home of George H. Herron, 2955 Ashland avenue, jewelry.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

This is what healed my skin trouble

Resinol

"Now I don't have to avoid people because of embarrassing skin trouble, or lie awake hours at night, tormented by intense itching. Resinol Ointment did it! After the first application of this soothing ointment, I felt such blessed relief. In a short time the inflammation was reduced and the itching stopped. Now my eczema is entirely gone. I used Resinol Soap as directed with it and have found Resinol Shaving Stick to be the best on the market for a clean, easy shave." Resinol trio at all druggists.

WOMEN ORGANIZING TO FIGHT BLUE LAWS

Council of Justice Declares "Fanatics" Will Force People Into Law Violation.

An organization of women to fight the blue law movement has been formed in St. Louis and held its first convention Tuesday at its headquarters, 1128 Chemical Building, at which a resolution was adopted committing the members to use all their power to combat such proposed legislation, and outlining the extension of the organization to national dimensions. Its name is the American Woman's Council of Justice, and Miss Emilie M. Sweeney is president.

The resolution recites that there is a movement on foot to abolish the use of tobacco, tea and coffee, to legislate regulations of women's dress, and to prohibit any activity on Sunday except that pertaining to attendance at church.

"The fanatics," says a statement of the council, "are already striving to teach little children to refrain from caressing their fathers if they indulge in an occasional, harmless smoke."

Would Force Law Violation.

Declaring that one of its chief aims is to encourage obedience of the law, the resolution asserts that sumptuary legislation imposed upon the people by a tyrannical but well-organized minority will force respectable people into law violation in revolt against the suppression of their liberties.

"The bayonets of a minority cannot long successfully seek out the persistent disobedience of the majority," the resolution continued. "We believe that it is dangerous to public peace for a minority to say to the majority: 'You must.' • • • Sudden or violent changes of government regulation lead to equally violent and often fatal reactions."

Espionage Pursued by Fanatics.

Sumptuary legislation tends toward the very destruction of Government itself, the resolution adds, "by engendering deadly and bitter strife between neighbors, through a system of relentless and exasperating espionage, pursued by fanatics, aided by paid place-seekers, and culminating in a bold defiance of law by many who believe they are being betrayed at the behest of fanatics and bigots."

In conclusion it says: "We finally declare and resolve that from this day on this organization shall tirelessly and vigorously prosecute the work of organizing the liberty-loving women of the nation into a cohesive body for the defense and perpetuation of universal, individual freedom of action and conscience."

Already the council had printed and circulated pamphlets and circular letters calling attention to the blue law propaganda.

PLIGHT OF SOUTHERN FARMERS

One of Them Graphically Describes His Inability to Pay.

By the Associated Press.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 10.—On account of the low prices that have been paid for tobacco and cotton this season, many southern farmers have experienced great difficulty in meeting their obligations.

As reflecting the plight of one planter, former Governor Richard I. Manning of South Carolina, at a meeting of tobacco and cotton growers here recently, read the following letter, which, he said, was sent to a South Carolina fertilizer company: "I received your letter about what I owe you. Now, be pachent. I ain't forgot you, and soon as folks pay me I'll pay you, but if this was jedgement day and you no more prepared to meet your God than I am to meet your account, then you sho' going to hell."

Pathe Phonograph

priced at $150

and with each No. 10 Pathe we will include

$25 worth of Records FREE

Why should your home be any longer without the cheering influence of music? A small down payment delivers to you this handsome Pathe Phonograph and your choice of $25 worth of records. And then $2 a week pays for it. Could any arrangement be simpler or easier than that?

No Phonograph can give you more enjoyment than the Pathe. It plays all makes of records perfectly. The clarity and splendor of its tone leave nothing to be desired. And it requires no bothersome changing of needles, for it has no needle. Instead it has a tiny sapphire ball as a reproducing point; and this sapphire ball never wears out.

$2 a week is certainly little to pay for all that the Pathe can bring you.

BRYAN HAS PLAN TO REORGANIZE PARTY

He and Brother Propose to Muster "Privates" Among Democrats to Take Charge.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—A reorganization of the Democratic party is planned by William J. Bryan and his brother, Charles Bryan, former Judge R. C. Roper of Nebraska announced here last night. Judge Roper is here to represent the Bryans in conferences with Progressive Democrats.

Judge Roper said it was the purpose of the Bryans to rouse the "middle class Democrats," and give them the control of the party, "thus eliminating the two elements now in control; the Cox-White faction and the McAdoo-Woolley wing."

Organization of clubs and forums for the discussion of vital questions is one of the methods with which the Bryans propose to work.

"The Bryan plan," said Judge Roper, "is to organize the privates in the lines so as to develop an effective fighting army."

"The other plan," he said, speaking of proposals of the other party elements, "is to organize the Generals, Captains and Lieutenants only, in the hope that the privates will fall in line at the command of the officers. This was the plan followed in the last campaign. The result was an army made up largely of officers. The privates had deserted. As in war, political battles are not won by commanders alone."

Judge Roper said that on March 18, William J. Bryan's birthday, the progressive program for the real reorganization of the party would be launched.

Bryan Gives Views on Reorganization of Democratic Party.

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 10.—"If the Democratic party is going to be a force in this country, it must have members, and the voters will not be willing to act through the Democratic party unless they can control it," said William Jennings Bryan at his winter home here today in discussing the announcement yesterday in New York by former Judge R. C. Roper of Nebraska that Bryan and his brother, Charles, planned a reorganization of the Democratic party.

Bryan said he had not known that a definite date for the launching of the movement had been set, as announced by Judge Roper.

"I do not expect much of any surface movements, that is, movements among the party officials," Bryan said. "Progress will come through activity among the voters, and they cannot act until they have a chance to select committeemen. Prior to this, they can organize among themselves, discuss questions, pick out spokesmen and get ready for effective action when the time for the selection of the committeemen comes."

"Past differences ought to be forgotten," Bryan continued. "There can be no harmony in the party organization as long as the 'wets' or Wall street, or any other special interest, attempts to use the party organization to keep the party from doing its duty to the public.

"The people are intensely in earnest and the committee can best serve the party, not by burning incense before any particular idol, but by getting down to work for the protection of the public against exploiters. Senator Calder of New York stated the other day that the coal men had plundered the public to the extent of a billion and one-half dollars per year. That sum is greater than all the stealing done by all the men now confined in the penitentiaries of the United States—and nothing is being done to imprison the exploiters or to protect the public from them."

U. S. STEEL PRICES AND WAGE SCALE TO CONTINUE, GARY SAYS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Existing prices and wage scales of the United States Steel Corporation are to continue, declared Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board, at a conference with newspaper men today.

Some of the independent companies, he understood, had made efforts to sell their products below current quotations, but he flatly asserted that the United States Steel Corporation had no intention at this time of changing its selling prices. The subject of reducing wage rates among its 265,000 employes has not even been up for consideration, he added.

"It seems to me," he continued, "that any manufacturer of steel who contemplates reducing selling prices below the basis fixed by the Industrial Board in March, 1919, must have in mind the intention of reducing wage rates accordingly. If so, the manufacturer is wrong and unfair, unless, of course, the present selling prices are higher than they ought to be, which would be unfair to the consumers, or wage rates are higher than they should be."

TEACHER MUST FOREGO ROYALTIES ON BOOKS

Board Adopts Charles Ammerman's Algebra Text Book, but Prohibits Profit to Him.

Charles Ammerman, instructor of mathematics at McKinley High School, and author of several textbooks for school use on the subject, will not be allowed to accept royalties on his books which have been chosen for use in the local high schools, due to a rule of the Board of Education that employes of the board may not profit from the use by the board of books or other devices purchased by it.

Two books on algebra written by Ammerman in collaboration with Walter Burton Ford, a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan, are to be used here. The recommendation of Supt. Withers for their adoption was approved only after an amendment was made stipulating that Ammerman was to receive no profit from the sale of the books to the board. The teacher is entitled to a royalty from the publishers on all of the books sold.

Ammerman said he would abide by the rules of the board. He probably will turn over the amount to a local charity.

In addition to the new text books on algebra three others on plane geometry, solid geometry and plane trigonometry by Fletcher Durell and E. E. Arnold are to be purchased to replace the textbooks now in use. They will be introduced into the courses next September.

Ammerman has been an instructor in McKinley High since the school was opened in 1904. He came here from Tuscola, Ill., where he was superintendent of schools, to accept the position. He is a graduate of De Pauw University, and took a post-graduate course at Chicago University.

ENGLISH GIRL SELLS HER HAIR TO HELP HER COUNTRY

Says She Bought Savings Certificates With Proceeds and Then Destroyed Them.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—An English girl has just written to the Government:

"To help, even though in a very small way, the country in the present financial difficulties, I have had my hair cut off and have sold it. With the money thus obtained I have bought War Savings Certificates which, I have destroyed. The money is thus a direct gift to the country. If this could be published perhaps many other girls would do as I have done and thousands of people would be encouraged to give up someething that would benefit the country financially."

The letter was published, but no emulators of the writer's example have been heard from. A reason may be found in a recent decree of hairdressers that "bobbed" locks are no longer fashionable.

SYSTEM OF BARTER PROPOSED

LONDON, Feb. 10.—An attempt is being made to establish a system of barter, or exchange of goods, between British and Danish business concerns, so as to eliminate the difficulties arising from the uncertainties of exchange rates.

At the invitation of the Danish Minister of Commerce, a party of British business men headed by Sir Charles Sykes, a member of Parliament, has gone to Copenhagen to institute the proposed barter. Sir Charles, who is a prominent figure in the Yorkshire woolen trade and was Wool Controller during the war, has advocated the bartering system as the best possible solution of the present industrial troubles in this country.

8,000,000 China Eggs at Seattle.

By the Associated Press.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, Feb. 10.—More than 10,000,000 Puget Sound and Chinese eggs have arrived here from Seattle, Wash., for forwarding to New York, Philadelphia, Boston and other Eastern points. The Chinese eggs in the shipment, about 8,000,000, are said to be consigned to confectioners and bakers.

31 Russian Roads Suspend Traffic.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Thirty-one railroads in Russia have now suspended traffic almost completely as a result of the fuel famine, according to reports in Soviet Russian newspapers which have reached the State Department. Of these roads, over which only occasional emergency trains were said to be running, 19 were classed as major lines and 12 as secondary.

Many of the models now on view have never been seen here before and in addition to the display of cars there is an unusually comprehensive showing of accessories and supplies.

Auto Show Notes

Tonight at 11:30 the St. Louis automobile accessory dealers will entertain the visiting dealers at the second annual "midnight frolic" at the American Theater, where a special performance of "Century Midnight Whirl" will be given. Among the added attractions will be a six-round boxing bout between "Babe" Asher and "Cupie" Collender. E. C. Bartholomew, who is in charge of the arrangements, announced last night that the general public was invited and that tickets could be secured either at the box office or at the booth near the entrance of the auto show. Special arrangements have been made for transporting the dealers direct to the theater at the close of the auto show.

The Velie Automobile Co. held its sixth annual dealers' meeting this noon at the American Annex. Several officials of the factory were present to discuss with the visiting dealers the sales plan for the coming season. The meeting was well attended by dealers from Missouri and Illinois.

Two new Essex models are being shown for the first time this week. The chief refinement in the new phaeton is a change of finish, the hood, gas tank and radiator being of baked enamel. Other changes include a pantasote top, plate glass window and gypsy curtain. The new Essex cabriolet is also receiving its first showing. A special aluminum speedster body, the product of Clayton & Co., New York body builders, is mounted on a Hudson chassis. A Hudson coupe, touring, limousine and phaeton complete the exhibit.

Instead of the usual nickel-plated chassis, the Packard Motor Car Co. is exhibiting what might be expressed as the "naked truth" regarding their product. A standard sedan aluminum body, taken out of regular production before painting or upholstering, is mounted on a standard chassis, with such parts removed as would obstruct the view of the chassis design.

For the first time the Stearns factory has made up a cut-out chassis, showing in detail the principle and workings of the Stearns-Knight motor. Tiny electric lights illuminate every chamber of the motor, which is attached to an electric motor, so that the action of the sleeve valves may be observed in operation. It is on display at the showroom of the Newell Motor Car Co.

The new series Grant Six is being introduced at the show. Following closely the lines of the previous model, the principal changes are in equipment and appointments. Cord tires, Gabriel snubbers and motometer are now standard equipment. The upholstery has been made deeper and of a heavier quality leather. A coupe and touring car are being shown. The Sayers Six and the National are displayed in the same booth.

The Gardner light four, which made its debut at last year's show, has since completed its line and this year the three additional body types are shown. A coupe and sedan are the closed models and the touring car and roadster complete the line.

BERGDOLL APPLICATION HEARD

Judge Takes Under Advisement Case of Imprisoned Draft Evader.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 10.—After an all-day hearing on the application of Erwin C. Bergdoll, wealthy draft evader, serving a four-year term in the disciplinary barracks at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., for a writ of habeas corpus, Federal Judge Pollock yesterday took the case under advisement. He gave the attorneys 30 days in which to file briefs and stated that his decision might be expected about March 1.

Bergdoll, who is a brother of Grover C. Bergdoll, a draft evader, now in Germany, was sentenced last year by a general courtmartial sitting at Fort Jay, N. Y. Defense counsel offered at the hearing arguments that Bergdoll was not in the army when he was tried and that the records of the courtmartial were illegal.

TEACHER MUST FOREGO ROYALTIES ON BOOKS

Board Adopts Charles Ammerman's Algebra Text Book, but Prohibits Profit to Him.

Charles Ammerman, instructor of mathematics at McKinley High School, and author of several textbooks for school use on the subject, will not be allowed to accept royalties on his books which have been chosen for use in the local high schools, due to a rule of the Board of Education that employes of the board may not profit from the use by the board of books or other devices purchased by it.

Two books on algebra written by Ammerman in collaboration with Walter Burton Ford, a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan, are to be used here. The recommendation of Supt. Withers for their adoption was approved only after an amendment was made stipulating that Ammerman was to receive no profit from the sale of the books to the board. The teacher is entitled to a royalty from the publishers on all of the books sold.

Ammerman said he would abide by the rules of the board. He probably will turn over the amount to a local charity.

In addition to the new text books on algebra three others on plane geometry, solid geometry and plane trigonometry by Fletcher Durell and E. E. Arnold are to be purchased to replace the textbooks now in use. They will be introduced into the courses next September.

Ammerman has been an instructor in McKinley High since the school was opened in 1904. He came here from Tuscola, Ill., where he was superintendent of schools, to accept the position. He is a graduate of De Pauw University, and took a post-graduate course at Chicago University.

ENGLISH GIRL SELLS HER HAIR TO HELP HER COUNTRY

Says She Bought Savings Certificates With Proceeds and Then Destroyed Them.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—An English girl has just written to the Government:

"To help, even though in a very small way, the country in the present financial difficulties, I have had my hair cut off and have sold it. With the money thus obtained I have bought War Savings Certificates which, I have destroyed. The money is thus a direct gift to the country. If this could be published perhaps many other girls would do as I have done and thousands of people would be encouraged to give up something that would benefit the country financially."

The letter was published, but no emulators of the writer's example have been heard from. A reason may be found in a recent decree of hairdressers that "bobbed" locks are no longer fashionable.

SYSTEM OF BARTER PROPOSED

LONDON, Feb. 10.—An attempt is being made to establish a system of barter, or exchange of goods, between British and Danish business concerns, so as to eliminate the difficulties arising from the uncertainties of exchange rates.

At the invitation of the Danish Minister of Commerce, a party of British business men headed by Sir Charles Sykes, a member of Parliament, has gone to Copenhagen to institute the proposed barter. Sir Charles, who is a prominent figure in the Yorkshire woolen trade and was Wool Controller during the war, has advocated the bartering system as the best possible solution of the present industrial troubles in this country.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Thirty-one railroads in Russia have now suspended traffic almost completely as a result of the fuel famine, according to reports in Soviet Russian newspapers which have reached the State Department. Of these roads, over which only occasional emergency trains were said to be running, 19 were classed as major lines and 12 as secondary.

FIGURES SHOW ADMITTANCE OF 9799 IMMIGRANTS OBJECTED TO

Committee Is Told That Number Classed as Unable to Earn Living Entered in Six Months.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Figures were laid before the House Immigration Committee yesterday by the Public Health Service to show that out of 10,002 immigrants who arrived at Ellis Island in the last six months of 1920 and whom the health service certified as unable to earn a living because of disease or physical defects, 9799 were admitted by immigration officials. The figures as presented also showed that out of 112 persons certified as having mental defects, 50 were admitted, and that out of 536 persons classed as having loathsome or contagious diseases, 167 were allowed to land.

Surgeon-General Cumming, who presented the figures, said such admissions had had a bad effect on the morale of the Public Health Service.

A substitute for the House immigration bill designed to restrict immigration from European countries to 5 per cent of their citizens already in the United States, but leaving in status quo the treaty and agreements affecting admissibles from Japan and China as well as the existing regulations between the Americas was discussed yesterday by the Senate Immigration Committee.

LIQUOR SEIZED IN BANQUET HALL AFTER TESTIMONIAL TO MAYOR

Sale at Newark Tuesday Night Alleged—Confiscation of Liquor Charged.

By the Associated Press.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 10.—Alleged violation of the Volstead act at a testimonial dinner given Tuesday night in honor of Mayor Charles P. Gillen led to a raid today on the Krueger Auditorium, the scene of the banquet, and the seizure of wine, whisky and champagne.

Six prohibition enforcement agents, who raided the hall under the direction of Harry E. Sands of Washington, made affidavits that they attended the banquet and purchased liquor at an open bar. Sands said that $30,000 worth of whisky and champagne seized last Monday in a stable was intended for the banquet.

34 TYPHUS CASES REPORTED

Disease Is Discoverrd on Ships Arriving From Italian Ports.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Twenty cases of typhus were found among steerage passengers arriving here today on the steamship San Guisto from Triest and Naples. Three passengers died of the disease during the voyage.

The vessel was ordered held up indefinitely at quarantine and the typhus victims removed to Swineburne.

Fourteen cases were discovered on the steamer President Wilson, which arrived several days ago. One suspected typhus case and a case of smallpox were found on the steamship Providence.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

U. R. Suggestions.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The United Railways Co. is always trying to improve car service, and through your paper I should like to point out a few needs for improvements:

1. The Clayton car now stops at Skinker and the University tracks. A small station has been built to shelter patrons waiting for the car, but it does not serve its purpose because of the fact that it has no sides. No protection against wind, snow, or a blowing rain is afforded. This should be remedied by building up the north and south sides of the station. At the same time, a few seats should be built for the accommodation of patrons.

2. The University car line has no station on Skinker road. East of Skinker, all of the stops have stations, and Skinker should be equipped with a station, as there is absolutely no protection against rain at this corner.

3. The City Limits car service is very poor and should be improved. Often it is necessary to wait 20 minutes for a car.

4. The present type of trailers should be supplemented by a new type. This new type should have wheels the size of the motor car. The small wheels make the car ride very poorly, as it jumps. Patrons prefer to ride in the motor car due to this, although a trailer is very easy to get into. This is very important, and should be given consideration by the company.

5. The new type of car in use on the Grand line is proving anything but a success. When the car becomes crowded, everyone stands in front and the back part of the car often has few people in it, while the front part is so crowded that one cannot enter. The Olive line has a type of car of which only one was made. This type with the new improvements would make an ideal car. The company is making a mistake by buying the type of car used on the Grand line.

The receiver is constantly giving the public better service, and if the above suggestions are carried out, the service will be further improved.

U. R. PATRON.

Here's Your Bonnet.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

How happy I was to read among the letters one demanding the dismissal of married women from positions! If married women are to work for salaries, what will become of the single women, who must live? Why should any able-bodied man be so indulged in laziness or thriftlessness as to let his wife be a wage-earner to carry the load he should bear? Half of what he earns is better than nothing at all—the portion left the unmarried woman.

For the uplift of society, married women should not be wage-earners.

That all employers, school boards, railroad companies, etc., will "show madame the door" is the devout wish of

A SINGLE WOMAN.

High Cost of Regulation.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Allow me to register my opposition to House bill No. 279, State of Missouri, an act to prohibit the sale of all patent medicines and drugs in this State except on the prescription issued by a physician.

1. The patent medicines of today are of high medicinal value, are used only in minor ailments, are harmless and do not replace the physician. The manufacturers realize that they must produce an efficient remedy in order to procure repeated sales, without which advertising is useless.

2. The Federal Harrison narcotic act prohibits them from containing habit-forming drugs.

The amended Volstead act allows only enough alcohol for solution and preservation.

The pure food law compels the label to bear the contents of acetanilide, chloroform or anything which might be dangerous.

There are many other Federal and State regulations which protect the public from frauds and impurities.

3. The expense and trouble of going to a physician every time you wish to use a cathartic, mouth wash or liniment would make it impossible and impractical and would compel the poor people to go without medicines, resulting in great suffering and hardship and accomplishing no good.

For years medical authorities have taught and encouraged the use of preventative medicines against disease. The public could not use them for the above reasons, resulting in more sickness than before.

4. We are suffering more from the "high cost of regulation" at present than the "high cost of living."

HERBERT R. SPECKART.

Bring the Church to the Movies.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Instead of closing the picture shows on Sundays, it would be a better plan to continue the shows and have the four-minute men give short talks at each showhouse, thus talking religion to the people. Would also suggest that a familiar hymn be sung by the audience, and a better grade of pictures; that a contribution box be placed in the lobbies, the funds to be given to whatever denomination had charge of the speakers Sunday afternoons and evenings. ELIZABETH DETRICH.

GOV. HYDE'S FIRST ISSUE.

The issue of the Senate caucus combine controlled by Czar Lloyd is clearly presented to Gov. Hyde in the effort of the combine to dictate appointments as the price of the success of the Governor's legislative program.

This issue, as we said of the issue of legislative control, is the paramount issue in the State government. It overshadows every other question concerning the policy of the Hyde administration and the plans of the Governor because it menaces every administrative plan and policy. If the dictatorship of the combine prevails its will and not the will of the Governor and of a majority of the Legislature will be the supreme power. The success or failure of the administration hangs in the balance.

Gov. Hyde was elected by the people of Missouri to carry out his pledges of policy and to serve their highest interests in the appointment of competent and honest men to office, not to serve the will of Czar Lloyd and his associates. The legislators were elected to serve the will and interests of the people by passing sound, progressive measures, not to be the bond slaves of Czar Lloyd and his combine.

The invariable development of legislative combines is the use of the power of control for the benefit of special interests—personal spoils, personal and political machines or factions or corporate interests. However innocent or beneficial they may be made to appear in the beginning, they become a power for evil and corruption—an enemy to the public interest.

The time to beat a combine is in the beginning. To palter with it is dangerous; to yield to it is fatal. It grows in strength and viciousness with every proof of its power to gain its ends.

The duty of Gov. Hyde is plain. That is to beat the Lloyd combine, and beat it now, as a necessary step to the success of his administration in the service of the people.

The Governor has a powerful weapon. He can appeal to Republican legislators to save the Republican administration from dishonor and failure. He can appeal to the people against the combine control of the Legislature and its attempt to dictate to him. It requires only courage and intelligence to do this effectively. He can point out where the responsibility for the paralysis of the administration rests. Public opinion will be informed and will rapidly crystallize in support of good appointments, sound policies and progressive legislation.

We do not doubt that Gov. Hyde, if he applies courage and intelligence to the task, will win. If he should fail; if he should be defeated, it will be an honorable defeat. He will be no worse off than he would be under combine dictatorship, but he will have vindicated his honor and conscience and put the responsibility for failure where it belongs.

The rumored appointment of Mr. Bryan as successor to Federal Prohibition Commissioner Kramer would be just, if tardy, recognition. What other individual has done as much for the Republican party's success in the last 24 years as William Jennings Bryan?

UNEMPLOYMENT PERILS.

Inspection of the program of measures for the relief of unemployment adopted at a meeting of Chicago labor unions should serve to impress business men with the seriousness of the situation. This program includes the permanent shortening of the standard working day, the making of credit and banking facilities into public utilities and the inquisition of the books of employers by the State Labor Department to ascertain whether the closing of a plant "is a deliberate attempt against workers."

Recommendations of a wholesome nature also were not overlooked at the Chicago meeting. These included the opening of trade relations with Russia by the Federal authorities, to afford a greater field for American products of industry, activity on public works to provide employment and the organization of a comprehensive employment service by the Federal Government.

The practical difficulty in the way of Russian trade, of course, is the protection of credit and exchange facilities in dealing with an irresponsible and dishonorable Government. But if Government or organized capital can develop the practical machinery of such trade, certainly no academic fears of the Bolshevik contamination should be allowed to rule against a domestic unemployment situation which contains so much grief.

Organized capital could go farther in the matter of foreign trade and devise a means of goods exchange with Germany which would circumvent the present difficulties of currency exchange. Direct trade by barter would be practically impossible on the large scale that would be necessary to relieve the industrial situation. But a system of selling goods for German marks and using the marks to purchase German goods for resale in America, as suggested by Theodore Price in the World's Work, presents no difficulties that could not be surmounted by organized business with a larger purpose in view than the immediate profit.

American business should stop at nothing short of dishonor to resolve a situation intolerable not merely for the danger to American institutions with which it is fraught, but because it means suffering and calamity to people who ask nothing but a chance to make an honest living.

THE AUTOMOBILE.

Veteran attendants of local automobile shows inevitably compare the exhibits of the present demonstration—the fourteenth to be held in St. Louis—with those of earlier years and realize, in an impressionistic way, the development and attainments of this industry. They recall the motor car's curious and dubious infancy. They remember its awkward age. Emerged from the chrysalis, they see it now in the full flush of its beauty, accomplishments and utility.

It is all quite miraculous. The real telling of the story, however, demands figures. Those statistics, compiled by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, inform us that there are now 8,887,572 registered automobiles in the United States. Of that number 7,887,572 are passenger cars, 1,000,000 trucks. Last year we produced 1,906,000 passenger cars and 335,000 trucks, with a total wholesale value of $2,136,183,676. In this production 260 plants, scattered over 32 states, were engaged, 90 in passenger-car, 170 in truck manufacture. We turned out 32,400,000 tires.

Our exports in 1920 were 153,000 passenger cars, 27,000 trucks, for an aggregate value of $338,000,000. They went to 114 countries—to the latest frontier settlement, to the dim lands of antiquity. Tradition has made the automobile a symbol of luxury and dedicated it to pleasure. The facts smash that legend. It is stated that nine out of 10 passenger cars are used more or less for business, that 60 per cent of the total passenger car mileage is business traffic.

As regards ownership, the records show that 2,500,000 of the cars and trucks, or more than one-fourth, are owned by farmers. And the actuaries have calculated the annual labor-saving value of each truck to the farmer at $150, the saving in transport charges at $240.

Though the automobile has already swung into the prodigious realm of billions, and into serviceability beyond assessment, its future is all ahead of it. That future simply awaits good roads. Given good roads, the automobile will solve the most distressing of our economic and social problems. Our cumbersome distributive system, conducive as it is to profiteering and parasitism, cannot survive the combination of the gasoline engine and good roads.

WHAT SHALL WE DO?

The Council of the League of Nations, at its meeting Feb. 26, will prepare a plan for international disarmament which will be submitted to the conference Mr. Harding is expected to call shortly after his inauguration.

The plan outlined will limit military budgets for the next two years to present estimates, will submit a program for gradually reducing armament and for the reduction of budgets after 1923 and will recommend prohibition of export sales of arms.

Discussion may develop objections to the plan, which, after concessions and amendments, may not be acceptable to the United States. The Harding conference may fail. If it does, what shall we do? Clearly, the United States will have to do something. It is also clear that whatever is done will have to be done in co-operation with the other nations. We cannot, single-handed, effect international disarmament.

Events are moving fast and with great force towards the hour when the United States must either accept the work of the world's best thought for enduring peace or declare that such an arrangement is impracticable.

It is unthinkable that the United States could make the latter choice and thus betray the hopes of humanity.

HOW FAR?

The hardships inflicted by the Volstead act have hitherto been borne almost entirely by Americans, but an opinion by Acting Attorney-General Nebeker, just made public, plainly indicates that the citizens of other nations are now to feel its effect. This opinion is that shipments of liquor from one foreign country to another cannot lawfully pass through this country.

Truly, it appears that this statute is one offering almost unlimited possibilities of discovery. Scarcely a day passes without bringing to light some new thing which it prohibits.

But one is constrained to wonder what the foreign countries themselves may have to say in the matter. It would appear that this ruling brings the law into conflict with our existing treaty obligations to our neighbors. Suppose they decide to retaliate? Why might not France or Belgium prohibit the transport of any sort of American goods to Germany via French or Belgian soil? Where will the thing end? Shall we go to war under "Pussyfoot's" command?

Written for the POST-DISPATCH by Clark McAdams

DUSK IN JANUARY.

DIMLY through this January mist
We see the solemn trees.
No little breeze,
Tonight, steals through the boughs, entreating to be kissed.
And up from the lagoon,
(More still and cold than death),
There comes no languorous tune;
And when you speak, your breath
Is frozen, ere I hear what you have said.
——Let us go down the hill.
Up here, it seems, the dead
Are all too near. Their shrill,
Insistent voices mock the bygone hours.
They shudder in the wind,
Point to the withered flowers,
And sob, "O, blind, blind, blind!
Why seek ye out this tomb?
Know ye some potent art
That yet may bring the bloom
Back to a bitter heart, a bitter, faded heart?"

ANTHOLOGY OF ANOTHER NEWSPAPER.

Humor.

One recently wrote to the Post-Dispatch asking how he might become an Humorist. The Post-Dispatch's "Question and Answer" editor—who I imagine is a sadly harried individual—gave this brother scant comfort in making reply. He told him that Humorists were born—not made. What the Post-Dispatch failed to do—the Bazoo will, in all modesty, attempt to accomplish.

Paper is high and space is priceless, so I must be as brief as possible. But anyone following the simple methods set forth in this article can become, in a measure, a successful humorist.

It is the manifest purpose of joke writers to make people laugh—this much is plain. One difficulty that arises here is: that which will appear funny to one person, will cause another to draw a long face and shake a doleful head. It is, therefore, plain that the success of any joke depends not so much how it is told as to whom it is told. A joke directed against the English would get more applause from a German audience than if it were told in England. So be circumspect in choosing your audience before springing a funny story or a joke.

It is most easy, and sometimes natural, to make grave mistakes along these lines. For example: I once knew a sprightly young man who aspired to become a jokesmith. He labored long hours trying to discover some new joke. He sought to imagine hitherto undiscovered funny situations. At last one bright, sunshiny day, all unheralded, came the great thought—he found a joke. He dropped all other work he had in hand; and labored far into the night searching his soul for beautiful words wherewith to clothe his idea, so that it might bid the better for the world's approval. As he hung from his favorite strap on the last owl-car homeward that night, he had another brilliant thought: he would spring this new joke—this child of his brain—on his wife. She should be the first to hear—and appreciate his work.

As this young man—so full of joy, so sprightly humorous—let himself into the hall of his domicile he heard a rustle of feminine garments; saw a nebulus shape. And without questioning the identity of the person before him began to speak his little lines. "M' dear," he said, "I've got it at last. At last I have discovered a joke that will make me famous for all time. Listen; you shall be the judge: 'Why was Adam the happiest man on Earth?' Here he fetched a few giggles (alas they were his last.) 'Because he had no mother-in-law.'"

This joyous young thing, because he did not know his audience, now sleeps where little birds roost over his lowly grave. Where the horned owl sits in the lonely hours of the night and yells derisively: "Who, who are you?"

And by some unkind trick of an unkind fate, the board, having a simple pointing hand and the words "gone home," that marked the head of his tomb, has been turned upside down.

The nebulus shape that he saw in the hall was not that of his wife—it was that of his wife's nearest ancestor.

In another article which directly follows this one I will go further into this matter and fully explain how common or garden jokes are made.

THE SIMPLER LIFE.

From the St. Joseph News-Press.

ABOUT 15 years ago much was being said about "the simple life." Magazines and books were colored with this pleasant and wholesome gospel. Theodore Roosevelt preached it insistently. Multitudes of people were interested by it, though many of those who believed in it did not practice it. Many simple life lectures were applauded in parlors fitted out with the most refined elaboration of the twentieth century. The war brought on changes that forced many people toward simpler lives in spite of themselves. Multitudes of families that used to employ servants became unable to find them. They had to simplify. Women who were forced to do their own housework would not fuss over trifles. Now they see that their old habits involved too much labor for no result. They think of all the complicated system of table furniture, all the multiplicity of dishes and table covers and lacy things of all descriptions considered necessary for the proper serving of a simple meal. When they had to do their own dishwashing, they discovered that a lot of this elaborate machinery could be scrapped. And this change of habits affects millions of other women who have never kept servants at all. Many of these used to think they must imitate the ways of wealthy people. A small minority of people of large means still live in the old elaborate way. Many of them feel the cost of service, and are disposed to eliminate labor so far as they can. In truth, the world had been paying too much attention to ceremonies, and not enough to real living and vital things of community development. Cutting out needless formalism in housekeeping sets free time for useful service.

STATE DIVISION PLAN.

From the Portland Oregonian.

SUCH is the confidence of "Holly Leaves," published in the Hollywood district of Los Angeles, in the effect of California sunshine that it tries to hatch out a brood of new states in that benign climate. In order that "the coast have its full strength in the United States Senate" in dealing with the Japanese question, it proposed that California be divided into three states, and Oregon and Washington into two each, with the Cascade Mountains as the dividing line. Thus three states with six Senators would become seven states with 14 Senators. The difficulty in the way of this scheme is that such things are not done. There is but one case of division of a state, if we exclude separation of Vermont from New York, which was a subject of controversy during the Revolutionary War and was completed by agreement with New York in October, 1790, the State being admitted to the Union in 1791. That one case was West Virginia, which declared its independence of Virginia when that State seceded in 1861 and was formally admitted to the Union in 1863, though Senators were admitted to the United States Senate in 1861. The act admitting Texas permits its division into four states, but every Texan scouts the idea of division. Dakota was divided into two states, but it was only a territory and Congress had absolute power. There may be good reasons for annexing such diminutive commonwealths as Rhode Island and Delaware to adjoining states, but it might not be safe to suggest such action to their inhabitants. Division of states is impracticable, because it would require the consent of the states concerned and a majority in Congress, including states which naturally would oppose the plan. Oregon and Washington have no desire for division, and they would not consent to be overshadowed by three Californias. They would have the hearty support of many other states, which would not be willing to increase the power of any one State.

HOUSE COMMITTEE SANCTIONS BILL FOR MORE JUDGES

Senate Committee Has Also About Agreed to Report It Favorably, but Would Cut Additions to Two.

GRIMM GIVES HIS VIEWS ON MEASURE

Says More Could Be Used to Advantage, but Asserts Shortage Did Not Cause Delay in Trials.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 10.—The House Judiciary Committee last night voted to report out favorably the bill to give St. Louis four additional Circuit Judges. The Senate committee has about agreed to report the bill favorably, but cut the additions to two.

Grimm Says Shortage of Judges Did Not Cause Congestion.

Circuit Judge J. Hugo Grimm, who presides in Court No. 1, known as the Assignment Division, today gave a Post-Dispatch reporter his views on the bill, pending in the Legislature, which provides for four additional Judges of the Circuit Court. There are now 14 Judges, 11 of whom are in civil and three in the criminal divisions. The pending bill is being opposed by the city Board of Estimate and Apportionment, on the ground of expense, the cost to the city being estimated at $110,000 for the first year and $90,000 a year thereafter.

Judge Grimm said that two additional Judges, possibly three, could be employed to advantage in the jury divisions of the civil courts, where the Judges are now worked to the limit. But he said it was not true that any shortage of Judges has caused delay in the disposition of cases.

He said that any congestion of cases which may have occurred had been due, not to a lack of Judges, but to delay of lawyers in preparing cases for trial. With the present number of Judges, he declared, there is no reason why cases should not be tried by a jury within six weeks after the beginning of the term at which the defendant is required to make answer. This means, in most cases, about eight weeks after the filing of the suit. A case may be ready for trial, so far as the court is concerned, and may be permitted to remain unlisted for trial by the counsel, for a year or more, Judge Grimm said.

Of the 11 civil courts, there are three which try equity or non-jury cases, seven which try jury cases and one assignment court.

8303 Civil Suits in 1920.

Judge Grimm said the total number of civil suits in 1915, when two new Judges were added, was 4715, and in 1920 the total was 8303, an increase of 76 per cent. "While this apparently is a large increase," he explained, "we should not lose sight of the fact that during the past year there were hundreds of suits brought upon tax bills growing out of the work done in constructing the Mill Creek sewer, which swelled the amount of suits very decidedly. Therefore, last year could not be considered quite normal."

There were pending, at the beginning of 1921,, 7322 cases in the assignment court, the majority of which will be assigned to jury divisions for trial. In some cases juries will be waived, and these will be sent to the nonjury divisions. In the three equity divisions there were pending Jan. 1, 1698 cases, which dockets since have been reduced. Most of the cases in equity courts are divorce petitions, of which a large percentage are default cases, requiring but a short time for trial, Judge Grimm said.

Many Cases Never Come to Trial.

In regard to the 7322 cases in the Assignment Court, Judge Grimm pointed out that many of them will be disposed of in that court without trial, or without a contest. Last year 3507 cases were disposed of in that manner, and about 500 were assigned to the seven jury divisions, where they were disposed of either by trial or settlement after the case was called for trial. "So far as the equity divisions are concerned," said Judge Grimm, "I believe that they can easily take care of the business without any more help. Indeed, I have thought that two Judges could do the work there, and that it would be wise to convert the third equity division into a jury division. In the equity divisions there is no delay about getting cases tried. I sometimes think that many divorce cases are set for trial with a haste that is not altogether becoming.

LINCOLN HOUSING TRUST DEFENDED AND ATTACKED AT HEATED LEGISLATIVE HEARING

Men Identified With Concern Point to Approval Elsewhere and Satisfied Investors—Committee Votes to Kill Repeal Bill.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 10.—Representatives of many of the building and loan associations of the State appeared before the Senate Judiciary and the House Private Corporations committees in joint session last night to advocate favorable action on the McCullough bill to repeal the law under which the Lincoln Housing Trust of St. Louis is operating, representatives of that concern also appearing to oppose the bill. The hearing lasted three hours and was heated at times, the lie being passed indirectly more than once.

The House Committee this morning decideed unanimously, according to Chairman Caulfield of St. Louis, to kill the McCullough bill.

Most of the speakers who desire the bill passed indicated that the fight of the Missouri League of Building and Loan Associations is not specifically against the Lincoln Housing Trust, but against the type of concerns which may be permitted under the existing law, which does not require certain things that the building and loan interests regard as essential, the arguments bringing out the points objected to. Almost the entire argument, however, centered around operations of the Lincoln Housing Trust.

Edward W. Foristel, president of the Board of Trustees of the Lincoln Housing Trust; James C. Jones and Lon Hocker, two members of the law firm which is counsel for the Lincoln Housing Trust, and J. E. Jones, fiscal agent, spoke in behalf of the St. Louis concern, while Ben G. Brinkman of the Lafayette-South Side Bank, one of the trustees of the Housing Trust, also was present.

Senator McCullough Speaks.

State Senator McCullough, author of the bill under discussion, was the opening speaker, explaining that the building and loan associations objected to the present law for the reason that they do not wish to be classed with a type of association which they regard as unsound. He said that the Missouri League of Building and Loan Associations is actively supporting the bill to repeal the existing law.

McCullough said that the declaration of trust under which the Lincoln Housing Trust is operating provides for the issuance of certificates to its customers, men who desire money to pay for homes or to pay incumbrances on residences or farms. The declaration of trust, he said, creates a set of trustees from whom the officers are selected, and also creates a fiscal agency which handles the money and property of the Housing Trust.

Under the declaration of trust, it further is provided, ..cCullough said, that certificates are issued, which are paid for at the rate of $7.50 a month for a thousand dollars, and that the first four monthly payments, or $30 a thousand, is set aside on each certificate to care for the overhead expense of the concern, and that 50 cents a month thereafter is deducted from payments, for the same purpose, the remainder going into the trust fund to provide the operating capital. This means, McCullough said, that at the end of 120 months, $88 on every thousand-dollar certificate has been set aside for expenses. Loans of the concern are made at 4 per cent, he added.

St. Louis Woman Witness.

Mrs. Augusta Dickman of 3704 Ohio avenue, St. Louis, who said that she is employed by the Bemis Bros. Bag Co., appeared as a witness for the advocates of the repeal measure, declaring that in March of last year a "Mr. Olston," who claimed to be a salesman for the Lincoln Housing Trust, sold her a certificate in the Housing Trust, she paying $11.25 down. She said she told him she didn't want a loan, and was told that she could get her money any time she wanted it.

She said that she paid into the Housing Trust a total of $90, plus some interest and fines for delay in paying some of the installments, and that finally, after a number of attempts, the first one made during the second month, she got back $42.

Representatives of the Housing Trust said they knew nothing of that specific instance, but called attention to the fact that the $30 set aside to expenses comes out of the first four payments, and is forfeited, under the contract of the certificate purchaser, by buyers who let their certificates lapse. They said that had Mrs. Dickman been willing to let them hold her certificate until they could find a purchaser for it, keeping up the premiums during that period, they would have been able to return to her the entire amount, probably with a small premium.

Airoy S. Phillips, former State Senator, who appeared as an attorney for the League of Building and Loan Associations, charged that the Lincoln Housing Trust will not finance out, for the reason that certificate holders, once they become eligible for loans and take advantage of that privilege, cease to have money in the trust fund during the life of the loan, which they pay back at the same rate on which they paid in on their certificates, plus interest at 4 per cent.

He called attention to the fact that the trustees invest no money and that no capital is invested, all operations being based on the contributions of certificate purchasers. He charged that in every "perfect series" of 1000 certificates, the last 30 purchasers will not get loans, and that it will take as high as 15 years for the late certificate holders to get loans.

Says Document Is Complicated.

Phillips said that the certificate of the housing trust is a complicated document, drawn by a keen lawyer, which only a keen lawyer will understand, but that salesmen take them into the "highways and byways" and sell them to persons who cannot understand them, but who want loans, and who do not realize that some of them will have to wait years before they get them.

"Who got the early numbers?" Phillips inquired. "The men on the inside. The Mayor got No. 1, given to him for advertising purposes, ahead of everybody else."

Phillips was interrupted in the course of his remarks by J. E. Jones, fiscal agent of the Housing Trust, who declared that he was thoroughly familiar with the business and that "everything Phillips has said for the last 30 minutes is false."

Phillips said that he was convinced that the men operating the Housing Trust were doing so in good faith and admitted that the basis of reasoning which they and their actuaries and other experts have followed was mathematically correct, but declared they had overlooked another line of development. He declared that the history of similar concerns in other States had been failures, even though the moving spirits had been men in some instances high minded, and fascinated with the belief that their plan was perfect.

Lee B. Ewing of Nevada, who said that he was counsel for a building and loan association, declared that "such concerns have failed in the past but they seek to associate themselves with building and loan associations without the safeguards thrown around those others, which are required to deposit with their State Treasurer funds to guarantee fulfillment of their contracts."

He said that his association does business on an overhead of three-fourths of 1 per cent, and that loan contracts, carried to maturity, net a little less than 6 per cent to investors.

One Building and Loan Failure.

Ewing declared, in response to questions, that there had been only one building and loan failure in Missouri in the last six years, an instance in Christian County where, he said, the secretary of the association had robbed it, but that the State Supervisor of building and loan associations, after suing on the bonds, had been able to repay investors 97½ cents on the dollar.

A. T. Dumm of Jefferson City, who said that he represented seven building and loan associations, said that these associations do business on an overhead of between 1½ per cent, and that through them had been erected 60 per cent of the residences in Jefferson City, with a total investment of more than $2,000,000.

He called on the secretary of one of the Jefferson City associations to testify that an investor in that association, who paid in $95, could withdraw $90 if he chose to let his contract lapse.

Former State Senator Ely of Kennett said that an agent of the Lincoln Housing Trust had collected $90 each from a number of citizens of that vicinity, naming three, and then had disappeared, none of the three yet having received their money back. Representative of the Housing Trust said an agent operating in that section of the State had "gone bad" and had been discharged, but that all claims were being settled as fast as possible and that all would be taken care of.

R. T. Wood, president of the Missouri Federation of Labor, spoke in behalf of the repeal of the existing law, declaring that the savings of workers must be safeguarded in the interest of Americanism which could be best served only when workers were able to own their homes.

James C. Jones Heard.

James C. Jones, one of the attorneys for the Housing Trust, declared that he would be the last man to associate himself with anything which was not absolutely honest and fair, and stated that no legislative enactment would be necessary to terminate operations of the concern if it were shown that there is anything wrong with it, but that it would be voluntarily dissolved under those circumstances.

Jones declared that the plan of the Housing Trust had been submitted to Mr. Sellman, actuary for the International Life Insurance Co.; to Julian C. Harvey, a consulting actuary;

HARDING ADVICE AGAINST REDUCING NAVY PREVAILING

Senate Committee Upholds His Opinion by Recommending That Construction of Ships Continue.

HELD U. S. NAVY MUST EQUAL ANY OTHER

President-Elect and Elihu Root Urged Plan of Compelling Disarmament by Building Up Power.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1921.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The influence of President-elect Harding and Elihu Root, both of whom advised Republican leaders in Congress that it would be unwise to commit America for the present to a reduction of navy armament, finaly has prevailed. And the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs has recommended that construction on ships already authorized be continued until an international disarmament agreement makes it safe to do otherwise.

About the time that Senator Borah began his campaign for a three-party agreement whereby Japan, the United States and Great Britain would agree to reduce naval armament, the movement in Congress to cut down naval appropriations on ships already under construction began to grow to an alarming extent. One day a Republican member of Congress happened to be calling on Secretary Daniels at the Navy Department.

"I'm going to Marion tomorrow," said the Republican member with a smile; "any message to Senator Harding?"

"Danger of Losing Navy."

"Yes," replied Daniels with a twinkle in his eye, "tell Harding to look out or he won't have any navy by the time he's inaugurated—the fellows on the hill are liable to take it away from him before he gets a chance to negotiate for disarmament."

Several days later the same view was brought to President-elect Harding from other quarters. The plan of having Elihu Root write a letter to members of the House Committee on Naval Affairs was adopted in order to present action in the House that might embarrass Mr. Harding when he took office. Similarly conferences with Senate leaders ensued, and Mr. Harding made it plain that it would be unwise for the United States to take the initiative in disarmament when there was no assurance concerning the attitude of other Powers, and that it would be particularly embarrassing if the United States scrapped her navy and then sat down to the table with the other Powers in an attempt to induce them to do likewise.

Mr. Harding took the view that the United States would have much more influence at a disarmament conference not only if she continued to build the ships which had already been authorized, but if she showed the world that she would continue to expand her navy unless an absolute agreement were entered into relieving the peoples of the world of the burdens of taxation which a naval building race would entail.

Part of Republican Policy.

The action of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee in contending that the United States must have a navy "at least equal to that of any other Power," is not a jingoistic observation nor the beginning of any navalistic ambitions aimed at Great Britain or any other Power. It is, on the other hand, part of the Republican policy of compelling disarmament by building up to the naval strength of any other Power so that the example of the United States and Great Britain in agreeing jointly to reduce armaments may be followed by Powers of lesser naval strength.

Having succeeded in suspending for the present the movement in Congress to crutail building appropriations, it is to be expected that naval expenditures of other kinds will be sharply pruned. Although Mr. Borah and others probably will not consent to be silent on the disarmament proposals, the chance of action by the present Congress has passed and the whole problem has been left for the next President of the United States, who really wanted it handled that way so he might have a powerful lever in his first negotiations on a foreign policy.

Great Britain, aware of Mr. Harding's views, promptly called Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador here, for a conference abroad with the Prime Minister and the British Cabinet.

BRITISH RAIL MEN THREATEN STRIKE OVER IRISH KILLINGS

Resolution Passed for Walkout Unless Government Guarantees Protection for Union Men in Ireland.

DUBLIN, Feb. 10.

CONSCRIPTION of civil guards to protect the crown forces is proceeding hand in hand throughout Ireland's martial law area with the operation of forced labor for military purposes. The latter process consists of commandeering residents of various districts and compelling them to repair roads where trenches have been dug by Sinn Feiners to impede the progress of crown forces.

There is little discrimination displayed in selecting persons for this work. At Listlowel, 100, including merchants and professional men, were rounded up and marched to various country roads, where they were compelled to make repairs where trenching had been done. J. M. Galvin, a hotel proprietor, complained of heart trouble, and while being marched home after his work was completed fell dead.

In the Kilrush district, Patrick Falvey, a farmer's son, while engaged in filling a trench in the road near his home, was fired on by civilians, according to crown reports, and died of his wounds.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Lloyd George, the Prime Minister, today informed the Locomotive Engineers' and Firemen's Union that its implied threat to bring on a general strike in Great Britain, Feb. 15, over the shooting of railwaymen at Mallow, Ireland, Jan. 31, would not influence the Government in considering the union's demand for an investigation.

Lloyd George announced to Secretary Bromley of the union that it was the Government's intention of sending the union resolution to Ireland for informative purposes.

The Premier added, however, that no threat of a national strike could be permitted to influence the action of the Government on a matter of the administration of the law."

"The Government," he continued, "will consider the question purely on its merit, without reference to these improper threats."

At a meeting of the union executive committee at Leeds yesterday, a resolution was adopted that unless the Government granted an inquiry into the Mallow affair by Feb. 15 and gave guarantees for the safety of the men of the union, a general strike would be called.

J. Bromley, secretary of the union, in an interview, declared that there was no bluff about the ultimatum. They meant to see the thing through.

"We are not going to have our members murdered in cold blood without a proper inquiry," he said, "and will insist that when our men are on duty in the curfew hours they shall have safety and shall not be dragged off and shot like dogs, without charge or trial."

Two Men Taken From Homes in Ireland and Slain.

By the Associated Press.

BELFAST, Feb. 10.—Thomas Halpin, a member of the Drogheda Corporation, and John Moran, a printer, were found dead yesterday morning in Drogheda. They had been shot. After midnight a party of armed men called at the homes of the victims and escorted them, half dressed, to the place where they were killed. The bodies were found, one lying across the other, at daylight near the River Boyne.

Sinn Feiners Occupy Position Near Police Quarters.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—One hundred Sinn Feiners entered Skibbereen last night and occupied a position near the police and military quarters, says a Central News dispatch from Skibbereen. The Sinn Feiners cleared pedestrians from the streets and then fired several volleys. The few policemen on duty paid no attention and the Sinn Feiners withdrew declaring their intention of returning tonight. Crown military forces arrived soon after their withdrawal.

Justice of Peace Slain in County Cork; Warning Tag on Body.

CORK, Feb. 10.—The body of Alfred Reilly, Justice of the Peace and managing director of a bakery and confectionery firm, was found last night near his home at Fouglas, County Cork. He had been shot. Attached to the body was a card bearing the inscription: "Spy by order of the Irish Republican army! Take warning!"

How Japan Used the Allied Occupation of Siberia to Assure Her Ascendancy There

By Studied Efforts, Says Naval Intelligence Officer, She Left the Impression With the Russian People That Her Domination Was Approved by the Powers.

For more than two years Frank V. Martinek of Chicago served as intelligence officer of the Asiatic fleet of the United States navy, attaining the rank of lieutenant and received the Distinguished Service cross. He made investigations especially in the Orient, although his work took him, at one time or another, into 28 different countries. He has reported fully to the authorities at Washington and has received the commendation of his superiors. Now, released from active duty, Lieut. Martinek presents important revelations of the activity of Japan in the Far East and facts—sustained, he says, by records on file in Washington—of vital interest in view of the present uneasy discussion of the relations between the United States and the Nipponese empire. The first article by Lieut. Martinek is here published.

BY FRANK V. MARTINEK.

With the prospect of a complete investigation by Congress of conditions surrounding the killing on Jan. 8 last at Vladivostok of Lieut. Warren H. Langdon, chief engineer of the U. S. S. Albany, by a Japanese army sentry, there has come virtually a demand for a "showdown" in Siberian activities of Japan and of the United States. Such an investigation may bring to a culmination the long simmering argument between the United States and Japan.

Jingoists in this country, members of the controlling militarist party of Japan, and scions of the old monarchistic families in Central Europe, have recently been keeping astir the public press of their respective countries with talk of war between the United States and Japan. Prominent American publicists have asserted that war is inevitable. The same thing is heard frequently in Japan. On the other hand there are many defenders of Nippon in this country, men who assert that a war is impossible. Representatives of the peace element in Japan are trying to combat the jingo efforts of the war party in their own country. In England, Germany, France, Italy, Russia and in other countries the topic is one of somewhat general discussion. In our own country there may be called soon an international congress to discuss a naval holiday. The Senate has already taken action looking toward limitation of the army to 175,000 men. Notes are being exchanged with Japan at the same time in connection with the Langdon incident.

Three Indications of War Preparations.

There are three things that may be taken to indicate a nation's preparation for war. First, there is the active development of a war machine. Second, there is the building up of material reserves which she cannot find in her own territory. Third, there is the occupation of strategic points not under her dominion. In later articles I shall touch upon these points.

Japan asserts that she is the logical protector of the Pacific and of the Orient. With the great stores of raw materials in Eastern Siberia, Kamchatka and Sagnalien under her control, with the great man-power of China's 400,000,000 population, with her army, navy, air and submarine forces under supervision of trained European experts, the question might well be asked as to what is Japan's intention.

Had Washington acceded to a request by Brigadier-General William S. Graves in 1918 for permission to send American troops west of Baikal for the purpose of backing up with their moral support the Czecho-Slovak and Russian armies which were engaged in driving back the Bolshevik reds, a different story of Bolshevism and world unrest from soviet causes might be written today. That request was denied. But those of us who were on the scene could not understand the reason, and the commanders were given no reason. Possibly Washington had a very logical reason for that policy, but the action—or rather the lack of action—appealed to us on the front, in the middle of things, as illogical.

At any rate, the American army in Siberia was employed, unwittingly enough, by Japan in furthering her aim of Siberian domination. Although American army, navy and State Department officials protested against many open and flagrant actions by Japan which were construed by them as violation of international usages, the mere fact that American troops were there served to give a semblance of this aid, however unwilling.

Appeal by President Masaryk.

The appeal by President Thomas G. Masaryk of Czecho-Slovakia for aid by the allied armies in strengthening the Czech and Russian lines, was responsible in the first place for the sending of allied troops to Siberia. Incidentally, President Masaryk's request to the Navy Department was responsible for my assignment to the post of fleet intelligence officer with the United States forces in Eastern Siberia.

I have notes in my diary of a memorandum by President Masaryk, which says, in part:

"The declaration of the third of August (1918) binds the allies and the United States to a swift aid to Russia and our army (Czech); after this declaration it is not only the fate of our army, but the moral, political and military good name of the United States and the allies that is at stake. The Austrians and the Germans must not win in Russia; an allied defeat there would have also an unfavorable influence upon the western (French) front, and again, an allied victory in Russia will strengthen the western front. This is the situation today. Before the declaration of the third of August some form of negotiation with the Moscow Government could have been contemplated; after the declaration this becomes impossible, more so, that the Bolsheviks, led by Austrians and Germans, declared a holy war against the allies, and especially against the Czecho-Slovak army. That makes all negotiations with the enemy impossible."

The memorandum also cited the urgent need for this proposed relief action in Russia, spoke of the presence of Germans and Austrians in Russia and the infiltration of released prisoners, and told how the Czech armies, reinforced by the Russians and backed by the allies, including Japan and the United States, could not only hold the Bolsheviks from Eastern Siberia, but could defeat them.

American Troops Arrive.

On Aug. 14, 1918, 8000 men, including the Twenty-seventh and Thirty-first Infantry Regiments under Brigadier-General William S. Graves, arrived in Vladivostok from Manila. There, or in the close proximity of Vladivostok, remained the Americans. The American expeditionary forces' action in Siberia has therefore been called a fiasco, because of the failure of the United States and the allies to arrive at a definite policy, because the army did not go to back up the Czechs as originally proposed, and because the United States forces did back up the Kolchak forces. It had been stated that American forces would not interfere with Russian internal affairs, but in this recognition and support of Kolchak America did interfere, inasmuch as Kolchak was not in accord with all of the Russian people.

It was agreed that Japan should send 8000 men at least, the other countries near that number. The United States landed 8000 men, Great Britain landed 8000, Canada sent 3000. China sent between 6000 and 7000, and Japan sent 70,000. Gen. Otani was in command of the Japanese, and, because of seniority, became Commander in Chief of the allied forces. This supreme command was never recognized by the Americans, except as a matter of courtesy.

Czech Forces Lose Morale.

The Bolshevik army confronting the Czechs was by no means the highly organized machine it became later. The Czechs had the upper hand on a formidable front east of the bridgehead on the Volga. Daily the Czechs were awaiting the coming of the American and allied troops. Gen. Graves, after conferring with Admiral Austin Knight, Commander in Chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, asked permission to extend this moral support that was expected, but the permission never was granted. The Czech morale and faith diminished. In November of 1918, the Kolchak Government was formed, and in January, 1919, Kolchak troops took over the Czech front.

Would Dominate Eastern Siberia.

Japan's desire has been since 1908 to dominate Eastern Siberia.

* * * After Gen. Dietrichs, the Russian commander of the Czech vanguard, had routed the Bolsheviki at Nikolsk and had joined his command with that of Gen. Galda (Czech commander) at Irkutsk, who had in turn routed the Bolsheviks in the Transbaikal sector, Bolshevism was dead as far as material successes in Eastern Siberia were concerned. The Czechs then began their evacuation.

Then began the Japanese dual crusade of exploiting Siberia for her resources through support of the three military-commercial Russian agents, Semenoff Kalmikoff and Rozanoff, plus her actions in working with the Kolchak conscription act, which called for pressing of all Russian males of war physique, between the ages of 17 and 45 years, into the Kolchak armies. This Japanese aggression took the form of Japanese and Kolchak representatives going into the villages to try to force the peaceable peasants into the armies, resulting in rioting, killing, pillage, etc. The peasants took to the hills, armed themselves to the teeth, formed partisan detachments and from that time onward gave the Americans and Japanese much concern. These partisans were not Bolsheviks at heart. Before the Japanese use of the Kolchak conscription act they were anti-Bolshevik. But, sore at heart obstructed in their peaceful desires, they became the prey of real Bolshevik agents, who organized them into armed Bolshevik parties. More than 100 American soldiers were sacrificed to this policy in the Suchan and Skotovo districts, where they were attacked by these former peasants—and the Americans had been dispatched to Siberia to act as a moral support of the Czechs who were fighting the real reds several thousand miles away!

Japanese abuse was not confined to these peasants but was extended to the Americans as well, and it is of these atrocities and indignities committed by Japanese troops against Americans that I want to write in an early article in this series. The Japanese in all of this time made no effort to send troops west of Baikal, but remained in Eastern Siberia for purposes of exploitation as I shall also show in another article.

HARDING BACK AT WORK AFTER THREE WEEKS' VACATION

President-Elect Wading Through Vast Accumulation of Correspondence and Miscellaneous Business.

OPENS OFFICES IN ST. AUGUSTINE HOTEL

Definite Selections Yet to Be Made for Virtually All of the Cabinet Positions, It Is Stated.

By the Associated Press.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 10.—Back at work today after a three weeks' vacation, President-elect Harding waded into a vast accumulation of correspondence and other miscellaneous business that must be cleared away before he can give serious thought to final decisions on the personnel of his Cabinet, and other major problems.

Mr. Harding returned to St. Augustine last night from his house-boat cruise along the Florida coast, and established offices in St. Augustone Hotel, which will be his home until he leaves for Washington to be inaugurated.

Definite selections are yet to be made for virtually all of the 10 Cabinet positions and in regard to most of them one guess seems as good as another.

Appointments Regarded Certain.

The Cabinet appointments which Mr. Harding's close friends believe to be virtually determined are confined to the portfolios of State, Justice, Postoffice and Agriculture. Charles Evans Hughes of New York, for Secretary of State; Harry M. Daugherty of Ohio, for Attorney-General; Will H. Hays of Indiana, for Post-master-General; Henry Wallace of Iowa, for Secretary of Agriculture, are selections which those in position to know now regard as practically certain.

Yet even in respect to these it is realized that there may be many a slip between the first of February and the fourth of March.

For the Secretaryship of War, several men still are mentioned. Prominent among them is John W. Weeks of Massachusetts, whose name also is linked repeatedly with the Navy and Treasury portfolios.

Frank O. Lowden of Illinois is another mentioned as a possibility for the Secretaryship of the Navy, and the friends of Andrew W. Mellon of Pennsylvania still are urging his qualifications to be Secretary of the Treasury.

Senator A. B. Fall of New Mexico is believed to be under serious consideration for Secretary of Interior, and whether he goes into the place it is understood to depend largely on his own inclination. For the same place John Hays Hammond is being strongly recommended.

Labor Post Undecided.

It is in regard to the secretaryships of labor and commerce that Mr. Harding's mind is believed to be farthest from a decision. The records and qualifications of several men are said to be under investigation in connection with the labor portfolio, one of the latest to receive prominent support being J. A. Davis of Pittsburg, Pa., formerly a steel worker, and now a banker. The place at the head of the Commerce Department is expected to be the last of all to be filled, and it may fall to one now mentioned for a post ranking nearer the top of the list.

Although his vacation is at an end, Mr. Harding will take a plentiful share of outdoor exercise during his stay in St. Augustine, and he began today by allotting the afternoon to golf.

Land Grant to Christian Community.

JERUSALEM, Feb. 10.—The Christian community of Bethlehem has been presented by the Government with a free grant of 6200 acres of land, according to an announcement made public here this week.

LINCOLN HOUSING TRUST DEFENDED AND ATTACKED AT HEARING IN CAPITAL

Mr. Sheppard, actuary for the Missouri State Life Insurance Co., and to Mr. Good, actuary for the State Insurance Department, and that all had verified it and had stated that it was mathematically perfect and would finance out.

Jones said that he had drawn up the declaration of trust and certificate, which was approved by Building and Loan Supervisor Lee, bonds of $50,000 each for the trustees and of $25,000 for the fiscal agent being provided for.

The law under which the Lincoln Housing Trust is operating was enacted by the Legislature in 1919, Jones said, and after all of the preliminaries had been compiled with, the concern began to solicit business, but had not gone far before it began to meet attacks, "not in the open, but an attack prepared by Mr. Phillips at the instance of the building and loan associations. I have a copy of a statement circulated surreptitiously, which copy was obtained surreptitiously, that was designed to injure the business of the Lincoln Housing Trust."

Suggestion for Meeting.

In February last, Jones said, a letter was written to Supervisor Lee by officers of the Lincoln Trust, suggesting a meeting of the officials of building and loan association officials and Lincoln Housing Trust officials to explain the system of the Housing Trust to a committee of three actuaries, one representing the State, one the building and loan men and one the Housing Trust, who were to pass on the plan. The building and loan men had not to this day accepted the suggestion, Jones said.

A license to the Lincoln Housing Trust to operate in Michigan and a certificate from the securities board of that State comprising the Governor, State Treasurer and Attorney-General, approving it, were exhibited by Jones to the committees.

Jones explained that patrons of the housing trust are of two classes, investors and borrowers, the certificate purchaser continuing to be an investor until his loan is ready and he becomes a borrower. Certificate holders receive loans in the order in which they became investors, Jones said, and when they get their loans they are credited with what they have paid in, less the previously explained charge for expense, and the certificates are closed out. Jones said that investors will receive their proportionate share of all profits on trust funds up to 50 per cent of the value of their certificates, though it it not claimed they will earn that much. Jones explained that investors need not take their loans, but are given the privilege of passing or selling their loans.

Investors Who Are Satisfied.

He read a number of letters from satisfied investors who had conducted their investments in the Housing Trust at a profit, one of them being from Mrs. Rosa Black of 822 North High street, who said she had made a profit of $1500 on a sale of her $10,000 loan right.

Jones said that the attorneys and trustees of the Housing Trust never have drawn a cent of salary, but have allowed the money set aside for them to remain in the trust fund.

J. E. Jones, the fiscal agent of the concern, said that it has on file in the St. Louis office applications for $2,000,000 worth of loans, on which the applicants are willing to pay $200 a thousand. He said that the Housing Trust sells, not a savings certificate, but an investment certificate, and declared that the 3-percent overhead on which the concern is operating is the lowest underwriting expense of any securities in the United States. He said that the 2451 certificate holders of the Housing Trust at present represent $6,324,000 of business.

He charged that the criticisms which have been circulated about the concern are the 'most damnable, malicious literature ever circulated against any institution, and would have put any bank against which it was directed out of business."

"You either have before you one of the biggest things financially in the United States, or one of the biggest frauds," he told the committees, "and if you show us anything wrong about it, we will close it up."

Foristel Defends System.

Edward W. Foristel told how he had deliberated four months over the question of entering the Housing Trust, until actuaries and reputable attorneys had assured him that it was all right. He said that former Secretary of State Cornelius Roach, now head of a bank in Kansas City, had done likewise before becoming one of the trustees recently.

Foristel said that the system of the Housing Trust is both thief-proof and fool-proof through its system of bonds and that not a cent of its funds can be drawn except over the signature of himself and Charles Hertenstein, secretary, and that he knew he would not sign anything which was not all right. He declared that there never can be a loss, as the fiscal agency has to guarantee every loan. Monthly reports are made to the building and loan department, he said, covering every dollar received.

Foristel declared that he hardly believed Ben G. Brinkman of the Lafayette South Side Bank would go into an enterprise which was not perfectly secure and concluded with the statement that "whether Lincoln Housing Trust comes out or not, Edward W. Foristel will carry out every contract to which his name is signed."

Foristel said, in answer to a question by McCullough, that the trustees determine succession in case of vacancies.

Supervisor Lee called at Foristel's request, detailed his investigation of the concern, telling how he submitted the entire matter to the Attorney-General, who approved the declaration of trust, but declined to pass on the contract and plan. He said that the plan appeared to be mathematically correct; that he had

REED WAS DRAMATIC FIGURE IN RUSSIA

Rode About With Lenine and Trotzky and Showed His Influence in Soviet Congress.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—The late John Reed, American magazine writer and newspaper correspondent, won a place in soviet Russia second only to that of Lenine and Trotzky, M. Schwartz of San Francisco, Socialist and labor organizer, told the correspondent of the Associated Press upon his arrival here from Moscow, where he had been four months in prison following his attendance as delegate to the second Congress of the Third International. Reed died in Moscow last autumn.

"When I first went to Moscow some friends told me John Reed was there," said Schwartz. "'What of it?' I asked, for I had known Reed in Chicago when, as a big, good-natured, sincere fellow, he had split the Socialist party over the issue of communism, and his being in Russia didn't particularly interest me. It soon did interest me.

About Communists in U. S.

"Some of the Russians had asked me about the Communist party in America, and I had replied we had no real, organized Communist party there, although we had Communists. This, apparently, did not jibe with the impression Reed had made. That same day he came, coatless and angry, into the dining room where we were all eating, and, walking up to me, put his hand on my shoulder, and, in a voice which everyone in the room could hear, said:

"'Schwartz, did you say there was no Communist party in America?' I was surprised, and answered that I had not said we had no Communists, but that we had no legal Communist party. 'I'm glad you didn't say it,' Reed declared, still in a loud voice, and walked out of the room.

"Shortly after this, I was given an exhibition of the power he held over the administration. I had seen him tearing through the streets with Lenine and Trotzky and Zinovieff in official automobiles, evidently on the best of terms. Then Lenine put through a resolution at the Congress that only Russian, German and French should be spoken.

"Reed heard about this an hour or so after the resolution was passed, and he came stamping into the convention in a rage. He was a dramatic figure. He wore no coat, and his shirt was open at the collar. He walked down the aisle, pointing his finger at Lenine, who was in the chair, in the meantime speaking rapidly in English.

"'English is not to be spoken here,' Lenine shouted, rising from the chair.

Lenine Changes His Mind.

"Reed continued in English, declaring there were 27 delegates who spoke English, and English must be one of the languages of the convention. Lenine finally heard him through—and revoked the resolution and made English one of the official convention languages."

When Reed fell ill of typhus he was given every possible attention, Schwartz said, and when he died his funeral was remarkably resplendent. He was buried under the Kremlin walls.

"Bolshevism was his life's work," Schwartz concluded. "He was terribly in earnest about it, and would, I believe, willingly have died for this dream of the Soviet."

asked for and received monthly statements of the business done, which had been furnished. He said that he believed the plan had been carried out as proposed, stating that about $13,000 had been accumulated in the trust fund to pay attorneys and trustees' fees; that about $160,000 is now in the expense fund and that loans to the extent of about $200,000 have been made. He had received some complaints from persons who said they had not received all of their money back, he said, and had replied to each, asking the writers if they had read their contracts.

He said, in answer to a question by McCullough, that he "supposed there is some element of speculation" to investors in the concern.

Disorder at the Close.

The hearing broke up in some disorder when Phillips, the last witness, told of a man who, he said, had closed out his loan when it became available, at a profit of "$500 or $600, and then had reinvested only to receive certificate No. 1238," which would not have been due for a loan for a considerable time, he intimated.

Senators Gray and Proctor pressed Phillips for the name of "the man," and, not getting it, told him they wanted it furnished right away. Gray said that if the name was furnished he would accept the testimony, otherwise he would regard the statement as false.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10.—Eighty tons of barracuda meat brought by fishing boats from Lower California waters were offered free at Los Angeles harbor today to any one who would carry them away. ART

It is not given all of us to paint beautiful things on canvas, or to put on paper wonderful music to delight the world.

But it is the artist in every woman expressing itself when with needle and silk she puts beautiful things on linen and canvas.

The delicate shading of flower and leaf, the blending together of harmonious colors. Yes—emphatically—the woman devotee to art needlework is an artist.

PAIGE

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR IN AMERICA

A Suggestion to the Sportsmen of St. Louis

WE have stated on several occasions that our new seven passenger "Lakewood 6-66" is a car without a legitimate competitor.

By that we mean that it very distinctly outclasses every car in its own price field.

By that we mean that it can be compared with only the finest and most expensive motor vehicles on the market.

This is a broad and sweeping statement—very important if true, and very improper if founded on anything less substantial than facts.

But we are sure of our facts and the time is at hand when you can confirm them.

Practically every reputable American motor car is now on exhibition at the automobile show.

We suggest that you visit that show and compare the "Lakewood" with any car—at any price—and form your own conclusions.

So much for the facts that can be established indoors.

We next suggest that you forget entirely about standards of beauty and move to the real testing ground of mechanical fitness.

Take just one demonstration in the "Lakewood" and judge it from the standpoints of power, speed, acceleration, spring suspension and general motor efficiency.

Get the facts—actual lapsed time of the tests—and make a record on the demonstration card furnished by our Dealer.

Then take a second demonstration in any other car, at any price, and compare the results.

That is all we ask—and we make no prophecies whatever in regard to your ultimate conclusions.

In any fair, legitimate, stock car competition the "Lakewood" will tell its own story—and you must be the judge.

Come, sportsmen. Let us show you the mettle of a real thoroughbred.

JAMES G. HUNEKER, MUSIC CRITIC, DIES

Writer for New York World Was Internationally Known as Musician.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—James Gibbons Huneker, music critic for the New York World, and internationally famous as a musician and writer, whose articles have appeared frequently in the Post-Dispatch, died early last evening in his home, 1618 Beverly road, Brooklyn. He had just passed his sixty-first birthday.

Until the end of last week he performed his customary duties for the World, but was taken ill last Saturday night. Pneumonia developed and he died shortly after he had fallen into a peaceful slumber last evening.

His last words illustrated his tenacity and loyalty to his profession. "I must get up and go to the office to write my Sunday article," he told his wife just before he fell asleep late yesterday afternoon.

Huneker leaves his wife, a son, Erik, and a brother, John H. Huneker of Philadelphia. No funeral arrangements had been made last night.

Huncker Known Widely for Criticisms and Writings.

James Gibbons Huneker was a linguist with an intimate knowledge of four languages. In music he was a leading critic and had mastered the pianoforte technically, and was a teacher as well.

The biographical details of Huneker's life are that he was born in Philadelphia on Jan. 11, 1860. His parents were John and Mary B. Huneker. His father was a musician and composer, and for many years the organist of old St. Mary's Church on South street, Philadelphia. From him Huneker inherited his inordinate love of music and his taste for literature and the plastic arts. His inherited love for these fine things in life extended even further back, for he was the grandson of James Gibbons, the Irish poet.

As a boy Huneker attended Roth's military acadmy in Philadelphia, from which he was graduated. He was not an alumnus of one of the great universities. His higher education and erudition were gained in the school of experience and in the world of books.

On his graduation from Roth's Academy in 1873 he studied for the bar at a Philadelphia law school, but the legal life did not attract him. Meanwhile, he was studying the pianoforte more assiduously and delving deep into the lives and works of the great composers. Then he decided to pursue his musical studies abroad. He went to Paris and for a number of years studied piano technique with Georges Mathias.

Returning to this country, he became associated with Raphael Josefy as piano teacher at the National Conservatory, and he has intermittently followed the vocation of teacher of music since that time.

He became music and dramatic critic of the New York Recorder in 1891, holding the post for four years. Successively he was music and dramatic critic of the New York Advertiser, various musical journals and the New York Sun, where he succeeded the late Franklyn Fyles as dramatic critic. About five years ago he became music critic of the Times and since two seasons ago occupied the musical editorship for the World. His last article, a plea for the revival of "Salammbo," with Mary Garden in its leading role, was published in the last issue of the Sunday World.

During these two decades of musical teaching and musical and dramatic criticism in the daily and weekly press, Huneker found time to write nearly 20 books. Cursory reflection on the contents of these volumes supplies its own evidence of Huneker's amazing erudition.

He visited Henrik Ibsen in Norway and wrote a remarkable book of critical essays on his plays; he was, in fact, one of the first to champion the cause of the Ibsen theater in America. Critically he could discuss Tolstoy and Dostoleviky and Gorky among the Russians, and then turn abruptly to a minute study of the works of Sudermann, Hauptman or Arthur Schnitzler among the Germans. He wrote a splendid book on the life and art of Franz Liszt.

Huneker was the author of the following 15 books, listed in chronological order: "Mezzotints in Modern Music," 1904; "Chopin, the Man and His Music," 1900; "Melomaniacs," 1902; "Overtones," 1904; "Iconoclasts; a Book of Dramatists," 1905; "Visionaries," 1905; "Egotists; a Book of Supermen," 1909; "Promenades of an Impressionist," 1910; "Franz Liszt," 1911; "The Pathos of Distance," 1912; "New Cosmopolis," 1915; "Ivory Apes and Peacocks," 1915; "Unicorns," 1917; "Bedouins," 1920, and "Steeplejack," 1920.

Among the tributes to Huneker is one signed by all of the New York musical critics and expressions from Caruso, Gatti-Cassazza, Mary Garden, Geraldine Farrar, Amelita Galli-Curci, Bonci, Nahan Franko and others.

JOE ALEXANDER, KNOWN AS "POTATO KING," DIES

Oklahoman Told of Kidnaping in St. Louis Last October and Imprisonment in County.

By the Associated Press.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Feb. 10.—Joe Alexander, known as the "Potato King" of Eastern Oklahoma, died at a hospital here yesterday from spinal meningitis.

Alexander farmed 10,000 acres of land just across the State line from here in Oklahoma. Last summer he reported he was kidnaped in St. Louis, and held for $25,000 ransom, but escaped after five days in a secluded farm house. Alexander was 48 years old and unmarried.

Alexander Told of Kidnaping in St. Louis Last October.

Alexander came to St. Louis Oct. 26 last to visit a girl he was caring for in a local institution and was met at Union Station by two men who represented themselves as having been sent for him by Mrs. Margaret O. Taber, then of 724 Bayard avenue, an acquaintance, who owned an automobile agency at 4901 Delmar boulevard. Six days later, about 3 a. m., Alexander was found wandering, half clad and barefoot, on the Olive Street road, in St. Louis County.

He told the police he had been kidnaped by the two men, who met him at Union Station, and held a prisoner, bound to a bed for six days in a house on the Olive Street road, near Walton road, while the men were endeavoring to cash a check for $25,000 they had forced him to give as the price of his liberty, but he escaped before this check was cashed. Mrs. Taber, who was questioned by the police, corroborated Alexander's story and said she also had been kidnaped by the men and used in the effort to cash the check.

A few days ago a man believed to have been one of the kidnapers was arrested in connection with the discovery of a lot of stolen liquor. His picture was taken and sent to Fort Smith Monday for identification by Alexander, but no word was received that it had been identified as that of one of the kidnapers.

TRYING TO IDENTIFY GIRL 9 YEARS OLD

Truant Officer Thinks Child Taken From a Home in Lebanon, Ill., Is Heir to Weekly Fund.

Mrs. Anna Lambert, truant officer of St. Clair County, is trying to learn the identity of a 9-year-old girl whom she took Sunday from the home of Amel Mahu, a piano tuner, at Lebanon, Ill. The girl is described as having one brown eye and one blue eye.

The child says her name is Dorothy Buquette. Mahu says he obtained her two years ago from a woman named Maude Pritz at 714 Locust street, in the Black Ridge neighborhood, East St. Louis. When he returned a week later, he says, the woman had moved and he has not seen her since.

Mrs. Lambert thinks the girl's name is Tenicotte, and that she is a child for whom she has been searching two years. This child is an orphan and a fund of about $10 a week was left to her when her parents died. The Tenicotte girl has a sister, Annie, living with a family in Washington Park, who will be taken to the County Court at Belleville tomorrow to see if she can identify the child. The parents of the Tenicotte children lived in Collinsville.

Mrs. Lambert went to Lebanon on orders of County Judge Messick, following complaints that conditions in the Mahu home were not suitable for the little girl and two adopted boys, 7 and 12 years old. When she entered the Mahu home, she reported, Mrs. Mahu detained her in the hall while the girl and the younger boy ran out the back way. Mrs. Lambert, with the help of neighbors, caught the children and took them to the detention home in East St. Louis. Mahu and the older boy were away from home. An order has been issued for the older boy to be produced in court tomorrow.

Mahu told Mrs. Lambert he had had nine children in his care at different times. The other children were taken from him under dependency proceedings because of alleged unsuitable conditions in the home.

MISS JULIA C. FIFE, TEACHER NEARLY HALF CENTURY, DIES

Instructor at Public Schools Since 1874 Succumbs to Pneumonia After Week's Illness.

Miss Julia C. Fife, 68 years old, for 47 years a teacher in the public schools, died at her residence at the Roselle Hotel, 4145 Lindell boulevard, last night, from pneumonia. She had been ill a week.

Miss Fife was graduated from the old Normal School, the forerunner of Harris Teachers' College, in the spring of 1874 and began teaching at the Webster School the following fall. In 1882 she went to the Clay School and had taught there since. At the time of her death she was teacher of the first grade.

She is survived by three brothers, one of whom, Charles Fife, lives at 6439 Page boulevard. The funeral will be held from an undertaking chapel at 3621 Olive street, tomorrow afternoon, at 3:15 o'clock. Interment will be in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

GRIMM GIVES HIS VIEWS ON BILL FOR MORE JUDGES

ble talk about the delays of justice and the courts falling behind with their dockets. Figures do not always represent a situation fully or clearly. Take, for instance, the figures given before—7322 cases in Division No. 1 on Jan. 1 undisposed of; last year 3507 disposed of in No. 1, and 500 more in the law divisions, making it appear that the court fell behind 3300 cases during 1920. The fact is the new litigation last year, as before pointed out, was swelled to an unusual extent by the large number of tax suits filed. Again, of the 7322 cases remaining in No. 1 undisposed of, there are hundreds which never will be tried, and will only be gotten off the dockets when a Judge of that division will have them docketed for trial peremptorily and dismiss them for failure to prosecute. Many of these cases actually have been settled, but attorneys have neglected to dismiss them.

"As illustrating what I have just said, there is this fact: Since I have been presiding in Division No. 1, since Jan. 1 of this year, each week's docket set in that division has been entirely disposed of in the week, and not a single case has been carried over into a succeeding week. Cases are placed on the trial docket in Division No. 1 only after the issues are made up and after one party desiring trial has so listed the case. The Court sets 125 cases for trial each week, 60 on Monday and the remaining cases on Tuesday and Wednesday. Granted that each of the seven jury Judges tries or disposes of five cases per week, or 35 in all, this leaves almost 100 cases docketed each week which do not go to trial. Many of them are settled on the day of trial, and disposed of in No. 1. An average of five or six is sent to each of the jury divisions, and there disposed of by trial, nonsuit or settlement.

"Of the 125 cases set each week, after being listed for trial and in a shape for trial so far as the pleadings are concerned, approximately 70 are continued because the attorneys or the parties are not ready.

"The jury divisions have not only been ready, but have actually tried every jury case that was ready for trial during this year. This does not mean that we could not well use another Judge, because the fact is that the Judges of the jury divisions have been worked quite to the limit. If we were given two additional Judges I can see how their services might be employed to great advantage. Indeed, I can see how the services of three additional Judges could be well used."

The judicial bill, which provides for four more Judges, was introduced by Representative John T. Manning of St. Louis at the request of the St. Louis Bar Association, although a special committee of that association, in a report by Chairman E. C. Eliot, stated that more Judges were not needed. The committee made its report after investigating the alleged congested condition of the Circuit Court dockets. Attorney H. A. Rosskopf, legislative agent of the Board of Estimates and Apportionment, is working against the bill at Jefferson City.

The Lynch-White Fight Being Absolutely Kickless, $5.50 Ringsiders Have a Kick Coming

Champion Lynch and White Spar Tamely Until Warned By Referee to "Speed Up"

Bantam Champion, Making His First Appearance Since Winning the Title, Misses Clever Opponent Frequently and Fails to Show Customary Punch With His Right Hand.

By John E. Wray.

CHAMPION JOE LYNCH, making his first ring appearance in the seven weeks that have elapsed since he won the title from Pete Herman, fought eight punchless, kickless and rather listless rounds against that little red-headed tyke, Jabez White of Albany, at the Coliseum last night, while several thousand persons in the big auditorium waited patiently to the end for the fight to begin.

But although Referee Walter Heisner prodded the men into greater efforts in the fifth round, the close of the affair came without either boxer having landed one damaging blow, scoring a knockdown or showing any visible sign of having been to a serious encounter, and with few ringsiders feeling that they had received their $5.50 worth.

The bout was little better than a lively exhibition, with Jabez White crowding the champion and the latter poking back sharp lefts with an occasional right cross that all too frequently punished the atmosphere more than it did White.

The only excitement of the contest was furnished by Referee Heisner, who astonished everybody, fighters included, by suddenly stopping the bout in the fifth period, calling to the timekeeper to take "time out." Hopping through the ropes he then hurried to the rear of the building. Returning in about two minutes he conferred with Lynch's manager, re-entered the ring, called the dumfounded fighters to the center and ordered them to renew hostilities. This they did with considerable more animation than they had previously displayed.

Referee Cautions Lynch's Manager.

Heisner explained that he had left the ring to converse with Manager Mead, who handles Lynch's affairs, in order to warn him to spur the title-holder to greater efforts if he wanted the bout to continue. Heisner says he told Mead that Lynch was not giving satisfaction.

Evidently, however, Heisner considered that Lynch was the principal offender, for he did not say anything to White's corner.

Lynch tore into White for the remainder of the fight and scored frequently with a stiff left to the Albany boy's face; now and then his deadly right found White's jaw, but the once famous artillery delivered only "duds," for White finished the final session with a whirlwind attack that gave him this round by the widest margin of any during the contest. White had a shade in the early milling, but to call the bout other than a draw would be magnifying the importance of either boy's work.

Lynch's absence from the game and the difficulty of landing on White were the principal factors in rendering the bout unexciting.

White Difficult to Hit.

White is quite a wonderful boxer in his way. He can judge a blow to the fraction of an inch, let it whizz past his nose, and, like lightning, whip a counter to the enemy's jaw or body. He is almost impossible to reach with a right hand; and previous experience had taught him that it was easier to fight for Lynch's body than his head. As a consequence he was able to make Lynch look like a novice time after time in the early rounds.

On his own side White steadily crowded in, soaking the champion's body with snappy punches or whipping an overhand left to the Lynch jaw, occasionally. His blows lacked steam, as did Lynch's, and the crowd very early began to grow restless.

In the second round the ringside chatter started and in the third the galleries began to hiss.

This continued to the fifth round, when Heisner pulled the stunt of leaving the ring. After that, Lynch let out a link and forced the pace, but White was too clever to be cornered and Lynch's right hand seemed to lack steam on the rare occasion when it found a billet on White's jaw.

In justice to Lynch it must be said that White is a hard opponent to make a showing against, as their 27 previous rounds, fought to draw verdicts, will attest.

McMillan Wins by Kayo.

Joe McMillen exploded the Minneapolis marvel, Billy Stearns. The newcomer to local rings exhibited a long left arm with a snappy jab at the end of it which he landed on the incoming proboscis of Josephus. Undeterred, the local game bird bore in steadily, bombarding the enemy with his right howitzer, while Stearns was in full flight.

The bout culminated in the third round, when a right and left to the body sank the good ship Stearns, stern first, to the canvas. Referee Heisner counted out the fallen man, who apparently was trying to claim a foul. He had not been hit low, but to give him full benefit of any doubt, a medical examiner looked him over and found not the slightest trace of a low blow.

Steve English outboxed Jimmy Bock in three of the six rounds they fought. But James came back strong, as the fight progressed. In the final round he rolled up such a wide margin as to earn himself a draw.

Al Corey outgamed Fred Hasson and, when the latter was driven to the canvas in the second period, after many savage exchanges, he decided to remain down for the count.

Coliseum Results

CHAMPION JOE LYNCH of New York and JABEZ WHITE of Albany fought eight unexciting rounds to a draw. Weights: White 117¾, Lynch 118½.

RICKARD ANNOUNCES HE HAS CLOSED TRANSFER OF COCHRAN-BRADY RIGHTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Tex Rickard announced today he had arranged for the immediate transfer to him of the interests of Charles B. Cochran and William A. Brady in the proposed Dempsey-Carpentier championship match.

The transfer, he said, would be made through an attorney representing the other members of the original promotion project. Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, will take part in the transaction, he added.

CAMBRIDGE GOLFERS WILL PLAY IN U. S.

Miske Defeats Anderson.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 10.—Billy Miske, St. Paul heavyweight, last night won a 10-round decision over Lee Anderson, Sacramento, at Milwaukee arena. Miske administered a terrific lacing to Anderson.

Ringside Notes

Lynch and White made it hard for Leonard and Welling on Feb. 24. Leonard, however, is always "there" with the goods, when he fights.

Referee Heisner explained that he felt ill, when he left the ring in the fifth round, but took the opportunity to speak to Lynch's corner when he returned, so as not to too greatly embarass the champion by a public caution.

Jimmy O'Hagen, the Albany middleweight, who handles White, aviated, when Heisner ran out. He thought the fight was off and that the referee had left the ring in disgust.

Jimmy Barry, the former bantam champion, now residing at Springfield, Ill., was introduced from the ring. "Biz" Kinney announced him as having "met everything in the bantam class but defeat." Barry is referee for the Springfield Athletic Club.

Lynch was cheered wildly as he entered the ring. There were very few cheers given when he left it. He looked drawn in the face but his body was not trained down too fine.

Lynch has several bouts scheduled, all of the barnstorming variety.

The next boxing card in the city, it was announced from the ring, would be held Monday night at the First Regiment Armory, where Jimmy Murphy and Georgie Lee, the Celestial, will box eight rounds. Jimmy Kerns and McGovern are matched in the other half of a double bill scheduled that evening.

The receipts were best of the season, running over $9000.

Lynch seemed to be out of condition as he was breathing heavily between rounds. Although drawn in the face, he seemed a bigger man in every way than White. It was difficult to believe, from watching the men, that White had stood before Lynch for 15 rounds, when the champion was in shape and cut loose with everything he had.

Reuther a Holdout.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.—Holding that it costs much more to live in Brooklyn than in Cincinnati, Walter (Dutch) Reuther, Cincinnati pitcher, who was traded to Brooklyn for Rube Marquard, sent word to his new employers today that he would not play until this and other differences were met.

He asked that he be given a round trip ticket to New Orleans, the Brooklyn training camp, in order to straighten out his differences with the club.

Open Air Basketball Latest.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 10.—Open air basketball is the latest innovation of the University of Pennsylvania's sport for all departments. A new cage has been built at Franklin Field, and seven more are to be erected on the new athletic field. Byron Dickson, assistant director of physical education, plans to use the outdoor cages for interclass games.

Tiger Coaches Are Busy.

Missouri U. coaches are rebuilding their defense, since the injury to Wackher. It was at first believed that "Pidge" Browning would drop back to guard from forward; but this plan has been abandoned. Coffee will take the regular guard job, unless one of the guards has to leave the game, when Browning would replace him and A. Browning or Knight would go to the forward line.

Winter Football Practice at Yale Sets a Precedent

Work of Rebuilding Prestige of New Haven Institution Already Begun.

By Walter Camp.

(Copyright, 1921.)

Yale will break a football precedent among Eastern colleges by indulging in winter football practice. Tad Jones has arrived from the west coast and is setting about arrangements for this work. In view of the fact that Ohio State, the Western Conference champion, has been holding a regular winter school of football, Yale's decision is suggestive of a change in the old order. Princeton will hold off until spring; but it is a fact that the Tigers have been working all winter in certain forms of exercise as laid down by Bill Roper, the coach, after the football season of 1920.

While preparations for "greater things" are in progress in New Haven, there is a feeling up in Cambridge that things are "slipping" and, accordingly, 20 of the former "H" men at Harvard are making strong bids for co-operation and fellowship between themselves and the undergraduates who make up the teams.

George B. Morris, the old runner, and one of the finest sportsmen in the country, is president of the Harvard Varsity Club and is arranging informally training table luncheons and dinners during the winter. On these occasions old-time athletes are brought into contact with the younger men, now wearing Harvard colors. It is a big step in the right direction.

Pennsylvania's Activities.

The University of Pennsylvania is certainly branching out in all sports. There is now some possibility that her basketball team will go to Cuba to play two games each with the Cuban Athletic and the Havana Athletic Clubs.

Meantime her boxers are going to Atlanta and Birmingham. Her wrestlers will be seen at Annapolis, Feb. 12, as well as at the intercollegiates at Princeton on March 18 and 19. Among these wrestlers is Bill Ward, the big tackle of the football team. More than this, Earl Eby is going to do something for Penn on the indoor track, if what he showed last year is any criterion, and Lever, another sprinter, is a comer. All this leads up to that big track event at Penn the end of April—the Penn relays.

Athletic Cripples.

We often read of the remarkable success achieved by crippled or infirm persons at great physical disadvantages in the business world, but seldom do we hear of them attaining fame in the athletic world.

Cornell's wrestling team boasts and properly, too, of Snedeker who, with the handicap of a wooden leg from his knee down, is dangerous to any man of his weight. Bishop of Penn threw him recently; but Snedeker put up a game fight.

Kelly, one of the best Princeton backfield men in the history of football, at that time was lame in one foot. And there is a record of a British professional golfer who lost his leg in the war and who, even before he had an artificial leg, played his home course. He used crutches to get from shot to shot, balanced himself on his one leg when making his strokes and he did the course in 52.

Middle Western Troubles.

There is trouble out at the University of Minnesota and in the last month several athletes have been lost and the student body feels the men have been discriminated against in the class room.

Meantime, while Minnesota has her eligibility worries, Ohio State and Wisconsin still are at odds; and Michigan feels that Chicago turned it down for Princeton, in football. So, all in all, there is very little brotherly love in the conference.

London's Style.

Everyone, of course, is interested in Dick Landon, the winner of the Olympic high jump, and his progress this winter. He is of much frailer physique than either Alma Richards or Wesley Oler, but this may be to his advantage, as he carries less weight to hoist over the bar. His style is the most satisfactory of any jumper the writer has seen in a long time.

LOUISIANA BOXING BODY SUSPENDS PAL MORAN

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 10.—The Louisiana Boxing Commission yesterday ordered cancellation of the scheduled 15-round bout between Pal Moran, lightweight champion of the South, and Frankie Farren, holder of the Pacific Coast lightweight title, and suspended Moran. The commission said that it based its action on alleged statements of Moran that he intended to box only two or three rounds and have the referee award the fight to Farren.

LANGER WINS AUSTRALIAN 440-YARD SWIM TITLE

HOBART, Tasmania, Feb. 10.—Ludy Langer of San Francisco and Hawaii, yesterday won the Australian 440-yard swimming championship. His time was 5m. 17 3-5s.

Seats for Polo Matches To Cost $41 to $102

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Notification was received at headquarters of the American Polo Association that a limited number of seats were being reserved for American spectators at the international matches to be played at the Hurlingham Club grounds in England June 18-25.

The communication stated that the price of reserved seats would range from $41 to $102 each for the series of best two out of three games. William A. Hazard, treasurer of the American Association, stated that application for such seats would close here March 15 and that should the demand exceed the supply, preference will be given to active polo players, and members of clubs in the association.

It is understood that while polo circles have not as yet been notified of the allotment of space for American spectators, there is already a large list of applications for tickets. Many followers of the game are forming parties to make the trip to England for the international trophy contests and reports from abroad indicate that tickets for the Hurlingham contests will be at a premium before the date of play.

English Amateurs Invited to U. S.

A. A. U. Wants British Boxing Champions for Matches With Boston Winners.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—An international tournament, which will bring together the recognized amateur boxing champions of the United States and England, is being planned for this city early in May.

It is proposed to have the winners of the English Amateur Athletic Association and the American Amateur Athletic Union championship contests which are scheduled to be held almost simultaneously in London and Boston, compete for international honors while their titular laurels are still fresh.

An invitation from the officers of the A. A. U headed by Secretary Frederick W. Rubien, has been dispatched to the officials of the English A. A. A. requesting them to designate the winner in each of the eight weight divisions as the British standard-bearers for a series of bouts against the American amateur champions following the national tournament to be held in Boston April 11—12. The English boxing authorities in the various titles are usually held about the first of April. By holding the international contests a month later ample time would be given the British contenders to arrive here and become acclimated before the bouts.

The regulations of the two associations call for championships in eight classes ranging from flyweight boxers, weiging a trifle over 100 pounds to heavyweights. The contests would be held under the code of the International Boxing Federation of which both organizations are members, and consequently there are no differences in rules to be adjudicated.

ENGLISH GOLF BODY TO PROPOSE CHALLENGE CUP

LONDON, Febd 10.—Proposals that a challenge cup be offered for an international match played between the United States and Great Britain will be considered at the annual meeting of the council of the Ladies' Golf Union, to be held at Caxton Hall today. Arrangements for the ladies' open championship and the English closed championship, will also be discussed.

Minneapolis Bowlers Lead.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 10.—Bowlers from the Twin Cities again today almost exclusively occupied the alleys in the International Bowling Association tournament here. A few teams from other points in the State, two from Wisconsin and one from South Dakota, made up the other contestants.

Changes occurred yesterday in the leaders in the doubles and the five-man events. The other high men were undisturbed. J. Stasch and T. Reimer of Minneapolis, head the two-man class, having displaced T. Thoma and R. Rayel of Chicago, who are in second place. In the five-man event the Feichtingers of Minneapolis assumed the lead, nosing out the Gross Brothers team, of the same city.

Dempsey Starts Training.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, changed his plans and instead of going to New York, he returned here and announced that today he will begin preliminary training for his fight with Georges Carpentier, European champion.

Jayhawkers Trim Washington Quint By 39-28 Score

Brilliant Work of Forward Rody Wins First of Series for Kansas.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Feb. 10.—The University of Kansas basketball team took a slowly played game from the Washington University five here last night. The score was 39 to 28. Neither team displayed much team play and many shots were missed by both the local and visiting collegians.

The Jayhawkers got off to a big lead during the first half, leaving the court with a 17 to 8 advantage. Coach Brown's men improved considerably in the second period and for a while threatened the locals.

Washington can attribute in the main its defeat to the brilliant work of Forward Rody and to the mediocre free throwing of Thompson. The latter could net only two shots out of seven attempts, whereupon that duty was entrusted to Thumser. He improved by scoring six out of seven tries.

Rody was the attacking punch of the victors, tallying three field baskets in the first half and five in the second. He continually got free and all passes were directed toward him. Gaylord, with four goals from the field, led the Pikeway scorers.

The teams play their second contest tonight. The lineups and summary:

Billikens Beat Barracks Five.

The St. Louis University basketball team played its last game before starting on its northern trip, when it defeated the Jefferson Barracks five at College Hall, last night. The Billikens romped over by a 63 to 19 score.

Weber and Vonachen were once again the stars of the collegiate quintet from a scoring standpoint, the pair of them contributing with 45 points.

Nebraska Suffers Setback.

Nebraska was practically put out of the Missouri Valley Conference race last night when it met a 38 to 30 defeat at the hands of Ames. Inasmuch as the Cornhuskers have only 10 games on their schedule, either Missouri or the Kansas Aggies would have to lose a pair in order to be beaten for the title by Nebraska.

MISS LENGLEN HAS BEEN INVITED, OFFICIALS SAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Officials of the United States Lawn Tennis Association last night expressed surprise at the statement made in Nice by Miss Suzanne Lenglen, woman tennis champion of the world, that she had received no invitation to visit America. Such an invitation, they said, had been sent the French Tennis Association some time ago, in the hope that Miss Lenglen would play in the national championship matches at Forest Hills next summer.

Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory and William Tilden II will go to France for the national matches.

BOXING BILL HEARING INTERRUPTED BY BOUT

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—The council hearing on the proposed State law to authorize boxing was interrupted yesterday by a fistic encounter between "Tommy" White, former featherweight champion, and Alderman John H. Lyle.

The encounter took place outside of the Council Chamber while scores of Aldermen, businessmen and clubwomen were discussing the provisions of the proposed law. It resulted from White's advocacy of a clause permitting decision contests.

The men were separated by spectators after several blows had been struck. Neither was seriously injured.

Carpentier Turns Down Moran Bout

PARIS, Feb. 10.—The proposed match between Georges Carpentier, heavyweight champion of Europe, and Frank Moran of Pittsburg, before the Continental Sporting Club of Paris is off. The terms demanded by Carpentier's managers were such that the promoters were unable to meet them, they state. Moran left Paris this morning for St. Moritz.

SOUTHPAW SCHUPP SIGNS CONTRACT WITH CARDINAL CLUB FOR COMING SEASON

Ferd Schupp, the southpaw, who last season won 15 games and lost 13 for the Cardinals, is the first of Branch Rickey's regular pitchers to come to terms for the 1921 campaign. Schupp's signing was announced yesterday by officials of the local National League club. Schupp is wintering in St. Louis and will be one of the first athletes to depart for the South.

It was announced this morning that Mike Kircher, the southpaw purchased last summer from the Richmond club of the Virginia League, was in the fold. Kircher resides at Rochester, N. Y., and is expected to make a great bid for a regular job. Kircher hurled a few games for the Knot-Holers last season.

Manager Branch Rickey of the Cardinals departed yesterday on a trip which has to do with baseball business. His destination was not made known.

Ernie Langraf, owner of the Syracuse club of the International League, was a visitor in St. Louis yesterday and called on Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals. It is thought the conference had to do with the working agreement between the Knot-Holers and Syracuse clubs.

HOOD TIRES ROLL INTO SECOND PLACE IN CITY SCRATCH TENPIN EVENT

The Hood Tires of the Business Men's League last night rolled into second place in the city scratch tournament on Stein's alleys, with a total of 2762, 10 pins behind the leading mark owned by the Orange Crush team. A split in the final frame for Con Fuerman, anchor man, kept the quintet from going into first place.

Fuerman was high man for the team, with a total of 648, for an average of 196. He was given great assistance by Dietz and Forgey, who totalled 576, respectively. Eicher counted 510 and Crock 512 for the other marks.

The Vagacos, with F. Wamser getting a 649 total, bowled into sixth place with a count of 2718.

Two squads of five-man teams are scheduled to roll tonight.

COLLINS LEADS IN 18.2 AMATEUR TOURNAMENT

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 10.—Through the defeat of Charles Heddon of Dowagiac, Mich., by Francis S. Appleby of New York, last night, Percy Collins of Chicago, the present champion, held undisputed possession of first place in the national amateur 18.2 balkline billiard championship tournament.

Collins has won his two matches. Heddon and Edgar and Francis Appleby were tied with two victories and one defeat. Emil Renner of Youngstown had won one and lost one, while Dr. A. I. Brown of Cleveland suffered two defeats and Charles M. Lord of Chicago, three, without a victory.

Renner plays two games today. In the first game of the afternoon he will meet Collins and tonight Dr. A. I. Brown. Lord and F. S. Appleby meet in the second afternoon game.

Cornell Grid Schedule.

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 10.—Cornell University's 1921 football schedule, announced yesterday, follows: Oct. 1, St. Boneventure; 8, Rochester; 15, Western Reserve; 22, Colgate; 29, Dartmouth; Nov. 5, Columbia at New York; 12, Springfield College; 24 (Thanksgiving day), Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Bricklayers File Answer to Protest

No Testimony Explaining Delay at Half Time in Scullin Contest Is Submitted.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The defense of the Bricklayers S. F. C. of Chicago to the protest of the Scullin S. F. C. of the fifth round cup tie played at Chicago Jan. 30, has been received by Secretary T. W. Cahill of the U. S. F. A. It consists of a statement by the secretary of the Brickies and rests upon (1) the right of the referee to decide on the fitness of the grounds for play, cup rule 22, which is not contested, though in this case, according to all evidence, Referee McKenzie stretched his authority beyond reason.

(2) Cup rule 22, declaring that "should one club unnecessarily delay the start of the second half of the match the opposing team may lodge a protest immediately with the referee in writing. When an objection has been lodged with the referee a protest must be made to the association and neither objection nor protest shall be withdrawn, except by leave of the committee."

It is obvious that there is nothing in this rule that makes a written protest obligatory. The rule was written to prevent frivolous protests being made and then abandoned or denied in event of the protesting club winning the match. The Scullins' verbal protest would seem to be sufficient in this case to protect their rights.

(3) Rule XIV, "The referee shall have power to allow for time wasted or lost through accident or other cause, and his decision in regard to the amount of the additional time on account of stoppage is final."

No testimony of any kind is submitted to explain the delay at half time. That there was an unusual delay is not denied, the only explanation offered being the quotation of Rule XIV. Nor is there any testimony offered to justify the penalty kick awarded the Brickies on which the tieing goal was scored. That the Scullins quit at the end and made only a bluff at defending their goal when the winning point was scored seems to be admitted.

Referee McKenzie has not yet submitted a statement in response to the Scullin charges transmitted to him.

A special meeting of the Cup Committee has been called for Feb. 15, at 7:15 p. m. to consider the protest.

CHAMPION WILSON AND NAVY ROSTAN MEET IN 10-ROUND GO TONIGHT

KENOSHA, Wis., Feb. 10.—Middleweight Champion Johnny Wilson of Boston will go into the ring tonight with Navy Rostan of Chicago, title aspirant, in a 10-round no-decision match.

Rostan believes he has adjusted his methods of attack to meet successfully the confusing mighty right and jab of the left-hand champion. The Boston fighter has won a decisive victory through right-hand duplicity.

Rostan's first notable flistic appearance was as a preliminary boxer at the Willard-Dempsey battle at Toledo.

DONOVAN IS DEPOSED AS HARVARD TRACK COACH

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 10.—William F. (Pooch) Donovan, for 18 years trainer of track, baseball and football teams at Harvard University, was supplanted as coach of the track squad by William J. Bingham, graduate track director, yesterday. This action was taken by the graduate track committee after consideration of recent failures that Crimson track teams and relay combinations had met in intercollegiate competitions. The change was said also to be in keeping with a plan to have coaching in the hands of graduates exclusively.

Donovan will continue his connection with the football and baseball teams as trainer.

QUINN TO ATTEND A. L. MEETING AT CLEVELAND

Bob Quinn, business manager of the Browns, just back from a trip to Tulsa, Ok., announced that he would depart tonight for Cleveland to attend the spring meeting of the American League, which is scheduled to take place tomorrow. What business will be transacted, Quinn did not know. However, he thought the meeting concerned the 1921 schedule and other minor details.

MARKET INACTIVE; COPPER AND SOME OF OILS ADVANCE

Rails Lower and Price Changes Among Industrials Are Irregular — Wheat Higher and Cotton Uncertain.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Another day of lifeless trading presented itself on the Stock Exchange. After an irregular opening, buying of the copper stocks on the announcement of the details of the copper financing plan lifted these issues above 1 point, but the rest of the list remained unaffected. Later in the day, pool activity in certain stocks was in evidence, California Petroleum enjoying a run up of over 4 points. Sinclair also showed continued strength. Toward the close, however, rails for the most part were fractionally lower, while price changes among the industrials were irregular. Call money was at 7 per cent throughout.

Foreign Exchanges Active.

"Trading in the foreign exchanges was again active and most of those on European countries showed a firm tone. Sterling was in good demand and moved up to $3.88¼, later reacting to $3.87¾, which represents a gain of ¾ of a cent over yesterday. French francs at 7.20 cents were up 6 points, while German marks at 1.67 cents were off 1 point. The most interesting event of the day, however, was a sharp rise of nearly ½ cent in Norwegian kroner. The price was up from the start of the day and maintained itself well in heavy trading. At 18.17 cents in the afternoon the net gain was 37 points over yesterday and 52 points over Tuesday. Aside from somewhat cryptic statements that the Continent was selling Dutch guilders and buying Norwegian kroners little explanation can be offered aside from speculative activity. Such an explanation is perhaps sufficient, however, when it is remembered that this exchange sold for 13 cents on Nov. 6, and for 19.40 on Jan. 24. As a matter of face, Dutch guilders were off 5 points at 34.25 cents. With silver at London down ½ penny at 36½ the Far Eastern silver exchanges showed a sympathetic decline of 1 cent.

Cotton Uncertain; Wheat Higher.

"Cotton again demonstrated the difficulty of getting anywhere with the Liverpool market unwilling to respond. Spot demand is still poor there, with the result that the opening prices for the March delivery here was 13 points down at 13.60 cents. Subsequently the price went 4 points higher and 22 points lower, but in the afternoon had come back to just where it started the day. Wheat, on the other hand, continued to show an ability to jump higher. Opening ¾ of a cent down at 1.61½, the March price shot as high as $1.68¼, or nearly 3 cents above yesterday's best, later reacting to $1.67.

Bank of England Improves.

"Recovery from last week's reversion to inflation on the part of the Bank of England which was due to Government borrowing and which carried the reserve ratio down to 11.5 per cent from the previous week's 14.2 is shown by today's statement. Circulation is down £600,000, reserves are up a corresponding amount, and deposits are less by £22,000,000. As a result the ratio is back to 14.0 per cent. It is worth noting, however, that heavy tax collections forced many rates up in London yesterday, that large new capital issues are impending there and that a year ago the Bank of England's reserve ratio stood at 22.4 per cent. With these facts in mind, there need be little surprise over the bank's continued refusal to lower its discount rate.

"Reduction of deposit liabilities is shown also by the Bank of France, the decrease amounting to 254,000,000 francs, loans and discounts showing an approximately equal decline. Circulation, however, shows no corresponding reduction; on the contrary, the total is now higher by 67,000,000 francs and stands at 38,272,000,000 francs which is 285,000,000 more than a year ago."

To Finance Copper Exports.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Plans for financing the sale for export purpose of 400,000,000 of the 600,000,000 pounds of surplus copper in the American market were made public here last night with the announcement that the product was pledged as security for $40,000,000 8 per cent notes of the Copper Export Association to be offered for public sale by a banking syndicate headed by the National City Co. and the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York.

This is said to be the first large public loan made in this country to be secured specifically by a certain amount of an essential commodity, as well as the first big movement by American companies to take advantage of the opportunities offered under the Webb export trade act to invite public participation in the financing of foreign trade.

The heavy accumulation of surplus copper was the result of the sudden ending of the war and the inability of European consumers to take their usual requirements.

Unfilled Steel Orders Decrease.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The monthly tonnage report of the United States Steel Corporation, made public today, showed 7,573,164 tons of unfilled orders on hand Jan. 31. This is a decrease from unfilled orders on Dec. 31, which were 8,148,122 tons.

This is the sixth successive monthly decrease in unfilled orders since July, 1920, when unfilled orders amounted to 11,118,468 tons.

The peak of bookings by the United States Steel Corporation was reached in April 1917, when orders on hand amounted to 12,183,083 tons.

Bank of England Statement.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes: Total reserve increased £602,000. Circulation decreased £611,000. Bullion decreased £9,314. Other securities decreased £2,109,000. Other deposits decreased £23,520,000. Public deposits increased £1,573,000. Notes reserve increased £611,000. Government securities decreased £20,419,000. The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability is 14.02 per cent; last week it was 11.54. Rate of discount, 7 per cent.

Paris Market Irregular.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—Prices were irregular on the Bourse today. Three per cent rentes, 58 francs, 25 centimes. Exchange on London, 54 francs, 5 centimes. Five per cent loan, 83 francs, 95 centimes. The dollar was quoted at 13 francs, 89 centimes.

Bar Silver.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Bar silver: Domestic, 99½c; foreign, 62⅛c; Mexican dollars, 47⅛c.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Bar silver, 36½d per ounce. Money, 6 per cent. Discount rates: Short bills, 6 11-16 per cent; three month bills, 6⅝@6 11-16 per cent.

COTTON STEADIES AFTER BREAK AND PRICES REBOUND

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The cotton market showed renewed nervousness this morning, owing to the continued reports of British trade depression, lower Liverpool cables and rumors that considerable cotton was being shipped here from New Orleans for delivery on March contracts. There were also reports that Texas farmers were selling freely on a basis of 225 points below the price of May contracts here, and after opening easy to a decline of 14 to 28 points, active months soon showed net losses of 22 to 34 points, with March selling at 13.38 and May at 13.80. There was some Liverpool and other foreign buying on the decline, but the South was a seller, while there was scattered selling for local and Wall street account.

New Orleans was reported to be selling July here against purchases in Liverpool to undo old straddle accounts during the first hour. Otherwise, there was not much Southern selling, however, and after the close of Liverpool, offerings became lighter, with prices firmer on renewed Wall street and local covering. Prices rallied to 13.68c for March and 14.10c for May, with active months recovering all but 3 or 4 points of their early losses. Sales of fertilizer tags in Alabama so far this season are reported about half those for the same period last year.

The market was very quiet during the early afternoon, with March contracts ruling around 13.56c and May 13.90c, or about 15 to 24 points net lower.

Cotton futures closed barely steady; March, 13.52c; May, 13.94c; July, 14.32c; Oct., 14.75c; Dec., 14.85c.

IRREGULAR RANGE TO NARROW CURB MARKET

Ryan Consolidated Under Pressure—Mining Shares Are Moderately Active.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Price movements were irregular during the greater part of the session on the Curb Market today, but the extent of the changes were extremely narrow. Trading was again on a small scale, being confined between the professionals. Outside participation was only moderate.

Ryan Consolidated was under pressure, the belief being that the selling was the result of the court proceedings in the Continental Candy Co., which was sponsored by the same interests. Heyden Chemical also was in rather free supply. Maracaibo Oil continued quite firm, as did International Petroleum. Skelly Oil and Simms Petroleum were firm. Standard Oil shares were irregular, the New York shares showing a loss of several points, while the Indiana stock was about a point higher.

Motor issues were quiet but steady, Goodyear Tire common continued weak and sold down to a new low for the present movement. U. S. Steamship held steady.

Mining shares were moderately active and price changes were irregular. Eureka Croesus, however, was up more than 10 points. Heaviness was displayed in most of the silver stocks.

Dealings in bonds were smaller and quotations were practically unchanged. Cerro de Pasco 8s on fairly large transactions, dropped a point, but rallied a fraction and Allied Packers 6s were in moderate supply and lost about a point.

16 OF 943 TRACTION COMPANIES FAILED IN 1920 DEPRESSION

Association Head Says Out of 2,000,000 Men Idle in U. S. Not One Is Electric Railway Employe.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—Though all industry, the railroads, the factories and the stores may groan, then stagger and finally fall under the postwar business sag, the little old trolley car, either in city or village, rattles right along, declared P. H. Gadsden, president of the American Electric Railway Association, in convention here today.

Gadsden referred to the "courageous fight" the lines put up during the days of adverse post-war conditions, and congratulated managers on the fact that "the electric railways emerge from this dreadful period, having had burned into them the lesson of strictest economy, purged of public misconception, spiritually chastened by their bitter experience and full of courage to undertake the greater task which the future holds in store for them."

During the 1920 depression, he reported, only 16 of the 943 traction companies in the country failed.

"Out of 2,000,000 and more men reported out of work in the United States today, not one was an employe of an electric railway," he said.

Wall Street News and Comment

—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The chief things which the financial markets were called upon to consider today were the rejection of the Railway executive's plea for the abrogation of present railway wage agreements, the flotation of the $40,000,000 note issue of the Copper Export Association and a new high record for sterling exchange. The decision of the Labor Board came unexpectedly soon and it was, of course, a disappointment. It had been expected that if the request of the railway heads was not to be granted entirely some sort of a compromise would have been reached which would have satisfied both parties to the controversy. While some qualification was seen in the statement of the board that no "immediate" action along the lines requested could be taken, while this was construed as not closing the door entirely to a resumption of negotiations, there was no minimizing the fact that the decision was not anticipated and that it was distinctly a piece of bad news.

Railway shares went down on the first announcement, but yet again a remarkable demonstration was given of the comparative indifference with which the present stock market is receiving unpleasant announcements. That there was not more liquidation in the rails simply showed the skepticism of the financial community when it comes to appraising the recent statements of a certain railroad official regarding the plight of the railroads. It was, of course, quite unfair to take the January results as a basis for calculating the railway outlook just the same as it would be quite unfair to judge the long run outlook for the steel and other industrial companies by their earnings at the very bottom of the commercial slump.

The market registered today its suspicion that the picture of the railway situation from the standpoint of the executives had been a good deal overdrawn. If it was true on the one hand that railway stocks were not unloaded in any quantity after the action of the Labor Board became known it was also true that the favorable incidents fell rather flat.

Copper shares rose at the start. Yet nobody could doubt the importance to the copper trade of lifting the enormous surplus of 400,000,000 pounds of the metal off the market, insuring against any hasty sale, allowing abundant time for demand for development at more profitable range of prices. Likewise, this $40,000,000 note operation means a good deal in the way of relief for the general credit position. It means taking just so much of a load off the shoulders of the banks and transferring it to the investment body.

Foreign Exchange Market.

After surpassing by a trifle the previous high mark in the last week of January, sterling exchange came down a bit in the afternoon. The early advance both in sterling and francs was plainly a response to the vote of confidence last night in the new French ministry.

No further xchange occurred in money rates, nor is any looked for in the immediate future. Offerings on time funds were scarce, while the renewal on call loans kept at 8 per cent.

Cotton options, after breaking again, regained some ground. There is talk that, if, as expected, the Copper Export financing goes through successfully a similar scheme may be worked out for cotton.

The figures on Steel Corporation tonnage were in line with expectations. They showed a decrease of 574,978 tons in unfilled orders during January. The reaction of the steel stocks to this statement was very slight. Neither did the shares of the independent steel companies weaken on the published interview with Judge Gary, in which he called attention to the former plea of the independents that they could make no profit at the prices fixed by the Industrial Board and from which the inferences followed that by lowering prices under this standard they would lose money unless they could successfully reduce wages.

Some of the oil shares were actively bought, especiall California Petroleum, and Sinclair, without having much effect upon other members of the group. The general list was duller than ever in the last two hours of business. It was, in fact, as near a state of absolute stagnation as a speculative market ever reaches.

The Oil Group.

In the oil group interest centered in some of the low and medium priced issues. California petroleum struck 40 for the first time, bearing out the statements that were made when the stock was in the low 20s that its selling price was altogether out of line with earnings present and prospective.

The California petroleum pool is certainly one that has made good in a difficult time. Sinclair was heavily dealt in, the buying orders having every indication of originating in the same quarters that have been active in the movement in California petroleum. Two stories were advanced for the move in Sinclair. One was to the effect that the recent financing of the Gulf Oil which has just sold $30,000,000 worth of notes was for the purpose of buying an interest in the Sinclair Co. It was recalled that no reason was adavnced by the Gulf Oil for its financing. As against the strength in California petroleum and Sinclair there was heavy selling in the new Pacific Oil and in Southern Pacific rights, which carried them down to new low points. Here, too, the contention was borne out which was put forth a long time ago, that the original selling prices of these two issues were altogether excessive when the comparison was made between Pacific Oil on the one hand and stocks like Texas Co. and California Petroleum on the other.

The Bond Market.

The $40,000,000 offering of serial notes by the Copper Export Association was the incident of the day in the bond market. Up to the close of business no details were given out as to the size of the initial subscriptions. It was simply reported that the notes were going well, and that while it might take a day or two longer to place them fully, not the least doubt was entertained regarding the outcome. These notes have, of course, a wonderful security. They represent 400,000,000 pounds of copper valued at 10 cents a pound. The present price of the metal is 13 cents to 13¼ cents, while the absolute low in what was a virtual panic condition, was 12½ cents. The notes mature annually over a period of four years and are offered at prices to yield from 8 to 8¼ per cent. Besides resting upon the metal at an extraordinary undervaluation, they are guaranteed jointly by 17 of the largest copper and smelting companies in the country. It is expected that being short-term obligations of such high grade they will prove attractive investments for banks. No preliminary market was established in the Copper Export notes today.

The general bond market was most uninteresting. Prices scarcely moved at all. Where they did, the changes were only a trifling fraction, some up, some down. Most of the Liberty issues were off a shade, with the 3½s of the first loan down a quarter of a point. Chicago & Northwestern 6½s sold for one lot at 99¼, which was ⅛ under the issue price, but subsequently met with support and rallied to 99⅜. There were also supporting orders in the Pennsylvania 6½s, which held them at their issue price of 99¼.

There was an excellent demand for American Telephone issues, especially the 5s and the convertible 6s. Tidewater Oil 6½s were actively dealt in between 98½ and 98¾.

UPWARD TURN TO PRICES IN LOCAL GRAIN MARKET

Wheat prices ruled strong on the Merchants' Exchange today, while corn and oats were steady. Wheat futures followed prices at Chicago where the rise was ascended by some to covering by short interest which was rumored to be large. Cash wheat here was strong. Seaboard reported the sale of 100,000 barrels of flour yesterday while some Manitoba wheat was said to have been worked.

Argentine wheat shipments for the week were estimated at 479,000 bushels compared with 1,044,000 previous week.

Wheat showed a good undertone from the outset. March wheat opened at $1.65¼, May wheat $1.56½, May corn 68⅛@¼c, July corn 69⅝c and May oats 44⅝c.

The upturn in wheat was based on influence of those who bought on what was termed bullish effect of the domestic situation. That is the attitude of growers and ability to move stuff. The market of late has been entirely an export one.

Corn moved with wheat, but has comparatively narrow range early.

GRAIN STATISTICS.

Primary receipts today were 681,000 bushels of wheat, 679,000 corn and 355,000 oats.

Clearances were 376,000 bushels of wheat, 227,000 corn and 39,050 barrels of flour.

St. Louis grain receipts today were: Wheat, 22 cars local and 49 through; corn, 10 cars local and 14 through; oats, 14 cars local and 5 through; hay, 256 tons local and 188 through.

Northwestern car lots today were: Minneapolis, 237; Duluth, 144; Winnipeg, 450.

EXPORT SALES OF FLOUR FACTOR IN WHEAT STRENGTH

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—Quickness with which offerings weer taken brought about an advance in wheat prices today after a hesitating start. Bulls contended that from this time forward the course of values would be governed largely by the attitude of the producer and that domestic instead of export conditions would be the chief factor. Talk was current that country roads were generally in too bad shape to allow of a free movement of any grain at present. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅝c lower, with March $1.61½ to $1.62 and May $1.51½ to $1.52, were followed by material gains all around.

Subsequently, green bug news from Missouri and Oklahoma as well as from Texas, together with large export sales of flour, helped to hoist prices still higher. The close was strong, 3⅛c to 5⅛c net higher, with March $1.67 to $1.67½, and May $1.55½ to $1.56.

Corn rose with wheat, after opening unchanged to ⅛c higher, including May at 66⅝c to 66¾c, the market scored a moderate general upturn.

Predictions of continued soft weather checked any decided reaction. The close was firm, with May 67⅝c to 67⅞c.

Oats were governed by the action of other cereals, starting unchanged to ⅛c off, May 43⅝c, and later advancing to well above yesterday's finish.

Weakness in the hog market had a bearish effect on provisions.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

As we have no information bureau, it is impossible to answer queries by mail or telephone. Query for Sunday must be mailed a week beforehand.

BUD.—March 20, 1903, fell on a Saturday.

J. L. P.—We do not attempt to solve puzzle questions in this column.

C. E. G.—The last money panic was in 1907, during Roosevelt's administration.

J. W.—Address the American Legion Weekly, Legion Publishing Co., 19 West 44th street, New York City, N. Y.

A READER.—Get in touch with the Women's Exchange, Euclid and Maryland avenues, where you may be able to dispose of your work.

OUIJA.—We do not give matrimonial advice in this column. If you attend the proper social functions, and church affairs, you will meet the right sort of people.

NETTIE.—The quotation "The web of our life is of a mingled yarn, good and ill together," is found in Act 4, Scene 3, of Shakespeare's "All's Well That Ends Well."

A READER.—You should wear sensible traveling clothes, rather heavy, on board ship, as no matter what the season, heavy clothing is needed. Lighter weight clothing can be used after landing.

MRS. E. H.—Address Charles E. Chambers, Wido avenue near 246th street, New York City, N. Y.; James Montgomery Flagg, 33 West 67th street, New York City, N. Y.; Harrison Fisher, 80 West 40th street, New York City, N. Y.; Le Jaren Hiller, 135 West 44th street, New York City, N. Y.

B. J.—We could not undertake to advise you as to choosing a profession. After all has been said it is a matter which you should decide yourself, and depends upon your ability and inclinations. Knowledge of foreign languages is very helpful. Spanish and French being used quite commonly in the commercial world. Consult your teachers on the subject, they may be able to advise you. The salary of a newspaper reporter depends upon the paper he is working for and upon his ability. No colleges are considered "jokes."

A. B. C.—(1) The Binet test is the examination of the mental faculties of a child or an adolescent through questions based on the intellection of normal children at different ages, so called after the French psychologist and author, Alfred Binet. The Binet age is the age of a normal child whose intellective faculties, as measured by the Binet-Simon tests, correspond with those of the abnormal child. (2) Renaissance, literally, means "a new birth," or resurrection, revival. Specifically it was the revival of letters, and then of art, which marks the transition from medieval to modern history. The renaissance began in Italy in the fourteenth century, and gradually spread over Western Europe until the domination of scholasticism, feudalism and of the church, in secular matters, was displaced by nationalism. It was preceded by "The Revival of Learning," incident upon the recovery of classical Greek and Roman literature, led by Petrach and Boccaccio, and resulting in humanism. The movement soon extended to and transformed manners, philosophy, science, religion, politics and art. The fall of Constantinople sent many Greek scholars into exile throughout Europe, thereby spreading the movement. The passage of the Cape of Good Hope and the discovery of America, the invention of printing and paper making, the acquisition of the mariner's compass, the contemporaneous spread of the Reformation and the study of ancient classical art, all contributed to the renaissance. Renaissance is pronounced: Re (short e) nays (long a) sans (soft accent).

LEGAL INFORMATION.

(Prepared by a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

MISS EDNA.—Sue your tenants for unlawful detainer.

X-RAY.—A contract made by a minor is not enforcible if the minor repudiates it.

E. R. W.—Get a copy of your divorce papers from the Clerk of the Probate Court.

JACK W.—Under the circumstances you state you will pay an income tax on $400.

EDDIE W.—The marriage is legal even though you showed no divorce papers and said it was your first marriage.

ONE OF OUR DAILY READERS.—Apply to the Park Commissioner at the City Hall regarding the opening of a soft drink concession in any of the public parks.

WORRIED READER.—The firm can collect or foreclose on your furniture if their contract with you so provides, even though you have been working for them for the past six years, and are now out of work on their account.

MABEL C.—It is better to have a lawyer when drawing up a will. If you will all of your property to your sister you need not will your brothers a dollar in order to make it legal.

EX-SERVICEMAN.—1. Under the conditions you state the sons are required to pay both Federal and State income tax. 2. Interest received on bank deposits is taxable. Dividends received on stocks are taxable for surtax. 3. If one of the sons dies without a will, the oldest son cannot collect the money and valuable papers left in the bank, as it must go through the courts. The court does not get a percentage on it. 4. Federal employes are required to make both State and Federal income tax returns. 5. Address the Secretary of War at Washington, D. C., regarding the claim for compensation.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS.

(Answers prepared by a physician of authority. Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnoses or treatment of individual cases will not be given. Questions that cannot be publicly discussed, if showing evidences of sincerity, will be answered when accompanied by stamped envelope.)

A PARALYTIC.—The American School of Osteopathy Sanitarium is located at Kirksville, Mo.

X. Y.—We do not know of any place in St. Louis where mental testing is taught excepting at the medical colleges as a part of the course in nervous diseases.

C. F.—Cider being simply the juice of the apple, is not injurious as a beverage until such time as by age it becomes very acid, and even in that stage, vinegar, it is wholesome in a small amount.

A CONSTANT READER.—Eczema presents redness, itching and often weeping, sometimes dry scaling. There is no specific, each case being a case unto itself. Skin conditions should be seen, as they are difficult to recognize from description.

A. R.—The term "nerve trouble" is indefinite, and pains do not come from the blood. General pain might be a general, or so-called multiple, nerve inflammation, or it might be a rheumatic condition. The condition of the eyes in which spots appear in your vision is rather common, and is an annoying but not a serious condition.

HOPE.—Any exposure of a child to another who has whooping cough will almost certainly result in the exposed child contracting the disease which is transmitted by contact. If the child accompanying your girl has actually recovered, however, and the exposure is indirect, from the sick child at home, the danger is practically negative.

GRACE.—Lime water is always a saturated solution, and to determine the exact amount of lime in the water, where it may have been diluted, would require a quantitative chemical analysis. A simple test is heating the lime water, when, if a saturated solution, a sediment will be deposited, lime being more soluble in cold than in hot water. It is prepared by adding cold water to lime, pouring off the first water, then washing the lime, then again adding cold water, with more lime in the receptacle than the water will hold in solution.

YOURS GRATEFULLY.—We do not think you are the victim of any misplaced confidence. At the time your trouble began you were a man well along in life, without the recuperative powers of youth, and the acute bronchitis which you then contracted developed into a chronic bronchitis, with resulting organic changes in the lungs, with an asthmatic condition developing as a result. No doubt your physicians have done all possible for you. No physician can replace organic changes in the organs. You should be under medical supervision, and not only the lungs, but the heart and kidneys should be supervised, and symptoms met as they arise. This is all you can expect.

Theodore Roosevelt Said of Work:

I pity no man because he has to work. If he is worth his salt, he will work. I envy the man who has a work worth doing and does it well. There never has been devised, and there never will be devised, any law which will enable a man to succeed save by the exercise of those qualities which have always been the prerequisites of success, the qualities of hard work, of keen intelligence, of unflinching will.

Life Extension Institute for Corsets as Aid to Health And Comfort of Women Seeking Perfect Poise and Grace

Institution That Makes Specialty of Physical Culture Abandons Neutrality for Positive Commendation, but They Must Be Right Kind of Corsets.

By Fay Stevenson.

"The smart woman is going to wear a corset.

"Even a physical culture teacher will droop at times without one and she will be more or less dowdy.

"Therefore, let women wear an individual corset. Let them be just as particular about the fit of their corsets as they are about their shoes or gloves.

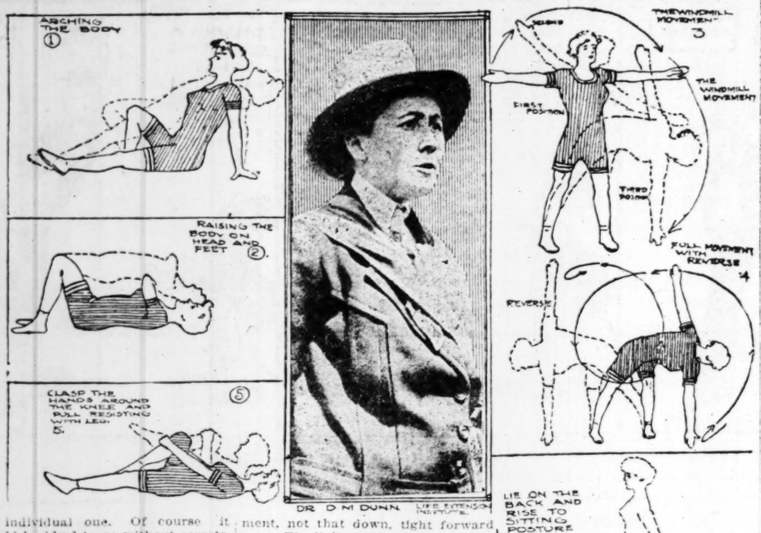

'And, most important of all, let them take daily exercises, so that their muscles may not be weakened by corsets and their backs and abdominal muscles may be strong and healthy."

THAT is the latest decision of the Life Extension Institute, a public health organization in New York.

Dr. D. M. Dunn, head of the woman's department of the institute, and Jeanette Eaton, head of the educational department, both admitted that the neutrality which the institute had maintained in the battle of the corsets is to be abandoned.

Dr. Dunn admitted that the institute, after examining 15,000 women in the last year, felt that the trouble is not the fact that women wear corsets, but that they wear the wrong kind of corsets.

"I personally examine from two to three thousand women a year," said Dr. Dunn. "The average woman comes here not because she has cancer or gallstones or some serious disease, but for a general physical survey, especially for posture, flat-foot and to sum up the corset question—and 70 per cent of the women are incorrectly corseted."

THE "GOOD" CORSET MUST BE INDIVIDUAL.

Asked what the ideal corset was, Miss Eaton said:

"The only corset which is ideal is an individual one. Of course it would be ideal to go without corsets, but who can stand upright all the time? What girl can sit at a desk day after day without some support to give her a mere hint that she must not hump her shoulders over her neck? And what woman can be smart without some sort of support for her garments?

"Many women come here with good corsets but not the corset for them," continued Miss Eaton. "To me it is almost pathetic to see women go to a counter and demand a pink, pale blue or fanciful shade, giving no regard to the corset itself other than whether it looks well, is made well or has the proper garters attached. They ought to take as much trouble with their corsets as they do with their gloves or shoes."

"What sort of corset would you advise for the slender woman and what type for the fat one?" I asked.

"Simply that the corset strikes them right," replied Miss Eaton. "Then, too, a corset must be put on with the up and backward movement, not that down, tight forward way. The lightweight, average woman is apt to find a slight sagging of the abdominal organs if she wears a corset which is wrong for her, while the fat woman must be careful of lacing. In case of corsets which are too high you get compression without any support at all."

"But many girls, especially the dance debutantes and 'flappers' are going without any corsets at all. What effect is that going to have?" I asked Miss Eaton.

"The way they stand and the postures they take are decidedly harmful," declared Miss Eaton. "It is far better for young girls and women to wear correct corsets and keep to correct postures than to throw these muscles and the abdominal lines out of shape.

"That is why we are advocating corsets for women," went on Miss Eaton, "but we are very anxious to have co-operation with the manufacturers in getting the right corset for every woman. And we want to educate women to wear them."

"And that education consists in?"

"Not only being particular about the fit of a corset, but taking a daily set of exercises," concluded Miss Eaton. "If women are going to wear corsets they need certain exercises which will develop and strengthen the parts of their bodies which are more or less hampered during the day. It is our opinion that every pair of corsets sold should be accompanied by special illustrated exercises for strengthening these muscles, and in time we expect this will be done."

If these exercises which are today printed in the accompanying sketches of this article are carefully followed out, the institute maintains that milady can safely wear corsets—that is, provided she gets the one that was intended for her.

MAXIMS OF A MODERN MAID

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

AS every lover knows, in a plot to ensnare a girl's affections a kiss is as good as a wile.

If a tax is levied on bachelors, will they be allowed to deduct their bills for flowers, candy and theater tickets as a part of the cost of doing business?

From a feminist's notebook: The seven deadly sins of women are meekness, obedience, self-sacrifice, hypocrisy, humorlessness, gush and lack of brains.

The clever woman downtown is going about with her lantern looking for even one man who realizes that sometimes she may have something more important to do than to listen to his confidences.

A woman who has made one unhappy marriage is often afraid to take another chance, yet if she bought an unbecoming hat she wouldn't think she must wear it the rest of her life—or go bareheaded.

Train up a child in the way he should go and in your old age just WATCH him depart from it.

Of the bad husband who allows his wife to get an uncontested divorce it might be said that nothing in his married life became him like the leaving of it.

Even the highly modern novelist, who allows a fair share of brains to most of his woman characters, feels periodically that he must rehabilitate himself by writing the tale of a divine cow.

No woman would ever marry a man if his sister told her the whole truth about him.

One reason for the strange disappearance of the sweet, unselfish girl of simple tastes, who didn't want a young man to spend much money on her, is that she so often discovered she was helping him to save money to spend on some other girl.

Marriage once was life's ultimatum to a woman; now it may be merely the first of a series of notes.

A heart worn on the sleeve is as out of place as a diamond necklace worn in a street car.

It is perfectly safe for a woman to marry a man with a past; provided she can feel perfectly certain that his future will remain her affair.

Swanson's "Home Sweet Home"

(Copyright, 1921.)

By Conrad Richter

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

"I NEVER felt better," she answered. She paused earnestly on the steel apron. "Later, I'm going to try to tell you grateful I am." Then she made her way quickly down to the gravelly platform. The last Swanson saw of her she was walking toward the still lighted business section of town, her little black bag in her hand. The last he thought of her—there was no last.

The next two days Swanson blew perfect bars of "Home, Sweet Home" each time he passed through Queenston. At the same time his blue eyes searched the town for a womanly form and a clear girlish face with the purest eyes he had ever seen. The third day the superintendent called him into the office.

"Home," said the official, looking out of the window, "we've had a complaint from up the line about your playing that 'Home, Sweet Home.' Aren't you overdoing it?"

Swanson was plainly taken aback.

"Never—never knew that anybody didn't like it before," he managed to utter. "Most people told me they wanted to hear it—especially around Penn City."

"This was at Queenston," said the superintendent. "Just why have you started to blow it around there so much?"

"I—I tell you;" stammered Swanson, flushing. "You see—they're five or six crossings there in a bunch, and I thought it would be a lot nicer to hear a tune going across instead of screeching out unmusicallike for every board—especially at night time."

"But you waste steam, man!"

"No, sir," protested Swanson. "An engineman to Bill Hendel can't waste steam. That's why I always figured I might sooner turn it into something than let it pop off and waste."

"But it isn't an engineman's business," persisted the superintendent, hiding a smile. "We don't hire an engineman for music."

"All right," said Swanson sadly. "I only wish I could see you at Queenston some time when I blow for those seven crossings."

"It's business, Home," explained the superintendent.

"Not much use for anybody to call me 'Home' any more," said Swanson forlornly. "If you say I'm not to blow it, I won't." He waited a moment, then walked out of the office.

TRUE to his orders, he played no more "Home, Sweet Home." Bill, the fireman, often begged him to play at such out-of-the-way places as the Minnersville cutoff and the Shillington Link. But Swanson insisted he would never play it again. When the managers stopped it, they had killed it, he maintained; and the farmers with their wives and rosy-cheeked youngsters listened in vain for the familiar tune as they pared their evening apples in Penn Valley; while in Swanson's big, simple heart grew a full resentment against young Keens, who surely had been the complainant. The elder Keens' summer home was just outside of Queenston.

But the muzzling of "Home, Sweet Home" was not all of Swanson's bad luck. For the fourth morning now, the roundhouse slate had him down for an old burned-out seven hundred engine. For the fourth morning, Bill cursed it as a useless bunch of junk.

This same fourth morning, Merrit, the conductor, brought up to the cab a written message from the train-runner, signed with the superintendent's initials:

"C & E No. 103

"Give cause for making poor time.

"L M M"

"You answer it, Home," urged Merrit, getting ready his conductor's book as a pad.

"Just as you say," Swanson thought a moment, then dictated slowly: "C. A. F.: Feebleness, old age and general disability on part of engine 713 is cause of making poor time." C. A. F. were the initials of the chief train dispatches.

Merrit added the worlds "C & E No. 103," folded the message in lead stripped from a torpedo, and threw it off at Poole Junction. Two stations farther on, young Keens awaited them. He had come up from Redding on Eighty-three. He flagged Swanson briefly, and clambered aboard.

"What's the matter with this engine?" he demanded aggressively.

"Won't pull the train," answered Swanson simply.

"Have your front end open? Mmmm. Open it."

Swanson silently complied, although he knew Keens would find neither of the steam-pipes leaking.

"Mmmm. Close it. Try your cylinder packing. Mmmm. Try it."

Swanson knew all the cylinder packing was not bad, but he put his valves on center and opened his throttle. Sure enough, nothing blew out.

"Mmmm," murmured young Keens again. He walked in a horseshoe around the great placid engine and came up on the fireman's side.

"How much steam you got?"

"Hundred and fifty."

"Ah!" breathed Keens, with the air of a detective who had found a clew. He opened one of the fire doors. "Ah!" he said again, much louder. "I suspected as much. Your fire is much too high."

"That fire's just right," declared Bill indignantly.

"When we get up here on a siding you can knock the middle out of her," answered Keens shortly.

"I won't do it," asserted Bill righteously.

"If you're looking for suspension, like your engineman was the other night, keep right on," said Keens. "You have an excellent opportunity of being stopped from doing more things than making a noise on an engine whistle."

Bill's eyes widened.

"So it was you, was it?" he asked violently. "You dirty scab! I ask you right now, come down off this engine and take your coat off."

"You certainly are looking for suspension," drawled young Keens, but his voice shook nervously.

"Bill," said Swanson sharply, "hold on to yourself and do as he says."

Bill gritted his teeth and subsided. At the next siding he grimly knocked down his fire as requested. Then Swanson started the old seven hundred engine out on the Sheridan grade.

"Now you'll see her pick up," promised young Keens, going confidently to the left side.

Old engine number Seven Hundred and Thirteen managed to groan up a mile and a quarter of the Sheridan grade. Then, with a last trembling gasp she faltered and died.

"What's the matter now?" called young Keens, coming around the boiler.

"Steam's down to a hundred and ten," answered Swanson regretfully.

"And still going," added Bill.

"Damnation!" exclaimed young Keens. "Can't your man fire an engine?"

Swanson saw the flush burning through the black on Bill's face. He got up from his seat grimly.

"Keens, you're road foreman," he said. "But you wasn't given your job just so you could bawl us fellows out. You're supposed to tell us how to get along with an engine when we can't get along with her no more. That's what you get paid for. Now we want to know what's the matter with this engine?"

"There isn't anything the matter with her," asserted Keens heatedly. "I'll see after this that a real engineman gets this engine."

IF was Swanson's turn. He fisted his hands over once or twice, then went to the firebox and threw open one of the doors.

"You looked in there a minute ago," he said quietly to Keens, "but you didn't see anything. If you'll look again, carefully, you'll see that the flues are leaking badly, and so are the mud-rings and so are the stay-bolts. Bill's fire stood her off pretty well until you made him knock the middle out of her. You can see what's happened since."

For a long minute young Keens bent down, peering into the sizzling fire-box. He got up stiffly.

"Both of you ought to be suspended for insubordination," he muttered. "You can shop her at Penn City."

Next day, as usual, Swanson's hardy eyes searched again as they went through Queenston. But he saw no sign of his late passenger. By the night of the sixth day he was discouraged. "I never thought the old crab would be right," he muttered, meaning the conductor of 6. Then on the seventh day, on their trip down, they stopped to throw off a car, and Jim Mattern, the Queenston station agent, came out and handed Swanson a package.

"Guess this is for you," he said dryly. "She said for the engineer—if he was young and had light eyebrows. She's asked a couple of times about you."

"Much obliged," said Swanson casually. But his eyes were glued to the ribboned package and his heart was jumping under his oil-streaked smock. Hardly out of the Queenston station, he untied the ribbon. It was a book—poetry, "Songs of the Rail." It gave him a quick satisfaction—not that she had judged him a reader of poetry, but that she herself must like it. On the fly-leaf he found, daintily written in blue ink: "To the Home, Sweet Home Engineer from a very grateful person. Please play it some more."

"She heard my 'Home, Sweet Home,'" he flushed. "I wonder did she really like it?"

Exactly a week later Mattern handed him another package, a second book. Again a message on the fly-leaf, written in the same blue ink: "Happy Weekaversary." Swanson whistled softly and figured in his mental calendar that it was just two weeks from the day he had carried her to Queenston. "The thoughtfulness of her," he marveled. Between pages he found a card with the words "Why have you stopped playing 'Home, Sweet Home'?"

That day Bill caught him at the book, and Swanson had to explain.

"Books is all right, Home," agreed Bill, gravely. "But you can't eat them when you get married."

Swanson snorted contemptuously. But he was filled with pride the following week when there came a box of the most delicious creation he had ever tasted—New Orleans molasses pull taffy, spun into light gold that melted in his mouth. Each piece was wrapped in the daintiest waxed paper twisted at either end into the most exacting of flaring ears. Bill tasted it skeptically, then, unashamed, asked for more. Later, Swanson heard him brag about it to the crew. The remainder of the day Swanson spent wondering whether she might have possibly intended the candy by its common name of "kisses." Next "weekaversary" morning he was all agog over what it was going to be. To his mingled ecstasy and surprise he found the girl herself at the station when he pulled in.

"I brought it to you myself today," she said, up on her tiptoes to reach his outstretched hand. Then to his chagrin she turned gayly and fled.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

The Seven Sleepers.

To sleep all winter may be fine,
But think of losing half a year!
Who knows not cold will also miss
The deeper joys of spring, I fear.

—Peter Rabbit.

OF COURSE," remarked Spooky the Screech Owl, "Nimbleheels is one of the seven sleepers people talk about."

Peter Rabbit looked puzzled. "What do they mean by the seven sleepers?" he asked.

"Why, the seven animals who are supposed to sleep all winter, stupid," replied Spooky the Screech Owl. "Of coarse, you know who they are."

"Of course," replied Peter, who couldn't bear to appear to know less than Spooky. But he didn't say it with real confidence.

"Well, who are they?" demanded Spooky.

"Nimbleheels the Jumping Mouse,

"I do know that one!" he cried excitedly. "It is Buster Bear."

whom you have just mentioned," began Peter.

"One," said Spooky.

"Johnny Chuck the Woodchuck," continued Peter.

"Two," said Spooky.

"Jimmy Skunk," added Peter.

"Three," said Spooky.

"Striped Chipmunk," said Peter after a moment's thought.

"Four," counted Spooky.

Peter hesitated and scratched his head. "I think Bobby Coon must be one," said he at length.

"You are guessing now, but your guess happens to be a good one. That is five," said Spooky. "There are two more."

Peter scratched one long ear with a long hind foot. Then he scratched the other long ear with the other long hind foot. He stared over at the Purple Hills, where jolly, round, red Mr. Sun had gone to bed. He looked up at the first twinkling little star. He looked everywhere but at Spooky. He was stuck and he hated to admit it. "I—I"—he began and stopped.

"You don't know!" cried Spooky triumphantly. "Why don't you come right out and admit it? I didn't think you did know, though you ought to know one of them. He is big enough, goodness knows."

Peter gave a funny little hop. "I do know that one!" he cried excitedly. "It is Buster Bear!"

"Right," replied Spooky. "You would be a lot stupider than I think you are if you didn't know that Buster Bear is one of the winter sleepers. That makes six. Now who is the seventh?"

This time Peter was stuck and he knew it. He hadn't the remotest idea who that seventh sleeper was. He knew there was no use in guessing, so he frankly admitted that he didn't know.

Spooky chuckled. "I had no idea that you did know," said he. "It is the Brown Bat."

"The Brown Bat!" exclaimed Peter, his eyes very wide in astonishment. "Does he sleep all winter?"

"I didn't say so," chuckled Spooky. "I said that people call him one of the seven sleepers. I don't take much stock in it myself. He may sleep all winter in some parts of the country. He may do it here once in a while, but I've taken particular notice that most of the bats go south with the birds. Now Seek Seek the Spermophile, the Ground Squirrel, own cousin to Striped Chipmunk, is a real sleeper. He ought to be the seventh sleeper if folks must have seven. My goodness, if I don't get busy right away I will go hungry tonight. Goodby, Peter. See you another evening." Spooky spread his wings and like a shadow silently drifted out of sight.

PRUNE PUDDING

WASH and stone a pound of prunes. Blanch the kernels and simmer them with ¾ of a pint of water and a tablespoon of sugar. Lemon juice till they are quite soft. Line a mold with pieces of crumb of bread which have been soaked in clarified butter. Pour in the stewed prunes gently, so as not to displace the bread, and add a tablespoon of marmalade. Cover the fruit with a layer of bread, tie a piece of buttered paper over the top and bake in moderate oven. A glass of port wine is a great addition to the prunes when cooking, as it gives them a delicious flavor.

COOKING HELPS.

PIE crust for cream or lemon filling should be baked in a moderate oven. To prevent blistering prick a few holes in the crust with a fork before putting in oven. An unbaked crust filled with fruit should be baked in a quick oven to prevent the crust from becoming soggy.

A cook, when asked what makes her pies so delicious, said it is the hot water she uses in mixing the dough. And we have always been so particular to use ice water. This cook says the water should be hot but not boiling, and she asserts the crust will always be flaky, tender and crisp—just what constitutes perfect pies.

CLEANING ELECTRIC LAMP SHADES.

ELECTRIC lights are so bright that any dust on bulb or shade shows up very plainly. The dainty housekeeper keeps them dusted and has an occasional cleaning day for them. It is a fussy task, because you are so apt to break the filaments of the bulbs.

Two people are better at it than one, and can do it in less than half the time. Summon your aid, therefore, and get out the stepladder. Gather together a brush, a wet duster, soap, two dry dusters, two teatowels and a basin of hot water. Let one person mount the stepladder and hand down the shade and bulb to her aid, who will wash them while she is dusting and cleaning the fixture. All the parts of the fixture should be wiped with the wet duster, and then carefully dried. For chains, the brush must be used, to remove all the dust. Shades and bulb are dried like any fine glass, but bulbs especially are difficult to dry nicely. It is always more satisfactory to turn on the light as each is finished, to make sure both that it is properly screwed in and the electric connection made, and that it is really clean.

It is easier to do the lights one by one in this way, than to gather them all at the sink in the kitchen to wash them, and there is much less danger of breaking them. They are much worse to handle than dishes, because of their unaccommodating shape.

Water for the bulbs and shades must not be too hot, nor too soapy. Towels must be very clean and very dry. Some people like to use soft paper for drying the bulbs, and if you have a supply of old pattern tissue paper on hand it can be used for this purpose very nicely.

JAM SAUCE (PLAIN)

TAKE 4 tablespoonfuls of raspberry or currant jam (gooseberry, strawberry or blackberry may be used in the same way), the same measure of water, the juice of half a lemon, about half a dozen lumps of sugar, a few drops of carmine and a teaspoonful of corn flour. Mix the jam, water and sugar and stir until the mixture boils; mix the corn flour and lemon juice, add to the rest, stir and boil a minute longer, then strain through a fine strainer and add the coloring. For a better sauce put in a tablespoonful of wine.

UNCOMMON SENSE

The Man Who Accepts His Own Excuses

By JOHN BLAKE.

TO make excuses is easy and natural. They rise to the lips of the schoolboy who has spent in play the time he needed to get his lessons. They flow spontaneously from the clumsy workman who has spoiled the work he was producing. It is probable that most people make a million excuses in the course of their life time. And the tragedy is that so many people accept their own excuses.

Now there is justification sometimes for the schoolboy's excuses. It is boy nature to explain away his laziness. Sometimes there is justification in the excuses of elders. At any rate excuses have been made since the dawn of history, and will be made forever.

We shall not counsel our readers not to make excuses. That we know would be utterly useless. But we do counsel them not to make excuses to themselves, and above all not to accept their own excuses.

You know well enough why you neglected to do an important work, or why you put off till tomorrow, and then until the year after next, something that you should have done yesterday.

You know that you did it because you were too lazy or indifferent to do the job when it should have been done.

So don't tell yourself that you did it because the job was not worth doing, or because you didn't feel well enough to tackle it, or because you had something else to do that was more important.

And if you do tell yourself that, as you probably will, in spite of what we are saying to you now, don't believe yourself, and don't accept the excuse.

The habit of making excuses to yourself and accepting them will soon undermine your intellectual stamina, and begin to sap your moral fiber.

Be square with yourself at least. Tell yourself the truth, and take no excuses whatever.

List your faults with your failures, and blame yourself for them. List your bad habits, and try to get rid of them. Admit that it was indolence that made you let a job go over till it was too late to do it, and bad temper and not bad health that made you peevish with people who had a right to expect cheerfulness and courtesy from you.

Be your own severe but just judge. Make no excuses and take none. And you will soon find that you will need to make none, for you will have no derelictions to excuse.

TALKS ON HEALTH AND BEAUTY

By Dr. Charlotte C. West.

(Copyright, 1920.)

Hygiene of the Mouth.

THE health and beauty of the teeth are, of course, influenced by the general health, especially of the throat, mouth and gums. The appearance of an otherwise attractive set of teeth is frequently marred by pale, unhealthy or diseased surroundings.

An excellent mouth and throat gargle that can be used with much satisfaction under these conditions is one made of chlorate of potash, 1½ drams; tincture of myrrh, 2 drams; alcohol, ½ ounce; cinnamon water, 6 ounces.

Little canker sores frequently appear on the gums, especially in women. They are usually caused by some gastro-intestinal derangement. Treat by touching the spot with a bit of cotton on the tip of an orange stick, saturated with an astringent—tincture of iodine is good—or a 10 per cent solution of silver nitrate.

Fever blisters appearing on the lips or at the fissures of the mouth are extremely unpleasant as well as very unsightly. They are sometimes induced by dental treatments, and cause considerable uneasiness for fear that unclean instruments for used. Touch them as advised above with pure peroxide of hydrogen to thoroughly cleanse them, then apply spirits of camphor liberally. The appearance of the mouth can be improved if the blister is covered with liquid collodion.

No woman, however charming and delightful she may be, can impress others with these qualities if her mouth and breath are not only inviting, but possessed at the same time with an unpleasant odor.

In some cases this condition is distinctly local and does not arise from any constitutional disturbance. I am giving an excellent wash, the assiduous use of which will overcome an offensive breath: Phenol, 15 drams; boric acid, 6 drams; thymol, 15 grains; essence of menthol, 30 drops; tincture of anise, 2½ drams; distilled water, 3 pints. Dilute in accordance with individual needs.

The general use of astringent mouth washes is condemned, because certain tissues require them and others require stimulation.

Some experiments made on dogs showed that the constant use of astringents interfered for hours with the action of saliva upon starchy foods. An antiseptic mouth wash with proper brush, powder or paste and the use of dental floss is all one requires, except in those unhealthy cases I have just referred to.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

THE BELL.

When I am sad, and cannot guess the reason;
When I am low in mind—though fair the day;
Depressed and sad, though joyful be the season,
And all the folks about me glad and gay—
When every light and cheerful fancy fails me,
Upon my ear there falls a rhythmic beat,
And then I start—and realize what ails me—
It's that confounded bell across the street.

The while its clanging cadence throbs and lingers,
When down the wind the jangling notes flow free,
Again I feel the book-strap round my fingers,
Again I feel that school is calling me;
For every dying note that sadly trembles
Before another makes more deep my gloom,
In beat and pitch uncannily resembles
The bell that called me to my daily doom.

Exact the rise and fall; exact the measure;
Exact the chill reaction on my mind
As when each morn I bade farewell to pleasure,
And left all thought of happiness behind.
I know that I no longer need to fear it;
It does not ring for me—that dismal bell;
It has no fatal power—yet when I hear it,
The savage clang affects me like a knell.

I've often thought how vastly I'd enjoy it,
If I had wealth, to buy the pesky thing,
And with a hammer utterly destroy it
So that I never more might hear it ring.
But I have not, so every single morning
Upon the air will ring its vibrant hum
To sound that old but unforgotten warning,
And spoil my days, through all the years to come.

BUT IT WON'T.
